in America. It prints authoritative articles and critical reviews of new books in all fields of history. The Association also cooperates with the National Council for the Social Studies in the publication of Social Education, one of the most important journals in America dealing with the problems of history teaching in the schools.

Besides these periodical publications, the Association controls a revolving fund donated by the Carnegie Corporation out of which it publishes from time to time historical monographs selected from the whole field of history. It has as well three separate endowment funds, the income from which is devoted to the publication of historical studies. The Albert J. Beveridge Fund of $100,000 was established as a memorial to the late Senator Beveridge by his wife, Catherine Beveridge, and a large group of his friends in Indiana. The income from this fund is applied to the publication of historical monographs. The Littleton-Griswold Fund was established by Alice Griswold in memory of her father, William E. Littleton, and of her husband, Frank T. Griswold. The income from this fund, the principal of which amounts to $32,000, is applied to the publication of material relative to the legal history of the United States in the colonial period. The Matteson Fund amounts to approximately $92,000, willed to the Association by the late David M. Matteson. The income from this fund may be used for bibliographical purposes.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The Association from time to time, through special committees, interests itself actively in promoting the sound teaching of history in the schools. It has done much and is doing more to collect and preserve historical manuscripts in public and private repositories.

The Association maintains close relations with state and local historical societies and with the federal government. It has also organized a Pacific Coast Branch for members living in the Far West.

SOURCES OF SUPPORT

The American Historical Association is in a position to do significant and useful work, not only in the advancement of learning but also in the dissemination of knowledge. It commands the resources of the learned historians, but it also recognizes the necessity of bringing the fruits of learning to the average American. It needs to be supported. Its capital funds, amounting to about $650,000, are carefully managed by a Board of Trustees composed of men prominent in the world of finance. But much of the income is earmarked for special publications. For its broader educational purposes it has to depend chiefly upon its membership dues. It has over 6,300 members.

MEMBERSHIP

The American Historical Association welcomes to its membership anyone who subscribes to its purposes. There is no initiation fee. The annual membership, including subscription to the American Historical Review, is $7.50, and student membership is $4.00.

The life membership is $150. Inquiries about any phase of its activities may be addressed to the Executive Secretary of the Association, Study Room 274, Library of Congress Annex, Washington 25, D. C.

PRIZES

The Association offers the following prizes:

The Herbert Baxter Adams Prize of $200 is awarded biennially in the even-numbered years for a monograph, in manuscript or in print, in the field of European history.

The George Louis Beer Prize of about $200 (being the annual income from an endowment of $6,000) is awarded annually for the best work on any phase of European international history since 1895. Competition is limited to citizens of the United States and to works in the English language. A work may be submitted either in manuscript or in print.

The John H. Dunning Prize of about $140 is awarded biennially in the even-numbered years for a monograph, either in print or in manuscript, on any subject relating to American history. Eligibility of printed works submitted in competition for this prize shall be limited to books printed within 2 years and 5 months prior to June 1 of the year in which the award is made. Entries are restricted to "first books" or unpublished manuscripts and preference given to those of younger scholars.

The Watumull Prize of $500 is awarded biennially (next award 1956) for the best book originally published in the United States on any phase of the history of India.

The Robert Livingston Schuyler Prize of $100 is awarded every 5 years, beginning with 1951, to the author of the best work of scholarship published during the preceding 5-year period in the field of modern British and British Imperial and Commonwealth history since the beginning of the reign of Elizabeth exclusive of American colonial history before 1783. Textbooks and elementary narratives are not eligible. The author must be an American citizen, and the books must have been originally published in the United States. The prize is made possible by the Taraknath Das Foundation.

All works submitted in competition for the above prizes must be in the hands of the proper committee by June 1 of the year in which the award is made. The date of publication of printed monographs submitted in competition must fall within a period of 2-1/2 years prior to June 1 of the year in which the prize is awarded.

The Albert J. Beveridge Award, established at the annual meeting in 1945, is awarded annually, beginning in 1946, for the best complete original manuscript on American history. By American history is meant the history of the United States, Latin America, and Canada. The fellowship has a cash value of $1,000, plus a royalty of 5 percent after cost of publication has been met. The winning manuscript in each annual competition is published without cost to the author in the series of Beveridge Fund publications; other manuscripts also may be so published at the discretion of the committee on the Albert J. Beveridge Award, which is charged with the administration of the fellowship. The deadline for the submission of applications and manuscripts is May 1.

ACT OF INCORPORATION

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That Andrew D. White, of Ithaca, in the State of New York; George Bancroft, of Washington, in the District of Columbia; Justin Winsor, of Cambridge, in the State of Massachusetts; William F. Poole, of Chicago, in the State of Illinois; Herbert B. Adams of Baltimore, in the State of Maryland; Clarence W. Bowen, of Brooklyn, in the State of New York, their associates and successors, are hereby created, in the District of Columbia, a body corporate and politic by the name of the American Historical Association, for the promotion of historical studies, the collection and preservation of historical manuscripts, and for kindred purposes in the interest of American history, and of history in America. Said Association is authorized to hold real and personal estate in the District of Columbia so far as may be necessary to its lawful ends to an amount not exceeding $500,000, to adopt a constitution, and make bylaws not inconsistent with law. Said Association shall have its principal office at Washington, in the District of Columbia, and may hold its annual meetings in such places as the said incorporators shall determine. Said Association shall report annually to the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, concerning its proceedings and the condition of historical study in America. Said Secretary shall communicate to Congress the whole of such report, or such portions thereof as he shall see fit. The Regents of the Smithsonian Institution are authorized to permit said Association to deposit its collections, manuscripts, books, pamphlets, and other material for history in the Smithsonian Institution or in the National Museum, at their discretion, upon such conditions and under such rules as they shall prescribe.

[Approved, January 4, 1889]

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE I

SECTION 1. The name of this society shall be the American Historical Association.

ARTICLE II

SECTION 1. Its object shall be the promotion of historical studies.

ARTICLE III

SECTION 1. Any person approved by the Council may become an active member of the Association. Active membership shall date from the receipt by the Treasurer of the first payment of dues, which shall be $7.50 a year or a single payment of $150 for life. Life membership is given members who have belonged to the Association for fifty years. Any graduate or undergraduate student registered in a college or university may become a junior member of the Association upon payment of $4 and after the first year may continue as such, as long as he is registered as a student, by paying the annual dues of $4. Annual dues shall be payable at the beginning of the year to which they apply and any member whose dues are in arrears for 1 year may, 1 month after the mailing of a notice of such delinquency to his last known address, be dropped from the rolls by vote of the Council or the Executive Committee. Members who have been so dropped may be reinstated at any time by the payment of 1 year's dues in advance. Only active members shall have the right to vote or to hold office in the Association. Persons not resident in the United States may be elected by the Council as honorary or corresponding members, and such members shall be exempt from payment of dues.

ARTICLE IV

SECTION 1. The officers shall be a President, a Vice President, a Treasurer, an Executive Secretary, a Managing Editor of The American Historical Review, and, at the discretion of the Council, an Editor and an Assistant Secretary-Treasurer.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of the Executive Secretary, under the direction of the Council, to promote historical scholarship in America through the agencies of the Association. He shall exercise general oversight over the affairs of the Association, supervise the work of its committees, formulate policies for presentation to the Council, execute its policies and perform such other duties as the Council may from time to time direct.

SEC. 3. The other officers of the Association shall have such duties and perform such functions as are customarily attached to their respective offices or as may from time to time be prescribed by the Council.

SEC. 4. The President, Vice President, and Treasurer shall be elected in the following manner. The Nominating Committee at such convenient time prior to the 1st of September as it may determine shall invite each member of the Association to indicate his or her nominee for each of these offices. With these suggestions in mind, it shall draw up a ballot of nominations which it shall mail to each member of the Association on or before the 1st of December, and which it shall distribute as the official ballot at the Annual Business Meeting. It shall present to this meeting orally any other nominations for these offices petitioned for to the Chairman of the Committee at least one day before the Business Meeting and supported by the names of 20 voting members of the Association. The election shall be made from these nominations at the Business Meeting.

SEC. 5. The Executive Secretary, the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, the Managing Editor of The American Historical Review, and the Editor shall be appointed by the Council for specified terms of office not to exceed 3 years, and shall be eligible for reappointment. They shall receive such compensation as the Council may determine.

SEC. 6. If the office of President shall, through any cause, become vacant, the Vice President shall thereupon become President.

ARTICLE V

SECTION 1. There shall be a Council, constituted as follows:

(a) The President, the Vice President, the Executive Secretary, the Treasurer, and the Managing Editor of The American Historical Review.

(b) Elected members, eight in number, chosen by ballot in the manner provided in Article VI, Section 2. These members shall be elected for a term of 4 years; two to be elected each year, except in the case of elections to complete unexpired terms.

(c) The former Presidents, but a former President shall be entitled to vote for the 3 years succeeding the expiration of his term as President, and no longer.

SEC. 2. The Council shall conduct the business, manage the property, and care for the general interests of the Association. In the exercise of its proper functions, the Council may appoint such committees, commissions, and boards as it may deem necessary. The Council shall make a full report of its activities to the Annual Meeting of the Association. The Association may by vote at any Annual Meeting instruct the Council to discontinue or enter upon any activity, and may take such other action directing the affairs of the Association as it may deem necessary and proper.

SEC. 3. For the transaction of necessary business when the Council is not in session, the Council shall elect annually from its membership an Executive Committee of not more than six members which shall include the Executive Secretary and the Treasurer. Subject always to the general direction of the Council, the Executive Committee shall be responsible for the management of Association interests and the carrying out of Association policies.

ARTICLE VI

SECTION 1. There shall be a Nominating Committee to consist of five members, each of whom shall serve a term of 2 years. In the odd-numbered years, two new members shall be elected; in the even-numbered years, three; this alternation shall continue except in the case of elections to complete unexpired terms. If vacancies on the Nominating Committee occur between the time of the Annual Elections, the Nominating Committee shall fill them by direct ad interim appointments.

SEC. 2. Elective members of the Council and members of the Nominating Committee shall be chosen as follows: The Nominating Committee shall present for each vacant membership on the Council and on the Nominating Committee 2 or more names, including the names of any person who may be nominated by a petition carrying the signatures of 20 or more voting members of the Association. Nominations by petition must be in the hands of the Chairman of the Nominating Committee by November 1st. The Nominating Committee shall present these nominations to the members of the Association in the ballot distributed by mail as described above. The members of the Association shall take their choice from among these nominations and return their ballots for counting not later than the 20th of December at 6 p. m. No vote received after that time shall be valid. The votes shall be counted and checked in such manner as the Nominating Committee shall prescribe and shall then be sealed in a box and deposited in the Washington office of the Association where they shall be kept for at least a year. The results of the election shall be announced at the Annual Business Meeting. In case of a tie, choice shall be made at the Annual Business Meeting from among the candidates receiving the highest equal vote.

ARTICLE VII

SECTION 1. There shall be a Board of Trustees, five in number, consisting of a chairman and four other members, nominated by the Council and elected at the Annual Meeting of the Association. Election shall be for a term of 5 years except in the case of an election to complete an unexpired term. The Board of Trustees, acting by a majority thereof, shall have the power to invest and reinvest the permanent funds of the Association with authority to employ such agents, investment counsel, and banks or trust companies as it may deem wise in carrying out its duties, and with further authority to delegate and transfer to any bank or trust company all its power to invest or reinvest; neither the Board of Trustees nor any bank or trust company to whom it may so transfer its power shall be controlled in its discretion by any statute or other law applicable to fiduciaries and the liability of the individual members of the board and of any such bank or trust company shall be limited to good faith and lack of actual fraud or willful misconduct in the discharge of the duties resting upon them.

ARTICLE VIII

SECTION 1. Amendments to this Constitution may be proposed by a majority vote of any regular business session of the Association or by a majority vote of the Council and may be adopted by a majority vote of the next regular business session, provided always that the proposed amendment and an explanation thereof shall have been circulated to the membership of the Association not less than 20 days preceding the date of the business session at which the final vote is to be taken. It shall be the duty of the Executive Secretary to arrange for the distribution of all such proposed amendments among the members of the Association.

PROCEEDINGS
AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION
for 1955

MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF THE COUNCIL OF THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION MAYFLOWER HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C.,

DECEMBER 27, 1955, 10 A.M.

Present: Lynn Thorndike, President; Dexter Perkins, Vice-President; Solon J. Buck, Treasurer; Boyd C. Shafer, Executive Secretary; Carl Bridenbaugh, Walter L. Dorn, Herbert Heaton, Edward C. Kirkland, Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, Sidney Painter, Richard H. Shryock, C. Vann Woodward, Councilors; Guy Stanton Ford, Louis Gottschalk, Carlton J. H. Hayes, Samuel Eliot Morison, former Presidents.

President Thorndike called the meeting to order.

The minutes of the 1954 Council meeting were approved as published in the April, 1955, issue of the Review (pp. 759-64).

The Executive Secretary's report, having been sent to members of the Council, was not read. The Executive Secretary commented upon it briefly and pointed out that the membership of the Association had increased to 6,310, a total which included about 600 student members.

The Treasurer, Dr. Buck, summarized his financial report for the fiscal year 1954-55. He pointed particularly to the fact that the Association's assets had risen to about $700,000 and that the Association had again been able to invest $10,000 during the current fiscal year. The report of the Treasurer was approved.

Since the present term of the Executive Secretary and Editor expires in September, 1956, the Council re-elected Dr. Boyd C. Shafer for the constitutional term of three years. The Council, by motion, expressed its appreciation of the vigor and competence with which he had discharged his offices.

Dr. Buck moved that those expenditures for the last fiscal year which exceeded the budget allocation for 1954-55 (office expenses, social security payments, and delegates to the International Congress of Historical Sciences), and the report of the Finance Committee, be approved by the Council. The motion was carried. The Council then approved the revised budget for 1955-56 presented by the Treasurer. The budget for 1956-57 was approved in principle, subject to change. For 1955-56 and 1956-57 the approved budgets indicated increases for office and other expenses, salary adjustments for the Executive Secretary, for the assistant editor, for the clerk stenographer, and the clerical assistant, and provided for investments (subject to withdrawal at the will of the Council) in each of the two fiscal years.

Professor Sidney Painter described the activities of the Committee on Teaching and its efforts to obtain a director for the Service Center for Teachers of History. The Council authorized the Executive Committee of the Council to approve the choice of the Committee on Teaching for the directorship of the Service Center.

The Executive Secretary presented the recommendations of the Committee on International Historical Activities. The Council approved a motion that the Association pay the transportation expenses (within the budget limitations) of one delegate to the Madrid meeting of the Bureau of the International Congress of Historical Sciences in 1956. The Council re-elected Professor Donald McKay as one of its two delegates to the International Congress.

The Executive Secretary reported that the Carnegie Revolving Fund, now almost exhausted, will not afford further publication after a subsidy recommended by the committee has been given for a book to be published in 1956, and that the Carnegie Corporation had not been willing to make a further grant at this time. The Council approved, on motion, the continuation of the Committee on the Carnegie Revolving Fund and asked it to investigate problems involved in obtaining additional funds and to consider various types of publication. It requested also that the Executive Secretary be added to and meet with this committee for the discussion of these questions.

The Council approved the recommendation of the Committee on Honorary Members that Federico Chabod, professor of modern history at the University of Rome, director of the Istituto Italiano per gli Studi Storici at Naples, and president of the International Congress of Historical Sciences, be elected an honorary member.

The work of the Harmsworth Committee was discussed. No further action was thought necessary at this time.

Mr. John Caughey read the report of the Pacific Coast Branch of the Association. The Council had already approved an increase in the contribution of the Association to its Pacific Coast Branch from $200 to $300 annually.

On motion, the Council confirmed the appointment, by the Managing Editor of the Review, of Professor Samuel Flagg Bemis of Yale University to the Board of Editors.

The Council nominated Stanton Griffis for re-election to the Board of Trustees.

On a written ballot C. Vann Woodward was elected the Association's delegate to the Social Science Research Council.

The Executive Secretary reported that Charles H. Taylor, present delegate of the Association to the American Council of Learned Societies, had asked to be relieved of his duties. The Council elected Joseph R. Strayer of Princeton University to complete the unexpired term.

No action was taken on election of a delegate to the National Records Management Council because the delegates to this council have an unlimited term.

The Council moved that the Executive Secretary be authorized to cast one ballot to elect Herman Ausubel of Columbia one of the Association's two representatives on the board of Social Education. The Executive Secretary of the Association acts as the other Association representative.

The Executive Secretary reported on the arrangements for the 1956 meeting to be held at the Jefferson Hotel, St. Louis. The Council approved the appointment of Charles F. Mullett of the University of Missouri as program chairman and Ralph P. Bieber of Washington University as local arrangements chairman. It was suggested that, in accordance with tradition, the chairman of the local arrangements committee be asked to include representatives of other institutions in the vicinity of St. Louis on his committee. The Council discussed the location of meetings in the future, one suggestion being that meetings of the Association be held alternately in the East and the Middle West.

As directed by the Council in 1954, the Executive Secretary reported on groups meeting jointly with the Association, and their place on the program. The Executive Secretary presented tables and statistics which revealed considerable increases in the number of such groups and increasing pressures on the program chairman. He also pointed out that by tradition the chairman has full responsibility for the program but that the number of meeting rooms is limited, that the program must be planned for the entire Association, and that more groups than can be scheduled have been requesting sessions. The Council unanimously ruled that (1) no group not hitherto on the program shall have a joint session without the approval of the Council; (2) the President shall appoint a committee of five, which shall include the chairman of the Program Committee for the coming year and the Executive Secretary, to draw up and determine the list of associations and groups to be invited to participate in joint sessions in 1956, this committee, with the newly selected program chairman included, to continue each year as an ad hoc committee; and (3) the chairman of the 1956 Program Committee be requested to omit the names of officers of the groups holding joint sessions but include an index of speakers.

The Treasurer and the Executive Secretary discussed the problem of space for the offices of the Association. Dr. Buck stated that the present quarters were inadequate for the present work of the headquarters and the various committees and he believed that the Association was on the verge of significant expansion. He suggested various possibilities for meeting the problem. Several members of the Council spoke of the many restrictions on the activities of the Association arising out of space limitations. The Council approved a motion for the establishment of a committee of three, with the Executive Secretary as chairman and the Treasurer and the Chairman of the Finance Committee as members, to look into and to solve these problems and indicated its desires in the matter of funds which might be expended.

After discussion about needs in the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer's work the Executive Secretary was directed to make arrangements necessary to ensure that the work is expeditiously done and the Executive Committee was authorized to approve these arrangements by mail vote.

Because of the increase in value of the Association's assets, the Executive Secretary suggested that the provision in the charter which authorizes "real and personal estate . . . not exceeding $500,000" should be amended to read "not exceeding $2,000,000." The Council authorized the Executive Secretary to obtain legal advice and act in accordance with this advice.

The Executive Secretary outlined in some detail several issues brought to the attention of the Association concerning historical publications of the State Department. The Council affirmed that, in accordance with its traditional policies, the Association must stay clear of politics and personalities. The Executive Secretary read two previous Association resolutions, those of 1951 and 1952, concerning governmental publications in the field of history. The Council unanimously recommended that the following resolution be put before the Business Meeting:

WHEREAS, the Association has in 1951 and 1952 passed resolutions concerning the historical publications of the United States government, in particular the historical publications of the State Department, and

WHEREAS, a controversy has recently arisen concerning these publications, and

WHEREAS, the questions arising can only be approached with careful consideration, therefore be it

Resolved, that the President of the Association authorize the Committee on the Historian and the Federal Government, enlarged by competent students of American foreign policy, to study the problem and to report back to the Council and to the Business Meeting of the Association.

Further discussion revealed that it was the Council's view that three historians of American diplomacy should be added to the committee and that these should be appointed by President Thorndike.

The Executive Secretary read a statement on the American Committee on War Documents, including a formal request from the committee's chairman, Dean Reginald Phelps, that it become a committee of the Association. After considerable discussion it was moved that the Council accept the Executive Committee of this group as a committee of the Association, subject to all the customary Association rules. The motion carried.

On a request that associate memberships be established for wives (or husbands) of active members no action was taken.

The Executive Secretary reported on the following topics on most of which no further action was necessary: (1) the Oliver Wendell Holmes Devise, for the Board of which the Association presented a panel of names; (2) the work which Professor Ralph Shaw is doing to fill the gap between the Evans-Roorbach bibliographies in American history--the Council appointed Professor Fulmer Mood of Texas to act as the Association's adviser on this project; (3) the agreement between the Royal Historical Association, the British Academy, the Mediaeval Academy of America, and the American Historical Association for revised editions and new volumes of British bibliographies; (4) the completion of a bronze plaque of J. Franklin Jameson, to be unveiled at the National Archives on December 28, for which over $750 was raised through voluntary contributions on the part of members of the Association; (5) the new List of Doctoral Dissertations in History, which has been printed in an edition of 500 and will sell at $1.50, less than the cost of production; (6) the Index to the Writings on American History, 1901-1941, which is in press. Five hundred copies will be printed to be sold to members of the Association at about $4.00 and to others at a higher price; (7) the provision of Association's mailing list to the publisher of American Men of Science, for use in compiling Volume III, The Social Sciences, of this publication. Members of the Association to be included will be sent questionnaires by the publisher; (8) the Repertorium der diplomatischen Vertreter aller Länder, the United States section of which has been completed by Carl Lokke of the National Archives. This list of diplomats, 1763-1815, is now in Vienna, and will be included in Volume III; (9) the recent legislation to establish presidential libraries under the National Archives. The Executive Secretary is on the Board of the Truman Library.

The Executive Secretary was authorized to raise the initial registration fee for the Job Register to $3.00 if and when this increase is needed and with the understanding that the income from fees does not exceed expenditures for the register. The Council agreed that the proposed critical history of the Association down to 1928 or 1934 should be encouraged and that the Executive Secretary should encourage the writing of this history by the historian who has evinced interest. The Council felt that the writer should have complete freedom and that the Association should not directly subsidize the work.

The Executive Secretary brought to the Council's attention the proposal of Taraknath Das for a new historical prize in the name of Tyler Dennett. The Council authorized the Executive Secretary to explore this project with Mr. Das with the hope that certain changes in his proposal could be effected.

A proposal to approach life members for additional funds was tabled.

Professor Perkins suggested that the American Historical Association may wish to give publicity to the George Macaulay Trevelyan Lectureship at Cambridge and the editor of the Review agreed to do so.

The Executive Secretary described a proposal of Ernst Posner for a "Manual for Users of Archives." The Council believed that there is need for such a manual and that it would be useful and desirable.

The Executive Secretary spoke of a talk he had had with the head of the Austrian State Archives about the restoration of the state archives of Austria and of the desire of members of the Association to help in this worthy task. A resolution by several American scholars on the subject was deemed desirable but could not be formally adopted until the Executive Secretary had further talks with the Department of State.

Resolutions from the Committee on Historians and the Federal Government concerning public access to government records and contributions of private papers to public repositories received considerable attention. Dr. Buck moved that the resolutions be referred back to the Committee on Historians and the Federal Government with the suggestion that they be given further consideration and that this action be announced at the business meeting. The motion was passed.

A Committee on Resolutions, consisting of Professors Carl Bridenbaugh, Walter L. Dorn, and Richard H. Shryock, was elected.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:45 p.m.

At a later short meeting on December 30 the Council elected Richard H. Shryock (chairman), Helen Taft Manning, Robert R. Palmer, and C. Vann Woodward to serve on its Executive Committee along with the Treasurer and Executive Secretary. Dr. Shryock, as chairman of the Executive Committee, will also serve on the Finance Committee with the Treasurer and Executive Secretary.

BOYD C. SHAFER, Executive Secretary

MINUTES OF THE BUSINESS MEETING

MAYFLOWER HOTEL, WASHINGTON, D. C.,
DECEMBER 29, 1955, 4:15 P.M.

President Lynn Thorndike called the meeting to order with about 150 members present. The minutes of the last meeting (AHR, April, 1955, pp. 764-66) were approved.

Dr. Boyd C. Shafer, the Executive Secretary of the Association and Managing Editor of the Review, gave his annual report. The Treasurer, Dr. Solon J. Buck, summarized his report which had been distributed in mimeographed form to those attending the meeting. He pointed particularly to errors appearing in the 1954 processed form of his report but which had been corrected in the printed form published in the 1954 Annual Report of the Association; to the assets of the Association, which, largely as a result of increases in stock-market values, now amount to about $700,000; and to the fact that the Association was able to invest $10,000 during the past fiscal year. His report, which was accepted and placed on file, will be printed in the Annual Report for 1955.

The Council nomination of Stanton Griffis of New York for re-election to the Board of Trustees was placed before the meeting and he was unanimously re-elected.

The chairman of the Nominating Committee for 1955, W. F. Craven of Princeton University, presented the following nominations for 1956: for President, Professor Dexter Perkins of Cornell University; for Vice-President, Professor William L. Langer of Harvard University; for Treasurer, Dr. Solon J. Buck of Washington, D. C. On motion, the Executive Secretary was instructed to cast one ballot for these nominees and they were declared elected. Professor Craven announced that as a result of the mail ballot Walter P. Webb and Robert R. Palmer were elected to the Council of the Association, and Ray A. Billington and Garrett Mattingly to the Nominating Committee for 1956. He stated that Professor William C. Binkley of Tulane University will serve as chairman of the Nominating Committee for 1956. His report was accepted.

In order that the members of the Association might be fully informed of the Council's decisions, the Executive Secretary reported on the following actions taken at the Council meeting on December 27 (for fuller descriptions see Council minutes above): The selection of members of the committees for 1956, recommended by the Committee on Committees and approved by the Council; the appointment of Samuel Flagg Bemis of Yale as a member of the Board of Editors to replace James B. Hedges, whose term expires; the re-election of Donald C. McKay of Harvard University as one of the two Association delegates to the International Congress of Historical Sciences; the election of the following delegates of the Association--C. Vann Woodward of the Johns Hopkins University to the Social Science Research Council (replacing Gordon Craig of Princeton University) as one of the three Association delegates, Herman Ausubel of Columbia to the Board of Social Education (replacing Fred H. Harrington of the University of Wisconsin), and Joseph R. Strayer of Princeton University to the American Council of Learned Societies (replacing Charles H. Taylor of Harvard University); the election of Professor Federico Chabod of Naples, Italy, to honorary membership in the Association; the selection of the Jefferson Hotel, St. Louis, Missouri, and the Hotel Statler in New York City for the 1956 and 1957 meetings; the appointment as program chairman for 1956 of Professor Charles F. Mullett of Missouri and of Professor Ralph P. Bieber of Washington University as local arrangements chairman; the motions (reported above, p. 4) regarding groups and societies meeting jointly with the Association; the decision to look into the matter of space for the Association's headquarters; the authorization to the Committee on Teaching to proceed with the selection of a director for the Service Center for Teachers; the acceptance of the Committee on War Documents as a committee of the Association subject to the customary rules governing committees; the encouragement of a "Manual for Users of Archives" proposed by Dean Ernst Posner, president of the Society of American Archivists; the authorization to look into the charter limitations on the amount of property the Association may have; the authorization to increase the Job Register fees to $3.00 if costs necessitate; the encouragement of a "History of the Association."

For the Pacific Coast Branch of the Association, Professor John Caughey of the University of California at Los Angeles presented the report, which discussed the annual meeting of the branch and the state of the branch's finances. He indicated that the branch now has about 700 members and that its members were well pleased that the Executive Secretary had visited the coast during the spring of 1955.

The Executive Secretary reported at length upon the Council's discussions concerning the historical publications of the State Department. He then presented the Council's resolution on these publications (see p. 5 above). On motion, the Association adopted the resolution.

Professor Carl Bridenbaugh for the Committee on Resolutions, presented the following resolution:

Resolved: That the thanks of the Association be tendered to Professor Oron Hale and his fellow members of the Program Committee for the high quality and variety of the sessions they provided for this meeting; and that the thanks of the membership also be tendered to Dean Elmer Kayser and his associates on the Committee on Local Arrangements and to all others who participated in the successful planning and carrying out of this 70th annual meeting of the American Historical Association.

Following a tradition of more than thirty years, adjournment was moved by Professor Frank Maloy Anderson.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE SECRETARY AND MANAGING EDITOR FOR 1955

By charter, constitution, and tradition our purpose is "the promotion of historical studies . . . in the interest of American history, and of history in America." Concretely this has meant and means that we exist to assist individual historians and groups of historians in research, writing, and teaching. It is our obligation, our desire, our function to make available sources of all kinds in all fields of history for research, to afford opportunities for publication of articles and books, to provide material and counsel for the teaching of history in the schools and universities. It means, in addition, that we represent the profession in its relations with the public, with government officials, and in historical and public meetings at home and abroad. In the degree that we act and act successfully and wisely, in these ways we achieve our purpose.

How have we done? How are we faring? The answer for the past seventy years is, I think, "Well indeed." Let this report indicate the projects recently completed and the directions we are going. Some things are only pencil sketches in the Secretary's and Editor's notebook. Some are in the blueprint stage. Some are ready to go, with the contract let, the trees down, and the headaches beginning. A few are recently completed and the scholars are moving into the structures.

Essential to the historian are bibliographies, guides, and indexes. These are tedious, if not dreary, to compile. They are indispensable, the sine qua non of thorough scholarship. Here some progress is visible. The Index to the Writings on American History, begun over twenty years ago, is in press. Through the Matteson Fund, the Committee on Historians and the Federal Government and the Executive Secretary have made all the necessary arrangements to publish by photoduplication a volume of about 1,000 pages. We have been fortunate to obtain the services of Professor William C. Davis of George Washington University in the final preparation of the typescript for photography. The volume, now finally compiled, should appear in 1956. For many years we have been hoping for a revision of some standard British bibliographies and for the preparation of new ones for historical periods not yet covered. I am happy to report that, owing in no little part to the initiative of our representative, Stanley Pargellis, the Royal Historical Society, the British Academy, the Mediaeval Academy of America, and the American Historical Association are now in full agreement upon needs and next steps. Professor H. Hale Bellot and your Executive Secretary met in London in September to discuss an appeal for foundation aid. This appeal has just been sent to a foundation. It asks assistance for a new edition of Gross, for revisions of the Read and Davies volumes, for two new bibliographies to cover the years 1789 to 1900, and for the preparation of Writings on British History for the years 1901 to 1933.

Our own Writings on American History for 1950 appeared this year, the volume for 1951 is in press, and the volume for 1952 is in preparation. We owe much to the National Historical Publications Commission and to the editor of the Writings volumes, Mr. James Masterson. We have also been engaged in work upon a new edition of the Guide to Historical Literature, published twenty-four years ago under the editorship of a distinguished group, Professors Dutcher, Shipman, Fay, Shearer, and Allison. This volume, which the American Library Association has called a major bibliographical aid and which all of us have used and valued, is now out of date. The new committee, headed by Dr. George Howe, has worked out plans, has approached a foundation, and is now negotiating with a publisher. The new volume will take cognizance not only of works published since 1931 but will also give increased coverage to areas of the world, such as the Far East, which are of increasing importance. The Association has likewise stimulated a bibliographical work to cover the gap of twenty years between Evans, American Bibliography, and Roorbach, Bibliotheca Americana, for books published in the United States at the beginning of the nineteenth century. Our representative, Professor Fulmer Mood, reports that Professor Ralph R. Shaw of Rutgers University is compiling a new list for the years 1799-1820 and that he is progressing. We are ready to assist him in any way we can. It is my good fortune to report that the lists of diplomatic representatives to and from the United States, 1763-1815, begun twenty years ago, is completed and has been sent to the European editor of the Repertorium der diplomatischen Vertreter aller Länder for inclusion in Volume III of that too-little-known series. Dr. Carl Lokke of the National Archives performed this valuable service for us. I can also announce the publication this month of the triennial list of doctoral dissertations, a service which, through indication of the areas in which doctoral candidates are working, prevents much wasted effort in needless duplication.

Bibliographies, of course, are guides to materials. The source materials are the real stuff of historical research, the visible evidence without which history cannot be written. For the provision of these, many agencies in which the Association has had a long-time interest, such as the National Historical Publications Commission, now exist. The Association continues its interest and its own activities. The Littleton-Griswold Committee in 1954 published Volume VII of the "American Legal Records" series, the Virginia volume edited by Dr. Susie Ames. It will soon have ready for the press a volume of Maryland legal records, which will also be of interest not only to legal but to social historians. In the newer form of microduplication Chairman Edgar Erickson of our Committee on Documentary Reproduction recounts a long list of accomplishments in reproduction of documentary materials of Italy, the United Kingdom, France, Russia, and the United States. It is of interest that in our own country Dr. Clifford K. Shipton of the American Antiquarian Society is microprinting, with the co-operation of our committee, every known book, pamphlet, and broadside printed in the United States from 1639 to 1800 and listed in the Evans bibliography, as this has been corrected by Dr. Shipton (see AHR, April, 1955, p. 768). In another field of history, the Association has sponsored a meeting of American historians of Germany to consider access to and photoduplication of the German war documents now in the United States.

We are, then, helping to provide tools and materials for research. In addition we like to stimulate and reward it. Last year at the annual meeting it was my pleasant duty to announce that the Association was providing for the publication of four books by our Beveridge Award and Carnegie Revolving Fund Committees. Of these, one, The Beginnings of Unitarianism in America by C. Conrad Wright, has been published and the other three are in press. Both these committees have had to do an extraordinary amount of reading. They have done it without any payment except that arising from justifiable pride in professional service. This year the Beveridge Committee plowed through fifteen manuscripts, the Carnegie Committee, six. Members of these committees not only read and judge the manuscripts, they provide invaluable service in editing them for the Cornell University Press, which now publishes them. At our annual Association dinner this evening the Beveridge Committee will report its decision to publish two additional volumes, and the Carnegie Committee, whose funds are nearing exhaustion, a subsidy to enable publication of another.

In the even years the Association awards several cash prizes. Last year at the annual dinner the Executive Secretary, in addition to the publication of the four volumes mentioned above, awarded prizes amounting to more than $2,000. This year, an odd year, we will award only the Beveridge Prize of $1,000 (plus publication) and the George Louis Beer Prize of $200. Professor Sinclair Armstrong of the Beer Committee writes that the committee considered eleven books in European international history, a sizable number.

After they have had opportunities for research, historians want to publish their results. They want to publish because, being teachers, they feel an obligation to share their findings with their fellow scholars and with the public. Since scholars began to write, publication has brought distinction. It still makes a mark, if it does not always have a market. Publication is, customarily, almost the sole avenue to promotions and salary increases in a poorly paid profession. Regrettably, the costs of publication have doubled and tripled during the last twenty years and the great foundations which assist in research do not wish to, or will not, subsidize publication. Our Carnegie Revolving Fund is about exhausted, and we have not been able to replenish the fund, which has had the remarkable record of publishing thirty-five books in twenty-seven years. We must, then, seek new ways and means. We should examine more closely the problems involved in winning a wider audience--more buyers of our books--and we should continue to explore how we can publish less expensively. This examination will almost certainly lead us to improve our style of writing, to write more books which will be read. It will also almost certainly lead us to publish some of our works in the various forms of photoduplication, near print, and microreproduction. Whatever is done, communication of the lonely researches of the individual scholar with his colleagues must go on, else scholarship perishes as its springs of knowledge dry.

Our Association headquarters is consulted upon many historical matters. It has become through the years a kind of "service station" for historians in America. A child writes in to ask for books and pictures on George Washington, an elderly man in Texas wants information concerning one of his ancestors, a governmental agency may wish information on some past governmental action. In order to answer questions from members or other interested people, many hours of our staff's time are spent in disjointed and sporadic research in our own records to determine what the profession did or wished done in the past on many an issue which has faced historians. When the documents fail in quests such as these last, we turn to Miss Patty Washington, our assistant treasurer, who has been with us since 1908 and possesses a tenacious memory. On most inquiries we cannot do more than direct the inquirers to a source of information. We are not ourselves a research agency. We can and do help in many other kinds of historical work.

We have this year decided to establish a Service Center for Teachers of History. A strong Committee on Teaching, headed by Professor Sidney Painter, has evolved a plan, and the Ford Foundation has given a grant of $148,000 for a three-year experiment. When the Service Center is established in 1956, it will endeavor to help teachers of history in the schools in many ways. Among them will be publication of inexpensive pamphlets summarizing late research, of annotated bibliographies, of outlines of good courses of history now being given. Among them will be an offer of assistance by professional historians in various parts of the country. If the experiment is successful, we may make a noteworthy contribution to American education. Our Job Register is another way we endeavor to help American education, this time largely on the college level. This register has grown. In the first year and a half of its existence, over four hundred historians, seeking positions or desiring a change of position, have enrolled, and we have been notified of over ninety openings. Our hope is to supplement the customary and well-established ways institutions seek teachers. We are moving in the direction of perfecting our techniques. This year at its annual meeting the Association is registering applicants and assisting in arranging interviews, when these are possible, with representatives of inquiring institutions.

While it performs its traditional functions the Association, it is obvious, is assuming new ones. The Job Register is one instance. We have much to do and much to be done. As we accomplish our objectives and enlarge our program we will, of course, need more willing staff members of the kind we have, more time, and more space.

Our most significant single activity is very likely the publication of the American Historical Review. In the Review this year we published twelve articles and six "Notes and Suggestions." We received 147 (144 last year) and accepted 18. We received about 1,100 volumes and we published 223 long reviews (219 last year) and 310 short (254 last year). Is this a good record? I do not know. I do know that the Review publishes more reviews than any other journal and that it is the most comprehensive, perhaps the most catholic, in the world. A good many suggestions come to us; in fact we solicit them. Two of these are that our reviews should be more critical and analytical in the best sense of these words, and that we might have a better coverage of books in certain fields. We are working toward these ends. Our reviewers now receive a list of suggestions from the Board of Editors which outlines "do's and don't's" in reviewing. And this editor is constantly seeking to establish channels with foreign publishers so that they will send us their books to consider for review. The Review will in January publish one new type of "Note." It will be a survey of the profession in 1952 by J. F. Wellemeyer, Jr., of the American Council of Learned Societies, a survey which we recommended in our report of last year. One rumor, that the Review has a great backlog of articles and that publication takes two or three years after acceptance, needs to be corrected. For the last three years the Review has never accepted more articles than it can publish in the next three or four issues. At this time we would particularly like to see more articles in certain fields such as early modern history and Hispanic American history.

I have not yet mentioned what to the Executive Secretary was possibly the most important historical event of the year, the Tenth International Congress of Historical Sciences in September in Rome. Our senior delegate, Professor Donald McKay, performed extraordinary services to American historians as he, with the advice of the International Historical Activities Committee and Waldo Leland, carried the brunt of the American preparations. Professor McKay's account of the meeting will appear in the Review (January, 1956, pp. 504-11). Over one hundred Americans, your Executive Secretary among them, were in Rome. Twenty-three Americans appeared on the program, a remarkable representation, considering the distance to Rome, of American historical scholarship. It is the considered opinion of the Executive Secretary that we should take increasing part in international conferences concerning history. We have something to learn and something to teach and in the interchange of ideas we will enrich historical thinking everywhere.

One of the duties of the Executive Secretary is to report upon the "condition of historical study in America." The work of the Association offers partial evidence for this assessment. What historians and laymen are thinking provides additional evidence. As I have traveled about a bit in Europe and a good deal in the States, down the Pacific Coast, in the Middle West, in the South, and in the East, I have listened to many historians and others talking about the conditions, prospects, and nature of our discipline. On the whole I can report that historical study continues to thrive. I have heard many different opinions, of course. I do not know that there is a consensus. Some of us may be a little on the defensive, think that the study of history does not receive as much attention (compared to other disciplines) as it deserves, that historians do not receive as much monetary assistance for research and publication as they should have, that the quality of historical work is not as high as it once was, and that students are not "taking" history as much as they once did. From people outside the profession, I sometimes hear the familiar old arguments, that historical study is not scientific, that history teaching is uninspired, that history is taught only as names and dates, and that students are uninterested. How true or false these opinions are there is no way of knowing. In some of them there could be a modicum of truth; some of them reveal weaknesses to be remedied; others reveal prejudice based on misinformation. I do know that historians are underpaid, as they long have been and as are most academic people, most humanists. On the other hand such quantitative measures as we have reveal widespread interest in history--the number of students enrolling in history courses in the schools, colleges and universities, the number of Ph.D. degrees granted in history, the many historical journals published, the growth of historical societies, the increasingly numerous organizations and meetings of historians, and the vigor and variety of their discussions. It may be noted, too, that historians reveal deep and intense interest in improving their scholarship and their methods of research, in enriching their knowledge by study of related subjects, in acquiring sources for their research, and in improving their teaching.

What has most impressed your Secretary and Editor is the belief of historians that they have a unique and vast subject of worth to men everywhere. What this, on reflection, means to me can be expressed quickly.

The study of history has its own meanings, methods, its own worth to man. It is the only discipline which studies the individual action, event, and idea as an individual happening and at the same time looks steadily at the sequence of happenings. This does not mean that in the study of history scholars cannot objectively view men, ideas, events and in this study use scientific methods to discover what happened and how it happened. It is a platitude that they should and must. This does not mean that in the study of history scholars and students cannot find meaning and enjoyment, even values. They can and should. This does not mean that historians cannot learn from other disciplines both as to methods and content. They can, do, and will increasingly.

History is history, the study of history is unique, of value in itself. History alone seeks to recover past experience, this recovery has value for the understanding of the present. We have our own methods of finding and interpreting man's experiences and of writing our studies. These are somewhat different from those of other disciplines, provide a unique way of acquiring knowledge and insight. We have, because of the nature of our subject and our study, a peculiar obligation to help our fellows understand and see the possibilities of thought in action and action in thought as the past has revealed them. We cannot tell men how to act or think. We can inform them how other men in the past have thought and acted. Thus we can free them from some illusions and at the same time open their minds to consideration of the many possible courses for human endeavor and enjoyment.

For me, this kind of thinking leads to one further conclusion. Our special province, the past, the whole field of history is large enough for many varieties of historians with many different specialties and abilities. There is no one limited chronological period which is history. There is no one way to study and write history. There is no one key to history. We therefore need specialists and generalists, political, economic, social, and intellectual historians. There is room for those who wish to evolve world views, room for those who want to digest the record and present it wie es eigentlich gewesen, and room for those who simply want to dig up, order, and preserve the sources. The values and ways of history, since history is of man, are as universal as the past. History exists. It includes all that men have done. Our job is to see that our fellow men are aware of this experience. The variety of ways in which we now accomplish this constitutes history in America.

BOYD C. SHAFER, Executive Secretary

FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1954-55

The financial assets of the American Historical Association on August 31, 1955, amounted to $699,671.75 ($600,205.64 last year). Of that sum, $651,834.00 ($532,708.00 last year) constitute the capital funds of the Association, which are in the custody of the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York and are managed by it under the direction of the Board of Trustees. Of that amount $253,369.00 ($224,613.00 last year) are credited to various special funds, leaving $398,465.00 ($308,095.00 last year) the income from which is unrestricted. The cash on hand in checking and savings accounts amounts to $47,837.75 ($67,497.64 last year) of which sum $25,804.54 ($47,952.97 last year) is restricted, leaving $22,033.21 ($19,544.67 last year) available for general purposes. The total of unrestricted funds, including both capital and expendable sums, amounted to $420,498.21 ($327,639.67 last year); and that of restricted funds amounted to $279,173.54 ($272,565.97 last year). Securities in the special Matteson Fund portfolio amount to $92,249.00 instead of $78,493.00 as of a year ago. The increases in invested funds have resulted in part from exchanges of securities and changes in the market value of investments and in part from new investments. The treasurer regrets that some of the above figures were incorrectly given in the processed version of his report distributed last year. They have been corrected in the printed Annual Report for 1954.

The expendable funds of the Association are administered through a general account and four special accounts. The general account includes, however, a number of special funds and grants, which are segregated from the unrestricted funds only by bookkeeping. The balances in this account are kept partly in a savings account and partly in a checking account, and transfers are made from one to the other as occasion arises. The balances in the special accounts are separately deposited in savings accounts.

The following tables present a condensed exhibit of the financial transactions of the Association during the year. The statement for the general fund is broken down into unrestricted funds and the various special funds and grants, and for the unrestricted funds the items for 1953/54 are included for purposes of comparison. Statements for the special accounts follow, and there are a number of summaries. The receipts of unrestricted funds exceeded disbursements by $2,488.54. It should be noted, however, that the disbursements included an investment of $10,000.00; it would appear, therefore, that the receipts of unrestricted funds exceeded the expenditures from such funds for operations by $12,488.54 ($11,999.52 last year).

The Treasurer's accounts have been audited by F. W. Lafrentz & Co., certified public accountants, and their report is on file in the Washington office of the Association, where it may be examined by any interested member. Both the operating and the special accounts of Social Education are being discontinued and funds remaining in the special account were transferred during the year to the general account of the Association, where they appear in this report as "Royalties" in the receipts of unrestricted funds. See p. 14 below.

The reports of the Fiduciary Trust Company and of the Board of Trustees, which latter was submitted by A. W. Page, chairman of the Board, are now on file and available for inspection in the Washington office.

REPORT OF THE AUDITORS

AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION
Washington, D. C.

We have examined the recorded cash receipts and disbursements of the general and special accounts of the American Historical Association for the period from September 1, 1954 to August 31, 1955. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we consider necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements of cash receipts and disbursements present fairly the recorded cash transactions of the American Historical Association for the year ended August 31, 1955, and have been prepared on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

The financial statements, as listed in the accompanying index, are presented herewith.

We also submit the following comments, giving additional information as to the scope of our examination and the accounts presented.

CASH RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS

	Combined	Exhibit A General Account	Exhibit B Special Funds and Grants	Exhibit C Special Accounts
Cash balance, August 31, 1954.....	$66,250.09	$19,544.67	$10,356.34	$36,349.08

Disbursements.....	111,960.43	69,446.52	13,837.51	28,676.40
Cash Balance, August 31, 1955.....	47,837.75	22,033.21	7,310.75	18,493.79

Recorded cash receipts were traced to bank deposits, and cash disbursements shown by the records were supported by cancelled checks and properly approved vouchers.

The cash on deposit with the Union Trust Company to the credit of the accounts and funds listed below, amounting to $47,837.75, at August 31, 1955, was reconciled with amounts reported directly to us by the bank.

A summary of the various cash accounts follows:

INVESTMENTS

Statements of cash and investment transactions by the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York for your account from September 1, 1954 to August 31, 1955, are shown on Schedules 1 and 2.

Securities held by the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York as of August 31, 1955, are shown in accordance with their report which was mailed directly to us. These securities are detailed on Schedules 3 and 4.

The market value of the securities, as of August 31, 1955, in the regular account was $556,129.01, and in the Matteson Fund, $88,985.88.

The accompanying exhibits and schedules relative to the investments held by the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York as of August 31, 1955, and to the cash and investment transactions for the year then ended, have been prepared in accordance with the records of the Association, and are supported by statements from the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York.

INCOME FROM INVESTMENTS

Income earned on investments during the period under review was traced to the records of the Association and accounted for. Amortization of bonds owned by the Association as of August 31, 1955, was provided in accordance with the amounts determined by the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York.

Payments to the Association by the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York amounted to $22,652.88, as shown on Schedule 1.¹

GENERAL

Dues received during the year are shown in accordance with the cash records, and verification by us was limited to a test check of names on the members mailing list to the dues book. A summary of the dues received indicates that such dues are applicable to the following years:

Dues Year Ending	Amount
1957.	$ 58.26
1956.	26,426.31
1955.	13,343.96
Prior Years	128.67
Total.	$ 39,957.20

During the year under review the Association received dues in the amount of $39,957.20, as compared to $41,079.34 in the preceding year, a decrease of $1,122.14. From the above schedule it may be seen that this decrease is reflected entirely in the current 1955 dues year.

	240 RTS. American Telephone & Telegraph Co., rights to subscribe for $3.00. New conv. deb. 3 7/8% due 10/13/67 @ $100. To holders of record 8/25/55. Void 10/13/55.

The holdings of the American Historical Association as of August 31, 1955, compare with its holdings of August 31, 1954, as follows:

	Value of principal	Income		Value of principal	Income
REGULAR SECTION			MATTESON FUND
Aug. 31, 1954.....	$454,215.00	$18,006	Aug. 31, 1954.....	$78,493.00	$3,753
Aug. 31, 1955.....	559,585.00	19,529	Aug. 31, 1955.....	92,249.00	3,657

As will be noted from the foregoing figures, the market value of the securities held in the Regular Section for the Association increased from a total of $454,215 on August 31, 1954 to $559,585 on August 31, 1955, an increase of about 23 percent. This increase reflects conditions general in the securities markets for the respective dates. The income basis, figured as of the same two dates, increased from $18,006 to $19,529, an increase of about 8.4 percent. During the year, changes in securities for the Matteson Fund increased that fund from $78,493 to $92,249. The income was $3,657 as against $3,753 of a year ago.

In accord with accepted principles, the Trustees have given instructions to the Fiduciary Trust Co. to set aside out of each year's income such an amount as is applicable for that year toward the amortization of the premiums on bonds purchased above the redemption price. The charge upon income on this account for the fiscal year was $77.10 for the Regular Section and $8.03 for the Matteson Fund.

During the year the Trustees received from the Association for investment $26,300 for the Regular Section, and $3,000 for the Matteson Fund.

Charges made by the Fiduciary Trust Co. for the management of securities amounted during the fiscal year to $2,202 for the Regular Section and $380 for the Matteson Fund. The brokerage charges on purchases and sales amounted to $327.12 for the Regular Section and $87.83 for the Matteson Fund. The Board of Trustees incurred no other expenses.

Very truly yours,

FOR THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE
ARTHUR W. PAGE, Chairman

COMMITTEE REPORTS FOR 1955

THE NOMINATING COMMITTEE

The Nominating Committee submits the following nominations for the officers of the American Historical Association during the ensuing year:

For President -- Dexter Perkins

For Vice-President -- William L. Langer

For Treasurer -- Solon J. Buck

Since no petitions have been presented under the applicable provisions of the constitution for the nomination of other persons, I move on behalf of the committee that the secretary be instructed to cast a ballot for this slate.

A total of 586 ballots were cast by mail for the election of members to vacancies on the Council and the Nominating Committee. The following are declared elected:

To the two vacancies on the Council -- Walter P. Webb and R. R. Palmer

To the two vacancies on the Nominating Committee -- Ray A. Billington and Garrett Mattingly.

Professor William C. Binkley will serve as chairman of the Nominating Committee for 1956. The other continuing members are James L. Cate and Theodor E. Mommsen.

WESLEY FRANK CRAVEN, Chairman

THE COMMITTEE ON HONORARY MEMBERS

The Committee on Honorary Members held consultations by mail and agreed, with unanimity and enthusiasm, to nominate to the vacancy in the list of fifteen honorary members caused by the death of Benedetto Croce, Professor Federico Chabod of Naples, Professor in the University of Rome, Director of the Istituto Italiano per gli Studi Storici, of Naples, and co-director of the Revista Storica Italiana. In September Professor Chabod was elected President of the International Committee of Historical Sciences, to serve until the International Historical Congress of 1960. A statement concerning Professor Chabod's qualifications prepared by Professor Felix Gilbert, member of this committee, is submitted separately.

The committee is obliged to report that news has reached it only now that Dr. Vicente Lecuna, of Venezuela, elected an honorary member in 1947, died on February 20, 1954. The committee does not deem it expedient to attempt to make a nomination this year to fill the vacancy thus created. It recommends that such nomination be made in 1956.

In conclusion I beg to observe that having served as a member of this committee since its creation, and twice as its chairman, it seems to me time that I should be replaced and for various reasons, some of them personal, I respectfully ask to be relieved of further service on the committee. I should not conclude my service, however, without expressing my appreciation of the gracious treatment accorded to the Committee by the Executive Council and officers of the Association, and especially of the exceedingly effective cooperation furnished by present and past colleagues in the membership of the Committee.

WALDO LELAND, Chairman

COMMITTEE ON DOCUMENTARY REPRODUCTION

The Committee has continued its long-range program (1) of acquiring in cooperation with the Library of Congress selected documentary materials in foreign archives through the medium of Fulbright research scholars, and (2) of developing and sponsoring self-liquidating projects for the republication in microprint of basic out-of-print documentary collections, books and other sources of use to scholars. The Committee is able to report substantial progress in both programs.

1. The Fulbright Foreign Documents program. In connection with this phase of its program the Committee has received timely financial assistance to the amount of $15,000 from the Ford Foundation, to be expended at the rate of $5,000 annually for the years 1955, 1956, and 1957. The funds will be used exclusively for the microfilming of documents selected and edited by Fulbright research scholars nominated and sponsored by the Committee and the Library of Congress for the purpose of directing the acquisition of research materials in countries to which Fulbright scholars go. But for this assistance from the Ford Foundation this program, which has been successfully in operation since 1950, would have been in danger of collapse for lack of funds to cover the costs of microfilming. The program has the support of the Conference Board of Associated Research Councils, and the Committee has reason to hope that successful work during the three-year trial period will result in continued support by the Ford Foundation. The documents acquired are deposited in the Library of Congress and are available to scholars at the Library, or, in case master-positive copies are made in addition to master-negatives, are made available to scholars through inter-library loan. For documents on which no restrictions are imposed with respect to reproduction by the holder of the original, positive microfilm duplications may be obtained by purchase through college and university libraries. A checklist of documents deposited in the Library of Congress is published annually as an appendix to the Report of the Committee in the Annual Report of the American Historical Association. Checklists have already been published in the reports for the years 1951, 1952, and 1954. The Committee and the Library of Congress are indebted to the Ford Foundation for making possible the continuation of an accessions program that brings microfilm copies of substantial quantities of priceless documents to this country at very low costs.

Plans for the joint Committee-Library of Congress Fulbright documents program for 1955 necessarily had to be made in the spring and summer of 1954. Faced with the prospect of no funds to cover the microfilming activities of research scholars, the Committee nominated only one candidate for a research scholarship for the present year 1955-56, Professor William R. Braisted, University of Texas, for Japan. Professor Braisted received a Fulbright research scholarship and has already left for Japan where he will survey and microfilm private papers of Japanese political leaders, particularly those active in the Meiji restoration of 1868.

Similarly, plans for the 1956-57 foreign documents program necessarily have had to be made during the past spring and summer of 1955. Since the announcement of the Ford Foundation grant was not received until late August, 1955, the Committee has been hard-pressed to coordinate and process Fulbright applications of scholar nominees in time to meet the Fulbright October deadlines. Notwithstanding the pressing time factor, two applications for Italy and one for the United Kingdom are being sponsored for 1956-57. (See below in subcommittee report sections.) Attention is also being paid to the continuation of projects previously begun but which are still not completed. A brief report of some of the active subcommittees will better disclose the specific nature of the various Fulbright documents programs.

a. Subcommittee for Italy, Professor Loren C. MacKinney, University of North Carolina, Chairman.

(1) Professor Catherine E. Boyd, Carleton College, was in Italy from September 1954 to July 1955, where in connection with her research on feudal seignorial institutions in Veneto in the 12th and 13th centuries she surveyed the legal materials in archives and libraries in Venice, Verona, Vicenza, Padua, and the Vatican with the view to framing a program for the microfilming of selected documents. Funds were not available in time for Professor Boyd to activate this program. She did, however, complete arrangements for the microfilming of 7 volumes of author catalogues of Greek, Latin, and Italian MSS of the Marciana Library in Venice. These catalogues are of great value to scholars in Venetian, Renaissance, and Intellectual history. A checklist of the microfilms deposited by Professor Boyd in the Library of Congress will be included in the 1956 report of the Committee.

(2) Microfilming of unprinted catalogues of Italian archives and MSS collections. This is a joint program of the Committee, the Library of Congress, and a joint Committee, organized in 1954, composed of representatives of the Kristeller Program for Medieval and Renaissance Latin Translations and Commentaries, the Mediaeval Academy, the Renaissance Society of America, the Modern Language Association, and the American Philological Association, under the chairmanship of Professor B. L. Ullman. During the coming year (1955-56) Professor George Carbone, University of Mississippi, will direct Committee-sponsored microfilming of catalogues in the Milan and Turin regions. In 1956-57 the Committee hopes to continue this program through the medium of Mr. George Gross, University of North Carolina, working under the direction of Professors Ullman and MacKinney. The Committee has sponsored Mr. Gross' application for a pre-doctoral Fulbright scholarship. It is hoped that the microfilming of the MSS catalogues of Italian archives and libraries can be completed in the three-year period of the Ford Foundation grant.

(3) The Committee has also sponsored the application of Mr. Richard Face, University of Wisconsin, for 1956-57 in Italy for the continuation of the program initiated by Professor Reynolds, University of Wisconsin, and Professor Krueger, University of Cincinnati, for the microfilming of the notarial cartularies related to early Genoese trade that are in the Archivio di Stato in Genoa. If the pre-doctoral award is granted to Mr. Face, he will work under the direction of Professors Reynolds and Krueger in the execution of the project.

b. Subcommittee for the United Kingdom, Professor Robert B. Eckles, Purdue University, Chairman.

(1) The Committee has sponsored the application of Professor Eckles for a Fulbright research scholarship in the United Kingdom for 1956-57 for the purpose of surveying and microfilming selected records related to British and Scottish mercantile company activities and management techniques, particularly in the 18th and 19th centuries.

(2) The subcommittee is preparing a checklist of MSS designed to round out incomplete collections obtained through the English microcopying program sponsored by the American Council of Learned Societies during World War II. The completion of this checklist awaits the publication of a checklist of holdings resulting from the ACLS wartime program. Scholars in British history have been asked to submit want-lists of research materials that they desire the subcommittee to have microfilmed. The above lists will serve as a basis for future microfilming programs.

c. The Subcommittee on France, Professor Richard C. Hale, Jr., Boston University, Chairman. The subcommittee was not able to get its program for 1956-57 coordinated in time to meet the Fulbright application deadlines. Attempts are being made, however, to utilize the services of scholars in France to develop the program set forth by Professor Richard C. Payne in the Committee report for 1954. This embraced the microfilming of Délibérations du Parlement de Provence.

2. Publication of Out-of-Print Source Materials

a. British House of Commons Sessional Papers Project. The Readex Microprint Corporation, publishers, reports that the master-negative copies of the portions of the 19th and 18th century Sessional Papers which still remain to be published in the microprint edition have, for the most part, now been received from England, and that further issues of microprint may be expected in the near future. The unpublished portions at this time are scattered parts of the papers for the period 1801 to 1819, and about one-half of the 110 vols. that compose the Second Series, 1731-1800. The microprint edition of the House of Commons Journals, 1547-1900 (155 vols.) has been completely issued. The Committee wishes to acknowledge the considerable financial assistance of the Research Board, University of Illinois, in making possible the final editorial proofing of the 19th century Sessional Papers, 1801-1871.

b. Russian Sources Project, Professor F. S. Rodkey, University of Illinois, Editor. The first phase of this project deals with pre-Communist Revolution materials, a priority list of which was Appendix B of the Committee's Report for 1954. This first phase has for the most part been published and issued to subscribers. The second phase embraces the post-Communist Revolution sources. With the assistance of Russian scholars a priority list has been compiled, and awaits final checking so that an estimate of costs to libraries may be ascertained. This phase should be activated during the coming year, provided prepublication subscriptions warrant going ahead with the publication.

c. Out-of-Print Medieval Sources Project, Professor Hilmar C. Krueger, University of Cincinnati, Editor. Professor Krueger reports as follows: "It is the intention of the subcommittee to publish in microprint during the next calendar year out-of-print medieval sources. Through this project the subcommittee hopes to make these sources available to scholars at colleges whose library budgets do not permit the purchase of sets which can be bought only at exorbitant prices if they are purchasable at all. A package-deal seems most feasible for low production costs and a low purchase price. Scholars are now being canvassed to indicate the most appropriate titles for the project."

d. Early American Imprints Project, Dr. Clifford K. Shipton, Librarian, American Antiquarian Society, Editor. This project originated with the American Antiquarian Society, and it is sponsored by the Committee. It embraces the microprinting of every existent book, pamphlet, and broadside printed in the United States from 1639 to 1800, inclusive, listed in the Evans bibliography and its supplements (Charles Evans, ed., American Bibliography: A Chronological Dictionary of All Books, Pamphlets, and Periodical Publications Printed in the United States of America from the Genesis of Printing Down To and Including the Year 1800). The items in the microprint edition are being edited for title identification, author, imprint and text, and at last will bring together collectively and authoritatively the thousands of corrections in the original volumes of Evans, including the exposing of "ghost titles," or editions which really never have existed, but which arose from errors in other bibliographies or from misunderstandings of advertisements. The project extends over a period of ten years at a cost of $750.00 a year, the total cost not to exceed $7,500. For the first time these major sources for the study of early American history will become available at a very low cost.

Dr. Shipton reports progress as follows: "The early American Imprints project is proceeding very well. The revision of Evans is turning out to be much more profitable than we had expected. In dealing with the hundreds of ghost titles, we can usually indicate the source of the error which gave rise to them. We have more than the necessary number of subscriptions, extending from Liverpool, England on the east to Sydney, Australia on the west. The one block has been the difficulty of obtaining films of copies in other libraries, a task which requires a vast amount of correspondence. However, although the shipments of microprint cards will begin slowly, they will gather speed in six months or so."

3. Miscellaneous Activities. Your Chairman continued to serve on the Sectional Committee on Photographic Reproduction of Documents, PH 5, of the American Standards Association (New York) to formulate standards for the various forms of microreproduction and in January, 1955 attended a special conference on Library Problems at the Folger Library, Washington, D. C., where with a representative group interested in library problems he considered appropriate ways in which foundation assistance could be utilized to the mutual benefit of scholars and libraries.

Since the press of other work necessitates that I give up the chairmanship of the Committee at the end of this year, I wish to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for the co-operation I have received from the Executive Secretaries, Drs. Ford and Shafer, during my tenure of office which has extended from 1942 to the present.

EDGAR L. ERICKSON, Chairman

COMMITTEE ON THE GUIDE TO HISTORICAL LITERATURE

Since the preceding report, this Committee has held one meeting and has corresponded sufficiently to arrive at a tentative program on the basis of which to seek financial assistance. We agreed that unless the book could be made available to those whom it would be designed to help at a price within their reach, it would be imprudent to undertake the labor of revision. Protracted negotiations to gain the necessary financial support have not yet been concluded, but a feasible solution of the problem of publication costs is now in sight. That arrangement will clear the way to obtain other assistance in preparing the manuscript for the printer. A fair possibility that negotiations to that end will soon be fruitful can also be reported now.

The Committee refrained from using the funds allowed by the Association to meet the costs of holding one meeting apart from that during the period of the last convention in New York. Only very recently would such a meeting have been likely to advance our work materially. We request therefore that the allowance be carried over into the coming year as an extra provision in case of need, and that two meetings be permitted.

One change in membership resulted from the resignation of Professor John W. Fairbank of Harvard University in order to undertake other tasks, and the appointment to the vacancy of Professor Earl H. Pritchard of the University of Chicago.

The Committee will continue its efforts to solve the problems of financial assistance and meanwhile to get its program for producing the revised manuscript in readiness to inaugurate at the earliest possible time.

GEORGE F. HOWE, Chairman

THE COMMITTEE ON THE HARMSWORTH PROFESSORSHIP

The Committee on the Harmsworth Professorship consisted of W. C. Binkley of Tulane University, Stow Persons of the University of Iowa, W. Stull Holt of the University of Washington, Henry S. Commager of Columbia University, and Carl Wittke of Western Reserve University, Chairman.

The Chairman invited nominations from the various members of the Committee and added some names himself so that the total number under consideration was 26. There was a lively exchange of opinion conducted by correspondence among the members of the Committee. Factors considered were age, fields of scholarship, availability, previous appointments in British universities, and those general qualifications of character and personality which would make a good academic ambassador abroad.

The Committee took several ballots by mail, and a tabulation was made under a rating system, based on the order of preference. The final result was a recommendation of five possible candidates.

The panel was submitted according to precedents to Oxford, and the final selection fell upon Arthur Bestor of the University of Illinois.

I see no special reason for changes in the composition of the Committee. The Committee represents a good distribution both geographically and in fields of interest.

CARL WITTKE, Chairman

THE COMMITTEE ON THE HISTORIAN AND THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

Since the previous annual report the Committee has held two meetings, summary minutes of which are forwarded to you.

The responsibilities of this Committee, which grew out of the consolidation of two standing and one ad hoc committees of the AHA in 1953, lie in two separate but not unrelated fields: governmental policy and certain Association publications.

The Committee has not had, so far this year, to defend historical and related programs in the federal government as it did in the two previous years. Instead it has been able to assist in certain positive steps leading, it is to be hoped, toward a larger and more effective role for historians in the federal service. One of the members of this Committee (although not acting primarily in that role), Dr. Greenfield, and five other senior historians in federal service on 1 July addressed a letter to the Chairman of the Civil Service Commission, Philip Young, suggesting improvements in the current policies and procedures for the recruitment of historians by the government. By direction of the Committee meeting of 25 June your Chairman sent a telegram in support of this letter to Mr. Young on 4 July. It was briefly acknowledged on 15 July. On 6 September the CSC dispatched a letter to your Chairman over Mr. Young's signature in which it was stated that an announcement would be made about the middle of October of continuously open examinations for Historians, among others, of grades GS-5 and GS-7, and that during the fiscal year 1956 a scheduled examination would be held for Historians in grades GS-9 through GS-12. The letter promised to give as wide publicity as possible to this examination and to consult the using agencies of the government for suggestions and comments. Your Chairman replied on 20 September with appropriate thanks and observations upon the value that historians and historical perspective could have for the government, not only in historical programs per se but in general policy making.

All publications referred to below are now being processed by lithoprint rather than letterpress in the interests of economy. Results have apparently been entirely satisfactory to those who make use of them.

The typing of the David M. Matteson Index of Writings on American History is proceeding steadily under the direction of Dr. William C. Davis of George Washington University, who brings unusual professional experience in typing and photolithographing to the project. The typing is being done on an IBM machine, with print-faced type, which the American Historical Association has purchased. It should be ready for photolithographing sometime during the spring and for binding and distribution sometime during 1956. The Committee recommends that a modest charge (of perhaps $3.00 to members and $5.00 to non-members) be made which may contribute to a revolving fund for similar undertakings, such as those referred to in paragraphs 8 and 9, below.

The 1950 bibliographic Writings on American History, prepared by Dr. James Masterson of the National Archives, was published and distributed in the spring of 1955. The Writings for 1951, by the same compiler, is in press, and those for 1952 should go to press about June 1956.

The Proceedings for 1954, volume I of the Annual Report, is in press. That for 1953 appeared during the spring of 1955.

Writings on American History, 1941-47. Dr. Philip Hamer of the National Archives is considering a plan which it is hoped will be a practical method for compiling and publishing an unannotated list of the more significant books and articles on the history of the United States printed during these years, which constitute a gap in the volumes of Writings since 1904. Under this plan the contributing editor for the U.S. section of the AHR (your Chairman) would mark the appropriate books reviewed and periodical articles noted in the AHR, Mississippi Valley Historical Review, Journal of Southern History, and certain other periodicals. Dr. William C. Davis would arrange to have a card for each entry typed on the AHA's IBM typewriter. After having been sorted and posted on large sheets, they would be photographed (perhaps microfilmed). Dr. Hamer would arrange to send these photographs to selected state and other historical societies for suggested additions, corrections, and deletions. He would also arrange for the preparation of the index.

At its two meetings during the past year the Committee approved of the publication of a "Directory and Bibliography of Members of the American Historical Association" similar to the current directory issued by the American Political Science Association. A new edition might be brought out every five years. The basic cards might be brought up to date each year and used as a part of the AHA's placement service. It is hoped that the Matteson income can be used as a revolving fund in this undertaking. We shall, however, need to consider this undertaking in light of the proposal of the Jacques Cattell company to bring out a Who's Who in the Social Sciences (including History) as Volume III of their American Men of Science. This would leave out many of our members, including especially the younger ones, and would sell for a quite substantial price.

The Chairman on 11 April forwarded to the Executive Secretary comments on an Outline of Proposed Schedules for States of the United States for use in a revision of the Dewey Decimal System of library classification. He expressed the opinion that the proposed revisions would be of interest to geographers rather than historians. Unfortunately the Dewey and other classifications were set up at a time when history was thought of as primarily a political narrative. The result is that much of economic, social, and intellectual history of the United States is scattered through library shelves in sections of the arts, social sciences, and natural sciences. The current revision seems, after conference with the people working on it, to offer no opportunity for reversing this trend.

The semi-annual luncheons of historians of the District of Columbia and surrounding areas, held on the last Saturday of March and October at the George Washington University Student Union, have drawn about one hundred historians from government departments and universities. Some have driven from Williamsburg, Baltimore, Annapolis, and University Park, Pennsylvania to attend. Visiting historians are always welcome to a gathering that is intended to be social rather than instructive.

WOOD GRAY, Chairman

THE COMMITTEE ON INTERNATIONAL HISTORICAL ACTIVITIES

The membership of the Committee has not changed during the year. However, when the committee was established terms of membership were set at five years, so it is probable that some form of rotation will soon be given effect. The committee has held no meeting as yet but plans to hold an important meeting during the sessions of the Association in Washington. This report is a summary and factual statement by the Chairman and has not been submitted to the other members of the committee.

International Committee of Historical Sciences (ICHS)

The American Historical Association is responsible for American support of the International Congress of Historical Sciences and for American participation in its work. The United States representatives, named by the American Historical Association, in the ICHS are Mr. Donald McKay, who is also a member of the Bureau of the International Committee, and Mr. Boyd C. Shafer, named by the Council on nomination by this Committee, to replace Mr. Philip Mosely who was obliged to resign, due to stress of other work. Mr. Leland is also a member of the Bureau, as an Honorary Councilor, by virtue of being a former president of the ICHS, but he is not a representative of the Association.

The ICHS and its Bureau held meetings in Rome in September. Thirty countries and six international organizations were represented, including Vatican City, admitted as a country, and the USSR, which returned to the meetings of the ICHS for the first time since the last war. The US was represented by Messrs. McKay and Shafer.

The general election of the Bureau, including the officers, held every five years at the time and place of the Congress, resulted in the election of Professor Federico Chabod of Italy as President, to succeed M. Robert Fawtier of France, who now takes his place as an Honorary Councilor on the Bureau. There were reelected Messrs. Webster (England) and Ahnlund (Sweden) as Vice Presidents, M. Michel François (France) as Secretary General, M. Louis Junod (Switzerland) as Treasurer and Messrs. McKay (United States) and Schmid (Austria) as assessor members of the Bureau, and as new assessor members of the Bureau, there were elected Madame Pankratava (USSR) and Messrs. Ritter (Germany) and Brugmans (Netherlands). The Bureau thus constituted will serve until 1960. In order to make representation in the Bureau of Latin America possible and more certain, it was agreed that an amendment to the Statutes should be duly introduced and acted upon, at later meetings, to increase the number of assessor members from five to six.

The ICHS adopted a series of regulations respecting the organization, composition and administration of the various Commissions of the Committee which will define their relation and responsibility to the parent body and the control of the latter over them.

Two publications of the ICHS were presented: the 21st volume of the International Bibliography of Historical Sciences, for the year 1952, and the Bibliographie des Travaux Historiques publiés dans les Volumes de Mélanges, 1880-1939. This contains more than 8000 items, but is restricted to European publications.

The International Committee of Historical Sciences voted to hold its next meeting in Moscow in 1957, while the Bureau decided to hold its next meeting in Madrid in 1956. The ICHS also voted to accept the invitation of Sweden, originally for 1955, to hold the 11th International Congress of Historical Sciences in Stockholm in 1960.

It was also voted to admit the Russian language as one of the official languages of the ICHS, the others being English, French, German, Italian, and Spanish.

Two new international organizations were admitted to the ICHS: the Union of the Institutes in Rome for Archaeology, History, and the History of Art, and the Association for Humanism and the Renaissance, thus bringing the number of such organizations represented in the ICHS to six. The other four are the International Association for Byzantine Studies, the International Commission for Slavic Studies, the International Committee of Onomastic Sciences, and the Pan American Institute of Geography and History, this last an intergovernmental organization. It is well to call attention to the importance of careful study of the qualifications of such international organizations as apply for representation in the ICHS, which was originally composed only of representatives of countries.

The ICHS has received assistance from UNESCO for the publication of the International Bibliography and for certain expenses of attending its meetings, including, this year, the Congress. The International Committee is represented in the International Council of Philosophy and the Humanistic Sciences, of UNESCO, of which Professor Charles Odegaard, a member of the American Historical Association, is Vice Chairman. This committee is gratified that the American Historical Association has been able to increase, modestly, its annual dues to the ICHS.

Tenth International Congress of Historical Sciences, Rome, 1955

The chief activity of this committee in 1955 has been to assure American representation and participation in the International Congress. Mr. McKay and Mr. Shafer bore the burden of this task and achieved a gratifying success. The Congress was attended by more than 100 persons from the United States of whom twenty-three presented reports, read papers, or presided over sessions. Four members of this committee were in attendance, Messrs. McKay, Shafer, Schmitt, and Whitaker.

A full account of the Congress, by Mr. McKay, will be printed in the January issue of the American Historical Review and may be considered as an annex to this report.

By vote of the ICHS the national commissions have been requested to prepare frank "critiques" of the Congress for consideration by the Bureau in its Madrid meeting. The preparation of the critique from the United States will be the first task of this committee in 1956 and work on it has already been begun.

Bibliography of English History

For many years the American Historical Association has cooperated with British historians in the compilation of bibliographies of the Tudor and Stuart periods of English history and in the revision of Charles Gross's Sources and Literature of English History...to...1485. This summer Mr. Shafer was able to have conferences in London with British scholars for planning further cooperation. He will report personally on these plans, for they have not been considered by this committee.

Pan American Institute of Geography and History

The Pan American Institute of Geography and History (PAIGH) is an intergovernmental organization recognized as a specialized agency of the Organization of American States (OAS). Responsibility for the payment of the United States quota to the budget of the PAIGH and in general for United States participation in its activities resides in the government of the United States, especially the Department of State. Nevertheless the American Historical Association cooperates actively with the Department of State in promoting United States participation in the historical activities of the Institute.

Professor Arthur P. Whitaker, a member of this committee, is the US member of the Commission on History of the PAIGH and is a general officer, First Vice-President, of the Institute itself. He serves as chairman of a small subcommittee of this committee, composed of specialists, who constitute an advisory group on the work of the PAIGH in history.

The sixth General Assembly (quadrennial) of the PAIGH was held in Mexico City in July-August of the past summer. Important changes in the government and administration of the Institute were adopted, which are described by Professor Whitaker in his account published in the Hispanic American Historical Review.

The Commission on History, one of the major sections of the PAIGH, held a Consultation in which the United States was represented by Messrs. Whitaker, Howard F. Cline, and James B. Griffin. The Consultation (1) approved an archival program drafted by Mr. John F. Harrison of the United States National Archives; (2) considered the final stages of the project "History of the Americas," which was discussed in the annual meetings of the American Historical Association of 1952 and 1954, and which was aided by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation (the early stand of the Commission against the writing of "official history" was reaffirmed); (3) adopted a program for bibliography of American history, prepared by Mr. Cline; (4) provided for a reassessment of the entire historical program of the Commission; (5) constituted the provisional Committee on Anthropology a permanent committee of the Commission, with Mr. Griffin as chairman; (6) agreed to amplify the service of the Revista de Historia de America as an organ of the Commission; (7) considered reports from the Committee on Folklore, the Independence Movement, and the History of Ideas; and (8) recommended to the Assembly, for consideration later, the elevation of the Commission's Committee on Archives into a Commission of the Institute.

The next Consultation of the Commission on History will be held in Quenca, Ecuador, in 1957, and the succeeding Consultation will be held in connection with the next General Assembly of the PAIGH in La Paz, in 1959. Attention is called to the session of the annual meeting of the American Historical Association of 1954, which was devoted to a symposium on a major project of the Commission on History, the "History of the Americas," reported in the American Historical Review of April, 1955, as part of the account of the annual meeting. Such sessions are certainly an important form of cooperation within the means and interest of the American Historical Association.

Anglo-American Historical Conference

The 29th Anglo-American Historical Conference was held in London in July. This meeting is organized by the Institute of Historical Research of the University of London but has become more and more a general, though brief, British historical meeting, in which American scholars always have a part, sometimes one of considerable prominence. A brief report on the conference of last July was printed in the American Historical Review for October, but the occasion deserves more attention on this side of the Atlantic than it has been receiving of late years, and it is the intention of this committee to make the conference better known and to encourage larger American attendance and participation. The next conference will be in London on July 12-14, 1956.

Union Academique Internationale (UAI)

This Committee has no responsibility for American membership and participation in the UAI, except as the Association is a constituent member of the American Council of Learned Societies, which has such responsibility and is interested in certain of the undertakings of the UAI, which, however, are mostly in the fields of philological and archaeological studies. Reports of the annual sessions of the UAI are distributed by the American Council of Learned Societies.

Prescott Section, Archives of the Indies

A special collection of books by United States authors on Spanish and Spanish American history, under the title Sección Prescott, is being developed in the Archives of the Indies in Seville, and it is probable that the American Historical Association will be invited to appoint a member to represent it on an advisory committee that is to be set up. This Committee will be glad to be of service in the matter of selecting a representative and of developing the collection.

Final Recommendation

The committee points out the increased importance of full American attendance in the meetings of the ICHS and its Bureau. It recommends accordingly that provision be made for the expenses of Mr. McKay in attending the meeting of the Bureau in Madrid in 1956 and of Mr. McKay and Mr. Shafer, in attending the general meeting of the ICHS in Moscow in 1957.

WALDO G. LELAND, Chairman

JOINT BRITISH-AMERICAN COMMITTEE ON BRITISH HISTORY BIBLIOGRAPHY

The joint British-American Committee on British History Bibliography, consisting of Miss Helen Cam for the Royal Historical Society, Professor W. C. Lunt for the Mediaeval Academy, Professor T. F. T. Plucknett for the British Academy, and Stanley Pargellis for the American Historical Association, concluded their deliberations by mail in February 1955, and on February 23rd, dispatched their recommendations to the secretaries of the four societies involved. Each of the Councils approved the report, and authorized the Secretary of the American Historical Association, with the assistance of Mr. Miller of the Mediaeval Academy and Mr. Pargellis to approach a Foundation or Foundations in their behalf. Mr. Pargellis and Mr. Shafer, with the assistance of Professor H. Hale Bellot, are preparing a formal request for funds.

Briefly, the Committee recommended a new edition of the bibliography of Medieval British history, revisions of Conyers Read and Godfrey Davies on the Tudor and Stuart periods, respectively, two new bibliographies from 1789 to 1900, the preparing of Writings on British History from 1901 to 1933, a compilation which includes without comment all articles from all sources as well as books. No editors have been named, except Conyers Read for a revision of his volume. The total amount to be asked for is in the neighborhood of $100,000.

It is to be hoped that this request can be laid before a Foundation within a few weeks, and that a reply can be received by January.

STANLEY PARGELLIS, Chairman

THE COMMITTEE ON TEACHING IN THE SCHOOLS

The Committee on Teaching consists of Arthur E. Bestor, Arthur Dondineau, Erling M. Hunt, Francis Keppel, Mrs. Eugene Meyer, Sidney Painter (Chairman), Miss Edith Starratt, Joseph R. Strayer, and Edgar B. Wesley. It thus contains four professors of history, one of whom is widely experienced in teacher training, two professors of education, a superintendent of schools, a secondary school teacher of history, and a representative of the public who has shown an active interest in education.

The Committee met on May 28 in the Board Room of the American Council of Learned Societies. Bestor, Hunt, Keppel, Painter, Miss Starratt, and Strayer were present. Professor Wesley sent a valuable memorandum.

The chief purpose of the meeting was to draw up a statement of the Committee's plans in a form suitable for presentation to foundations. A preliminary draft made by the chairman and Dr. Boyd Shafer was worked over and extensively amended. The Committee also discussed the size of the staff which would be needed to carry out the plan and the qualifications required of its members. Dr. Shafer was requested to compile a list of possible candidates for consideration by the Committee when the necessary funds had been secured. Dr. Shafer and the chairman were instructed to make formal application to one or more foundations for these funds. In order to strengthen these applications the members of the Committee agreed that each one would send copies of the statement prepared in the meeting to a number of people interested in education asking for their comments. This resulted in some extremely interesting letters which were used to support the application for funds.

A formal application for a grant of $148,000 over a three year period was submitted to the Ford Foundation on July 8. On August 9 Dr. Shafer and the chairman had an interview with Dr. Fred Cole of the Foundation staff. On October 12 Dr. Shafer was informed that the grant had been approved.

The Committee plans to hold a meeting on November 19 to consider the appointment of an executive staff. It is hoped that when the Association meets in December the Committee can report that it is ready for actual operations.

SIDNEY PAINTER, Chairman

THE COMMITTEE ON THE HERBERT BAXTER ADAMS PRIZE

By its term of reference, the Committee on the Herbert Baxter Adams Prize has not been active this year.

Arrangements are made for circularizing publishing houses early in 1956. The Chairman does not at this time have any suggestions to make as to new members, but feels that his own absence from the country may call for a replacement although he will be able to work through his school and department quite easily.

FRANCIS J. BOWMAN, Chairman

THE COMMITTEE ON THE JOHN H. DUNNING PRIZE

No report in 1955.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON THE LITTLETON-GRISWOLD FUND

During the current year this committee held one meeting at Washington, D. C. on November 26, 1955.

Although no publications were issued during the year, substantial progress was made toward completion of the Prince George's County Court Book of Maryland. As editor the committee has secured the services of Mr. Joseph H. Smith, author of the well known study on appeals to the Privy Council, and Mr. Smith has substantially completed his research and it is planned to publish these records during the coming year.

Progress on other projects has been made, particularly on the records of New Jersey Quarter Sessions Courts for the Revolutionary Period, which will perhaps be the next item ready for publication after the Maryland material has been published.

Appended is a financial report showing the status of the fund.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE WATUMULL PRIZE

Regarding the membership of the Committee on the Watumull Prize, I have to inform you that Professor Robert Crane cannot serve on the committee for 1956, Professor Richard L. Park of the University of California and I are available, although I should vacate the position for someone else, as I have served a good many years. The Watumull Prize will again be awarded in 1956.

TARAKNATH DAS, Chairman

THE COMMITTEE ON THE GEORGE LOUIS BEER PRIZE

Continuing the practice initiated by Oron J. Hale in 1954, letters concerning the prize were sent in mid-March to thirty publishers. Eleven books were submitted for the competition and during the summer these were circulated among the members of the committee (Charles F. Mullett of Missouri, Joseph J. Mathews of Emory, and myself). Each reached and formulated his judgment independent of the others, the judgments were then exchanged and considered in correspondence. As in the two previous years but to an even greater extent, there was a remarkable agreement among the three of us. Three of the books entered were ruled ineligible under the terms of the award. Of the eight remaining, we three were unanimous from the first concerning the three best entrants. Two of us agreed initially on the order of ranking the three top books while the third member reversed our first and second choices. He did not, however, feel strongly in the matter but agreed at once to accommodate his vote to that of the other two. Hence the committee recommends unanimously that the prize be awarded to Richard Pipes, The Formation of the Soviet Union (Harvard University Press) with honorable mention to L. L. Claude, Jr., National Minorities (Harvard University Press).

SINCLAIR W. ARMSTRONG, Chairman

THE COMMITTEE ON THE ALBERT J. BEVERIDGE AWARD

During the year 1955 the Committee received fifteen manuscripts. All members managed to read them during the summer, but this is becoming increasingly difficult with the committeemen scattered widely throughout the country. To consider these manuscripts, the Committee met at the Statler Hotel in New York City on November 14 and selected Ian C. C. Graham's Scottish Emigration to North America, 1707-1783, for the Beveridge Award, and Francis Wilson Smith's Moral Philosophers and Northern Society: Studies of Academic Men and Public Affairs, 1830-1860, for honorable mention.

The Committee then went into the matter of republishing Beveridge prize books that have gone out of print. It felt that a contract such as that reached with Professor Richard Hofstadter for the republication of his Social Darwinism in American Thought, with the American Historical Association sharing in the profits without making a new investment, was a very satisfactory arrangement. Since Professor Arthur Bestor had reported that his Backwoods Utopias was out of print at the University of Pennsylvania Press and that he would like to have the Committee republish this book through the Cornell University Press, or to have the copyright assigned to him, the Committee decided that, while it should not lose sight of future royalties, it ought not make conditions that would prevent the republication of his book.

Professors Stampf, Tyler, and Lanning, on account of the pressure of other duties, withdrew their names from consideration as members of the Committee for 1956.

A number of drastic regulations with respect to the competition have recently been made. Contestants must now submit a ribbon copy of their works and each manuscript must be the author's first or second book. This year the Committee took the position that manuscripts going far beyond the maximum length stipulated in its circular will be at a disadvantage in competition with books of equal merit but of the proper length.

The manuscripts chosen this year were in good condition, but it was the unanimous opinion of the Committee that each manuscript to be published should be given special criticism by a professional scholar. Accordingly, Professor Stampf agreed to read Mr. Graham's manuscript and Professor Tyler will read Mr. Smith's.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE CARNEGIE REVOLVING FUND

One volume entitled The Beginnings of Unitarianism in America by Professor C. Conrad Wright has been published by the Beacon Press of Boston by means of a subsidy of $1,000 supplied by the Carnegie Revolving Fund. This award was in accordance with the decision of the Committee reported in December of 1954. A second volume entitled Europe's Classical Balance of Power, by Professor Edward Vose Gulick, is in press. This volume is being published by the Cornell University Press in accordance with the Committee's decision of last December, and it is expected to be ready for distribution sometime in December or about the first of next year.

During the course of the past year the Committee has received a total of six manuscripts for consideration. With two exceptions these manuscripts fall rather short of the standards with which the Committee has been accustomed. A third is somewhat more doubtful, although it might be revised and made into a very acceptable published work. I have the initial vote of the Committee on the manuscripts for this year but have not yet had the opportunity to report the vote to the entire Committee and confirm the results of this initial vote. The expenses of the Gulick volume have not yet been paid, and our financial status as of August 31 last is already in a reduced state. Accordingly, it does not seem likely that we will be able to afford the full expense of the publication of another volume in the course of the next year. However, the initial vote of the Committee is strongly in favor of the one manuscript for which the author is asking only a subsidy of $1,600 as his manuscript has already been accepted for publication by the Cornell University Press. This manuscript is written by Professor John Tate Lanning and is entitled "The Eighteenth-Century Enlightenment in the University of San Carlos de Guatemala." It seems possible that we may be able to reach this far, considering our present financial resources and the receipts likely to come in before Professor Lanning's book will be through the press. I hasten to add, however, that this is not the final decision of the Committee as a whole but simply that which I shall recommend to the Committee for their approval on the basis of the preliminary vote taken on the manuscripts submitted for this year.

The financial condition of the Committee would seem to dictate a moratorium for the immediate future unless additional funds are found for the Committee's support. This is a matter, of course, for the Council to decide but it would appear evident, inasmuch as our balance as of August 31 last was only slightly above $3,700, that in all likelihood $3,000 of this or possibly a bit more will be required to pay for the expenses of publishing the Gulick volume, and if we further commit ourselves to expend $1,600 as a subsidy for Professor Lanning's volume we shall have extended ourselves beyond the limits of cash on hand. This situation, as you know, has not been unanticipated, and the Committee has acted in accordance with the recommendations of the Council for the past two years as if either we would spend the money we have and then decide what to do about the future or expect additions to our Fund before our resources were wholly exhausted. It would appear that we have now reached the point anticipated in the first alternative. This raises several questions:

1. Whether the Committee should stay in being and as the receipts from books previously published make it possible to consider the publication of further manuscripts in the future to hold contests at infrequent intervals?
2. Whether to close up shop, dissolve the Committee, hold no further competitions, and allow whatever money that may accumulate from sales in the future to be disposed of at the discretion of the Council of the Association? (Whether this is in accord with the terms of the original grant made for the Carnegie Revolving Fund for publications is a matter which I cannot resolve.)
3. Whether to continue as in 1, above, and exert additional effort to add to our publication funds from outside sources thereby continuing the work of the Committee indefinitely in the future?

I have not yet advised the members of the Committee of our sad financial situation and accordingly have not received their opinions as to what our course in the future should be. I shall tell them of our financial situation and solicit their opinions in my letter to them to be composed as soon as this report is completed.

OTHER REPORTS

REPORT OF THE DELEGATE TO THE AMERICAN COUNCIL OF LEARNED SOCIETIES

As your delegate to the ACLS, I attended the meeting in Washington last January, and I have attempted to keep in touch with developments.

Unfortunately, there is little to report of a satisfactory nature. The lack of financial support, which threatens the existence of the ACLS, is still a major problem. The Executive Director has made plans to reduce operations as far as possible to conserve the resources still available, and the permanent staff is carrying on with good morale. The January meeting produced many strong expressions of encouragement and support from the constituent societies (ours included). A few frankly recognized that their interests pulled them in other directions and that they were less dependent than others on the ACLS; I question the real interest of some of the societies of the Social Science area in the problems of the Humanities. The new President, Mr. Jones, is continuing zealously on his predecessor's policy of trying to alert the Foundations on the seriousness of our situation. It has seemed to some of us that if we can hang on through this difficult period it will be impossible for the Foundations to duck the issue. Therefore, even if it is only a matter of repeating our stand from year to year, I believe it important for the American Historical Association to continue to speak its voice; among all the Social Sciences we are the most concerned with the needs of the Humanistic studies--which indeed are part of our own discipline.

CHARLES H. TAYLOR

REPORT OF THE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE OF THE HISTORICAL SCIENCES

The central activity of the International Committee of the Historical Sciences during the past year was the Quinquennial Congress in Rome, Sept. 4-11. Thirty-five countries were represented, with a total of 1600 direct participants, and 2200 in all. The United States, with 102, had a delegation fifth in size, and one substantially larger than that of roughly 60 which attended the Paris Congress of 1950. The Holy See was present for the first time; Soviet Russia and all but two of the European satellites returned to active membership; Japan and Brazil were readmitted.

The warm consensus of the delegates was that the Italian host committee had done a magnificent job of providing both for the effective functioning of the Congress and for the "extra-curricular" entertainment of its guests, culminating in the reception of all the "Congressistes" by the Pope. Once again, as at Paris, the historical work of the Congress was divided between "Reports" on significant themes, published and circulated in advance and discussed at the morning sessions, and "Communications" (shorter papers), read and discussed in the afternoon sessions. Americans participated in nine of thirty-three morning sessions, and gave fourteen of something over 150 papers. Various of the Commissions had smaller "congresses" preceding the principal meetings, the most considerable of these being that sponsored by the International Commission for the History of the Assemblies of Estates, with two American papers.

The Bureau (the Executive Committee) had several meetings; the Assembly (the legislative body) three. The Bureau, which generally has an annual meeting, will meet next summer in Madrid, to discuss above all the formal reactions to the Rome Congress of the various national committees, reports of which are to be filed with the secretary-general in the coming spring. The statement of American reactions will be prepared in a December meeting of the Association's Committee on History and International Affairs. The next meeting of the Assembly will take place in Moscow in 1957, and the next Congress in Stockholm in 1960. Donald C. McKay is the American representative on the Bureau; Boyd C. Shafer and Mr. McKay are the American representatives on the Assembly. A much fuller account of the Congress will appear in the January 1956 number of the American Historical Review.

DONALD C. MCKAY

REPORT OF THE REPRESENTATIVE TO THE NATIONAL HISTORICAL PUBLICATIONS COMMISSION

The National Historical Publications Commission continued its fruitful course under the leadership of Dr. Wayne Grover, its chairman, and Dr. Philip M. Harner, its executive director. The Commission's report to the President as presented in November, 1954, was printed and some 2,000 copies distributed. Work on the guide to depositories of archives and manuscripts continued during the year, though its completion proved more difficult than had been anticipated, chiefly because many of the repositories provided information that made necessary a thorough revision of entries, some of them quite lengthy. Two university presses have indicated interest in publishing the guide. The volume of Writings on American History for 1950 came from the press in May, and compilation for the 1951 volume was completed and copy sent to the Government Printing Office in June. Work was begun on the 1952 volume but, with the present staff of the Commission, it has not been possible to make any progress toward filling the seven-year gap. It is planned to discuss ways and means of meeting this need when the Commission next meets. Encouraging progress was made in collecting materials for the Commission's own projected edition of documents pertaining to the ratification of the Constitution and the debates of the First Federal Congress. The Commission held its second meeting of the fiscal year on May 20, with all eleven members present. Congressman George P. Miller, who was appointed to the Commission to succeed Mrs. Katharine St. George on the expiration of her term, caused a summary of the Commission's program to be printed in the Congressional Record, and, on July 25, introduced a resolution endorsing that program; it is expected that a hearing on this resolution will be held after Congress assembles in January. Senator Wallace F. Bennett introduced a similar resolution in the Senate. Other documentary projects have been undertaken, or are under consideration, for which organizations other than the Commission have chief responsibility, though, since these fall within the general framework of the Commission's program, they have received varying degrees of encouragement and assistance by the staff of the Commission. In June Columbia University announced plans to publish a selected edition of the papers of Alexander Hamilton, with Dr. Harold C. Syrett as executive editor and Dr. John A. Krout as chairman of the editorial board. This enterprise makes the fourth launching of the "Big Five" projects listed as desiderata in the Commission's program (Jefferson, Franklin, Adams, and Madison being the others) and the staff of the Commission has cooperated with its sponsors in various ways, including a search of Treasury Department records in the National Archives. Dr. Hamer continued to hold various discussions with the chief editors of the Jefferson, Adams, Franklin, and Hamilton Papers; to explore possibilities of ensuring the publication of the Madison writings; to speak at various occasions in support of the Commission's program; and to act as an amiable, obliging, and extremely effective "clearing-house" for many related activities. As one example of the last, he found an author for a popular but scholarly essay on John Marshall for the John Marshall Bicentennial Commission--an author who turned out, not surprisingly, to be Edward S. Corwin.

JULIAN P. BOYD

REPORT OF THE SENIOR DELEGATE TO THE SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH COUNCIL

The greatest historical activity this year has been on the part of Gordon Craig as a member of the Committee on Civil-Military Relations Research. This committee has been developing research in the history of American military policy, and, as a result of a grant from the Carnegie Corporation, has been able to make a series of grants-in-aid to those working in this field.

A conference of historians and others concerned with the history of science was held in the New York office of the Council in May and a proposal made that research and training in this field be promoted by a joint committee of the National Research Council and the Social Science Research Council. Efforts are being made to develop such a committee.

Bulletin 64, "The Social Sciences in Historical Study," the publication of which was reported last year, has had a very large circulation and is being widely reviewed and much more widely discussed. The reviews are, on the whole, favorable.

Another volume has been published in the series resulting from grants made by the Council's former committee in this field: Constructive Liberalism by Milton S. Heath (Cambridge: Harvard University Press, December, 1954, 451 pp., $7.50).

The undersigned attended the Tenth International Congress of the Historical Sciences at Rome, heard a paper prepared by Thomas C. Cochran, Chairman of the Council's second committee on historiography, in which he developed some of the ideas which were put forth in Bulletin 64. The nature of the discussion of this paper indicated that the ideas of Europeans regarding social sciences are quite different from those held by many in this country.

ROY F. NICHOLS

PACIFIC COAST BRANCH
OF THE AMERICAN
HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION

PROCEEDINGS OF THE FORTY-EIGHTH ANNUAL MEETING

The forty-eighth meeting of the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association was held at the University of California, Berkeley, December 28-30, 1955. More than 263 people attended, the largest registration for any meeting in the Bay Region. The program was arranged by Theodore E. Treutlein and a committee consisting of James G. Allen, Robert N. Burr, Donald Cutter, Wilbur R. Jacobs, Jackson T. Main, Raymond Muse, Edmond J. Smyth, Wayne Vucinich, Gerald T. White, and John A. Schutz. Local arrangements were in the charge of Walton E. Bean, the Chairman, and Robert E. Burke and Armin Rappaport.

Most of the seventeen sessions were devoted to the problems of discovering the frontiers of research in the various fields of history. There were panels on Latin America, Islam, Russia, and the United States. Two sessions presented the particular difficulties of interdisciplinary research; one was held with the American Studies Association in which Edgar E. Robinson presided over a discussion of research in the culture of western America. The other analyzed the problems of developing a Christian understanding of history. At the Thursday luncheon, when James F. King presided, Bruce Catton spoke on the revival of interest in popular history and the success of the American Heritage. At the annual dinner John D. Hicks courageously answered the question posed in his presidential address: "What Is Right with the History Profession?"

Three special sessions covered problems of research materials in the archives, the laboratory, and classroom. Cecilia R. Irvine chaired a panel that pondered the techniques of teaching history in this age of nonintellectualism and general education.

The annual business meeting, with President John D. Hicks in the chair, convened at 11:30 A. M. Friday. The reports of the secretary-treasurer of the Branch and of the managing editor of the Pacific Historical Review were presented. On behalf of the board of editors, Earl Pomeroy announced the re-election of John W. Caughey as managing editor for 1956 and of August Frugé as business manager.

The president announced the 1955 awards of the Branch as follows: in American history to Grace Hellman Stimson for her Rise of the Labor Movement in Los Angeles (University of California Press, 1955); in Pacific history to Marius E. Jansen for his The Japanese and Sun Yat-Sen (Harvard University Press), The Louis Knott Koontz Memorial Award for 1955 was given jointly to Ernest R. May for his article, "The United States, the Soviet Union, and the Far Eastern War, 1941-1945" and to William Appleman Williams for his "The Frontier Thesis and American Foreign Policy."

The Committee on Resolutions (George H. Knoles, chairman, G. D. Lillibridge, and William R. Steckel) offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted.

That the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association express its deep sense of loss at the death of Professor Osgood Hardy of Occidental College, long a faithful and hard-working member of our Branch and a one-time president.

That the Branch express its regret over the death of Professor Rufus Kay Wyllis of Arizona State College, Tempe, also a long-time member of our association.

That the Branch thank Professor Theodore E. Treutlein of San Francisco State College, and the members of his program committee for the excellence of their work in preparing the extensive program for these sessions.

That our sincere appreciation be extended to the University of California, Berkeley, its department of history, and to the committee on arrangements, ably headed by Professor Walton E. Bean, for the gracious welcome and warm hospitality accorded to the membership on the occasion of its 48th annual meeting.

That we further express our thanks to Professor and Mrs. John D. Hicks for opening their home (and cellar) for the glorification of the outer and inner man and for the promotion of good fellowship among the attendants at the annual meeting.

James F. King paid tribute to Jacob N. Bowman, lately retired as California State Archivist, who was the third secretary of the Branch. He was named acting secretary in 1908, elected in November, and re-elected in 1909.

The report of the Committee on Nominations (George E. Mowry, chairman, Leonard Adolf, Glenn S. Dumke, T. A. Larson, Bickford O'Brien, Edward A. White, and Gordon Wright) was presented, and the officers and committeemen proposed were unanimously elected: Father Peter M. Dunne, S. J., president; Max Savelle, vice-president; John A. Schutz, secretary-treasurer; and, for three year terms to the council: Francis Herrick, Benjamin Sacks, and Wendell H. Stephenson.

President Hicks announced that the recent poll concerning the change of dates for the annual convention was inconclusive and that the Council had decided to keep the present arrangements. The annual convention for 1956 was set for December 27, 28, and 29, and the invitation of the University of Oregon was accepted. Father Dunne announced that Donald E. Emerson of the University of Washington had been appointed program chairman for 1956.

JOHN A. SCHUTZ, Secretary-Treasurer

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER OF THE PACIFIC COAST BRANCH, 1955

In the Secretary's annual accounting there is a traditional ritual. It is to point to the record of 700 members and remark that we have held our membership during the year, and that the interest and activity of historians in the western states have multiplied each year since the end of the war.

For those who are interested in the statistics of membership, there are these figures. Distribution of members over the western states shows California, Washington, and Oregon to be far in the lead over the other states. California had the lion's share of 448; Washington, 64; and Oregon, 41.

The meeting of the Branch last Christmas at the University of Southern California had the largest number of registered members in history. There were 285. This figure does not include the crowds of visitors to the general sessions and a half hundred graduate students.

In April and May the members were pleased to have the Executive Secretary of the American Historical Association visit members at many educational establishments on the Pacific Coast.

The preliminary estimates of expenditures for the Branch reveal that it will end its year with a bank balance of $367.59. This flourishing surplus is partly due to the unexpected windfall of $107.78 from Boyd Shafer. Costs were also kept to a minimum by the donations of mailing expenses for the program correspondence by San Francisco State College and the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Professor Theodore E. Treutlein of San Francisco State College is program chairman for the meeting of the Branch at the University of California, Berkeley, December 28, 29, and 30. His committee of nine has planned thirteen special sessions and four general sessions.

The Branch is taking an informal vote of its members, to determine whether another meeting time for the annual convention is possible. This will give more members a chance to attend both conventions.

ACT OF INCORPORATION

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That Andrew D. White, of Ithaca, in the State of New York; George Bancroft, of Washington, in the District of Columbia; Justin Winsor, of Cambridge, in the State of Massachusetts; William F. Poole, of Chicago, in the State of Illinois; Herbert B. Adams of Baltimore, in the State of Maryland; Clarence W. Bowen, of Brooklyn, in the State of New York, their associates and successors, are hereby created, in the District of Columbia, a body corporate and politic by the name of the American Historical Association, for the promotion of historical studies, the collection and preservation of historical manuscripts, and for kindred purposes in the interest of American history, and of history in America. Said Association is authorized to hold real and personal estate in the District of Columbia so far as may be necessary to its lawful ends to an amount not exceeding $500,000, to adopt a constitution, and make bylaws not inconsistent with law. Said Association shall have its principal office at Washington, in the District of Columbia, and may hold its annual meetings in such places as the said incorporators shall determine. Said Association shall report annually to the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, concerning its proceedings and the condition of historical study in America. Said Secretary shall communicate to Congress the whole of such report, or such portions thereof as he shall see fit. The Regents of the Smithsonian Institution are authorized to permit said Association to deposit its collections, manuscripts, books, pamphlets, and other material for history in the Smithsonian Institution or in the National Museum, at their discretion, upon such conditions and under such rules as they shall prescribe.

[Approved, January 4, 1889]

ORGANIZATION AND ACTIVITIES

THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION

THE ASSOCIATION

The American Historical Association, incorporated by Act of Congress in 1889, is defined by its charter to be: A body corporate and politic . . . for the promotion of historical studies, the collection and preservation of historical manuscripts, and for kindred purposes in the interests of American history and of history in America.

It is a society not only for scholars, though it has for the last half century included in its membership the outstanding historical scholars in America, not only for educators, though it has included the great American teachers of history, but also for every man and woman who is interested in the study of history in America. Its most generous benefactors have been nonprofessionals who love history for its own sake and who wish to spread that love of history to a wider and wider circle.

LEADERSHIP

Among those who have labored as members and later served it also as President, the American Historical Association can list such distinguished names as George Bancroft, Justin Winsor, Henry Adams, James Ford Rhodes, Alfred Thayer Mahan, Henry C. Lea, John Bach McMaster, Frederick Jackson Turner, Theodore Roosevelt, Edward Channing, Woodrow Wilson, J. Franklin Jameson, Charles M. Andrews, James H. Breasted, James Harvey Robinson, Michael Rostovtzeff, Carl L. Becker, and Charles A. Beard.

ANNUAL MEETING

It meets in the Christmas week at a different place each year to accommodate in turn members living in different parts of the country. The attendance at these meetings has been increasing steadily. In recent years registration has varied from 1,500 to 2,000. The formal programs of these meetings include important contributions to every field of historical scholarship, many of which are subsequently printed.

PUBLICATIONS

The publications of the Association are many and their scope is wide.

The Annual Report, usually in two or more volumes, is printed for the Association by the United States Government. It contains the Proceedings of the Association, as well as bibliographies and guides to materials. The American Historical Review, published quarterly and distributed free to all members of the Association, is the recognized organ of the historical profession in America. It prints authoritative articles and critical reviews of new books in all fields of history. The Association also cooperates with the National Council for the Social Studies in the publication of Social Education, one of the most important journals in America dealing with the problems of history teaching in the schools.

Besides these periodical publications, the Association controls a revolving fund out of which it publishes from time to time historical monographs selected from the whole field of history. It has as well three separate endowment funds, the income from which is devoted to the publication of historical studies. The Albert J. Beveridge Fund of $100,000 was established as a memorial to the late Senator Beveridge by his wife, Catherine Beveridge, and a large group of his friends in Indiana. The income from this fund is applied to the publication of historical monographs. The Littleton-Griswold Fund was established by Alice Griswold in memory of her father, William E. Littleton, and of her husband, Frank T. Griswold. The income from this fund, the principal of which amounts to $35,000, is applied to the publication of material relative to the legal history of the United States in the colonial period. The Matteson Fund, now amounting to approximately $94,000, was willed to the Association by the late David M. Matteson. The income from this fund may be used only for bibliographies and indexes.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The Association from time to time, through special committees, interests itself actively in promoting the sound teaching of history in the schools. It has done much and is doing more to collect and preserve historical manuscripts in public and private repositories.

The Association maintains close relations with state and local historical societies and with the federal government. It has also organized a Pacific Coast Branch for members living in the Far West.

SOURCES OF SUPPORT

The American Historical Association is in a position to do significant and useful work, not only in the advancement of learning but also in the dissemination of knowledge. It commands the resources of the learned historians, but it also recognizes the necessity of bringing the fruits of learning to the average American. It needs to be supported. Its capital funds, amounting to about $735,000 are carefully managed by a Board of Trustees composed of men prominent in the world of finance. But much of the income is earmarked for special publications. For its broader educational purposes it has to depend chiefly upon its membership dues. It has about 6,600 members.

MEMBERSHIP

The American Historical Association welcomes to its membership anyone who subscribes to its purposes. There is no initiation fee. The annual membership, including subscription to the American Historical Review, is $7.50, and student membership is $4.00. The life membership is $150. Inquiries about any phase of its activities may be addressed to the Executive Secretary of the Association, 400 A Street, S. E., Washington 3, D. C.

PRIZES

The Association offers the following prizes:

The Herbert Baxter Adams Prize of $200 is awarded biennially in the even-numbered years for a monograph, in manuscript or in print, in the field of European history.

The George Louis Beer Prize of about $200 (being the annual income from an endowment of $6,000) is awarded annually for the best work on any phase of European international history since 1895. Competition is limited to citizens of the United States and to works in the English language. A work may be submitted either in manuscript or in print.

The John H. Dunning Prize of about $140 is awarded biennially in the even-numbered years for a monograph, either in print or in manuscript, on any subject relating to American history. Eligibility of printed works submitted in competition for this prize shall be limited to books printed within 2 years and 5 months prior to June 1 of the year in which the award is made. Entries are restricted to "first books" or unpublished manuscripts and preference given to those of younger scholars.

The Watumull Prize of $500 is awarded biennially (next award 1958) for the best book originally published in the United States on any phase of the history of India.

The Robert Livingston Schuyler Prize of $100 is awarded every 5 years, beginning with 1951, to the author of the best work of scholarship published during the preceding 5-year period in the field of modern British and British Imperial and Commonwealth history since the beginning of the reign of Elizabeth exclusive of American colonial history before 1783. Textbooks and elementary narratives are not eligible. The author must be an American citizen, and the books must have been originally published in the United States. The prize is made possible by the Taraknath Das Foundation (next award 1961).

All works submitted in competition for the above prizes must be in the hands of the proper committee by June 1 of the year in which the award is made. The date of publication of printed monographs submitted in competition must fall within a period of 2-1/2 years prior to June 1 of the year in which the prize is awarded.

The Albert J. Beveridge Award, established at the annual meeting in 1945, is awarded annually, beginning in 1946, for the best complete original manuscript on American history. By American history is meant the history of the United States, Latin America, and Canada. The fellowship has a cash value of $1,000, plus a royalty of 5 per cent after cost of publication has been met. The winning manuscript in each annual competition is published without cost to the author in the series of Beveridge Fund publications; other manuscripts also may be so published at the discretion of the committee on the Albert J. Beveridge Award, which is charged with the administration of the fellowship. The deadline for the submission of applications and manuscripts is May 1.

The Moses Coit Tyler Prize of $1,500 plus publication of the manuscript is offered biennially beginning in 1957 for the best unpublished work in American intellectual history. The Cornell University Press gives the funds for the prize and publishes the manuscript. By American intellectual history is meant the history of agencies of intellectual life, movements of thought, and the biographies of intellectual leaders, in the geographical area comprising the United States, from 1607 to the present.

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE I

SECTION 1. The name of this society shall be the American Historical Association.

ARTICLE II

SECTION 1. Its object shall be the promotion of historical studies.

ARTICLE III

SECTION 1. Any person approved by the Council may become an active member of the Association. Active membership shall date from the receipt by the Treasurer of the first payment of dues, which shall be $7.50 a year or a single payment of $150 for life. Life membership is given members who have belonged to the Association for fifty years. Any graduate or undergraduate student registered in a college or university may become a junior member of the Association upon payment of $4 and after the first year may continue as such, as long as he is registered as a student, by paying the annual dues of $4. Annual dues shall be payable at the beginning of the year to which they apply and any member whose dues are in arrears for 1 year may, 1 month after the mailing of a notice of such delinquency to his last known address, be dropped from the rolls by vote of the Council or the Executive Committee. Members who have been so dropped may be reinstated at any time by the payment of 1 year's dues in advance. Only active members shall have the right to vote or to hold office in the Association. Persons not resident in the United States may be elected by the Council as honorary or corresponding members, and such members shall be exempt from payment of dues.

ARTICLE IV

SECTION 1. The officers shall be a President, a Vice President, a Treasurer, an Executive Secretary, a Managing Editor of The American Historical Review, and, at the discretion of the Council, an Editor and an Assistant Secretary-Treasurer.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of the Executive Secretary, under the direction of the Council, to promote historical scholarship in America through the agencies of the Association. He shall exercise general oversight over the affairs of the Association, supervise the work of its committees, formulate policies for presentation to the Council, execute its policies and perform such other duties as the Council may from time to time direct.

SEC. 3. The other officers of the Association shall have such duties and perform such functions as are customarily attached to their respective offices or as may from time to time be prescribed by the Council.

SEC. 4. The President, Vice President, and Treasurer shall be elected in the following manner. The Nominating Committee at such convenient time prior to the 1st of September as it may determine shall invite each member of the Association to indicate his or her nominee for each of these offices. With these suggestions in mind, it shall draw up a ballot of nominations which it shall mail to each member of the Association on or before the 1st of December, and which it shall distribute as the official ballot at the Annual Business Meeting. It shall present to this meeting orally any other nominations for these offices petitioned for to the Chairman of the Committee at least one day before the Business Meeting and supported by the names of 20 voting members of the Association. The election shall be made from these nominations at the Business Meeting.

SEC. 5. The Executive Secretary, the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, the Managing Editor of The American Historical Review, and the Editor shall be appointed by the Council for specified terms of office not to exceed 3 years, and shall be eligible for reappointment. They shall receive such compensation as the Council may determine.

SEC. 6. If the office of President shall, through any cause, become vacant, the Vice President shall thereupon become President.

ARTICLE V

SECTION 1. There shall be a Council, constituted as follows:

(a) The President, the Vice President, the Executive Secretary, the Treasurer, and the Managing Editor of The American Historical Review.

(b) Elected members, eight in number, chosen by ballot in the manner provided in Article VI, Section 2. These members shall be elected for a term of 4 years; two to be elected each year, except in the case of elections to complete unexpired terms.

(c) The former Presidents, but a former President shall be entitled to vote for the 3 years succeeding the expiration of his term as President, and no longer.

SEC. 2. The Council shall conduct the business, manage the property, and care for the general interests of the Association. In the exercise of its proper functions, the Council may appoint such committees, commissions, and boards as it may deem necessary. The Council shall make a full report of its activities to the Annual Meeting of the Association. The Association may by vote at any Annual Meeting instruct the Council to discontinue or enter upon any activity, and may take such other action directing the affairs of the Association as it may deem necessary and proper.

SEC. 3. For the transaction of necessary business when the Council is not in session, the Council shall elect annually from its membership an Executive Committee of not more than six members which shall include the Executive Secretary and the Treasurer. Subject always to the general direction of the Council, the Executive Committee shall be responsible for the management of Association interests and the carrying out of Association policies.

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE VI

SECTION 1. There shall be a Nominating Committee to consist of five members, each of whom shall serve a term of 2 years. In the odd-numbered years, two new members shall be elected; in the even-numbered years, three; this alternation shall continue except in the case of elections to complete unexpired terms. If vacancies on the Nominating Committee occur between the time of the Annual Elections, the Nominating Committee shall fill them by direct ad interim appointments.

SEC. 2. Elective members of the Council and members of the Nominating Committee shall be chosen as follows: The Nominating Committee shall present for each vacant membership on the Council and on the Nominating Committee 2 or more names, including the names of any person who may be nominated by a petition carrying the signatures of 20 or more voting members of the Association. Nominations by petition must be in the hands of the Chairman of the Nominating Committee by November 1st. The Nominating Committee shall present these nominations to the members of the Association in the ballot distributed by mail as described above. The members of the Association shall take their choice from among these nominations and return their ballots for counting not later than the 20th of December at 6 p.m. No vote received after that time shall be valid. The votes shall be counted and checked in such manner as the Nominating Committee shall prescribe and shall then be sealed in a box and deposited in the Washington office of the Association where they shall be kept for at least a year. The results of the election shall be announced at the Annual Business Meeting. In case of a tie, choice shall be made at the Annual Business Meeting from among the candidates receiving the highest equal vote.

ARTICLE VII

SECTION 1. There shall be a Board of Trustees, five in number, consisting of a chairman and four other members, nominated by the Council and elected at the Annual Meeting of the Association. Election shall be for a term of 5 years except in the case of an election to complete an unexpired term. The Board of Trustees, acting by a majority thereof, shall have the power to invest and reinvest the permanent funds of the Association with authority to employ such agents, investment counsel, and banks or trust companies as it may deem wise in carrying out its duties, and with further authority to delegate and transfer to any bank or trust company all its power to invest or reinvest; neither the Board of Trustees nor any bank or trust company to whom it may so transfer its power shall be controlled in its discretion by any statute or other law applicable to fiduciaries and the liability of the individual members of the board and of any such bank or trust company shall be limited to good faith and lack of actual fraud or willful misconduct in the discharge of the duties resting upon them.

ARTICLE VIII

SECTION 1. Amendments to this Constitution may be proposed by a majority vote of any regular business session of the Association or by a majority vote of the Council and may be adopted by a majority vote of the next regular business session, provided always that the proposed amendment and an explanation thereof shall have been circulated to the membership of the Association not less than 20 days preceding the date of the business session at which the final vote is to be taken. It shall be the duty of the Executive Secretary to arrange for the distribution of all such proposed amendments among the members of the Association.

PROCEEDINGS
AMERICAN HISTORICAL
for 1956

MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF THE COUNCIL OF THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION, SHERATON- JEFFERSON HOTEL, ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI

DECEMBER 27, 1956, 10:00 A.M.

Present: Dexter Perkins, President; William L. Langer, Vice-President; Solon J. Buck, Treasurer; Boyd C. Shafer, Executive Secretary; Carl Bridenbaugh, Walter L. Dorn, Herbert Heaton, Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, Robert Palmer, Richard C. Shryock, Walter Prescott Webb, C. Vann Woodward, Councilors; Merle Curti, Louis Gottschalk, former Presidents.

President Perkins called the meeting to order.

The minutes of the 1955 Council meeting were approved as published in the April, 1956, issue of the Review (pp. 804-11).

The Executive Secretary's report was not read as it had previously been sent to members of the Council. The Executive Secretary commented briefly upon various Association matters. He indicated that membership of the Association had increased to 6,577 (last year, 6,310). He pointed out the increase in work being done by the Association headquarters staff and asked that the Council consider additional staff. The Council authorized the Executive Committee of the Council to act on the recommendations of the Executive Secretary in this respect and established a maximum financial limitation.

Dr. Solon J. Buck, Treasurer, read sections of the report of his office for 1955-56. He singled out certain items for the Council's particular attention and indicated that the Association's assets had again increased. He stated that expenditures during the year for housing the Association were well within the savings of the last five years. He explained certain changes which had been made in the nature of the Association's report and suggested that the Council might care to appoint an Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, a position provided for in the Constitution. Dr. Buck concluded with the announcement that he would no longer be able to serve as Treasurer of the Association after 1957, and he asked that the Council take appropriate steps.

For the Finance Committee, Dr. Buck summarized the budget proposals for 1956-57 and 1957-58. The Council unanimously approved small expenditures for the past fiscal year which exceeded the budget allocation for 1955-56, struck from the budget a proposed investment for 1956-57, and increased the subventions for the Local Arrangements Committees of 1956-57 and 1957-58. The approved budgets, in addition, carried certain salary adjustments for the office staff.

Professor Max Saville of the University of Washington, Vice-President of the Pacific Coast Branch of the Association and 1956 representative of the Branch to the national Association, reported on the activities of the Branch for the past year (see page 51).

After considerable discussion of the costs involved in attendance at Council and committee meetings, the Council asked that the Finance Committee study the question of travel charges and allowances for members of the Council attending the annual meeting.

The Executive Secretary reported for the Committee on Committees, and the Council approved new members for the various association committees.

The Council turned its attention to questions arising out of the work of the Association's committees. The Executive Secretary explained that the funds of the Carnegie Revolving Fund Committee were almost exhausted. The Council decided to continue the present committee and establish an Association revolving fund with the remaining monies and any further funds which might be obtained for this purpose. The Fund has published thirty-five volumes during the last twenty-eight years from the original grant of $25,000.

After extended discussion of the terms of the various prizes awarded by the Association, the Council asked that a committee of three be appointed to study all questions concerning these prizes, including the terms of the original grants and changes made in these terms, and that this committee report its recommendations to the Council.

The Council accepted the proposal of the Cornell University Press for a new award, to be called the Moses Coit Tyler Prize, and decided upon the appointment of a committee of five for it. This prize of $1,500 plus publication will be awarded for the best work in manuscript in the field of American intellectual history (including biography). It will be offered in 1957, but along with all other prizes will be considered by the new committee before a final decision is reached for the period beyond 1957.

The Council considered at length and in detail the administrative arrangements for the American Committee for the Study of War Documents and the Council's tentative proposals for funds to continue its work. At the conclusion of the discussion, the following motion was passed without dissent:

The Council of the American Historical Association applauds the accomplishments of the American Committee for the Study of War Documents in the photographic reproduction of German war documents. The Council looks with favor upon continuation of this photographic reproduction of German war documents. However, it will not sponsor another request for funds unless the committee is reorganized on the same lines as other Association committees and unless all funds are controlled directly by the Association.

A request of the Committee on South Asian History for a grant to bring historians of South Asia to the United States was given lengthy analysis. The Council looked with favor upon the purpose of the proposal, but it asked that the request be again referred to the Committee for recommendation on three questions: (1) whether three historians should be brought each year or whether the number might vary each year; (2) whether the terms of the visiting professors should be limited to one year; and (3) whether the Committee believed after further consideration that the American Historical Association was the best sponsoring agency.

The Council accepted the recommendation of the International Historical Activities Committee that two United States delegates be sent to the meeting of the Assembly of the International Committee of Historical Sciences in 1957, and that an approach be made to a foundation for funds to bring the Bureau of the ICHS to the United States in 1958.

For the Committee on the Historian and the Federal Government, Edward Younger, the chairman, made an extended report. The Council unanimously recommended that the following report and resolutions of this committee be put before the Business Meeting:

Report on State Department Publications.

At the 1955 Annual Meeting of the American Historical Association, the Council proposed and the Business Meeting passed a resolution, charging the Committee on the Historian and the Federal Government, enlarged by three historians of American foreign policy, to study the problems connected with State Department publications and to report back to the Council and Business Meeting in December, 1956.

In compliance with this resolution, your Committee has been enlarged to include Thomas A. Bailey, Samuel Flagg Bemis, and Richard Leopold, and your Committee, after extended consultation and study of the problems involved, submits the following report:

1. The volumes of Foreign Relations published since inception of the series in 1861 have been found by the historical profession a highly useful instrument of research, notably improving in recent decades in scope, content, and scholarly standards.

2. The Committee hopes that this series will be continued on an expanding scale commensurate with the expansion of our foreign relations and that added appropriations for this vital work will be made by Congress.

3. We urge that the Foreign Relations volumes, including the Supplements, be published in chronological sequence. Only in this way can the documents be judged in historical context, free of contemporary partisanship.

4. We welcome the State Department's decision to appoint an advisory board of scholars in the field for its Historical Division and to make this board directly advisory to the Secretary of State.

5. Valuable as the State Department's publications have been, the Committee believes that the needs of historical scholarship can be satisfied only as long as all scholars of established ability and integrity are given access to unpublished government documents, subject to the legitimate requirements of national security.

Resolution on Access to Public Records.

WHEREAS, the American Historical Association believes that the historical profession can provide an objective analysis of past experience only by means of a full and free examination of surviving records, therefore be it

Resolved, by the American Historical Association that in a free society all qualified persons engaged in responsible historical research should have access to all public records, subject only to reasonable regulations to safeguard the documents, permit the operational use of current records by governmental agencies without undue inconvenience, ensure the national safety, and protect the private character of living persons.

Resolution on Hunter-Miller Compilation.

WHEREAS, an authoritative edition of the treaties and other international acts of the United States is indispensable to the practice of international relations and the effective pursuit of historical study, therefore be it

Resolved, that the American Historical Association deplores the discontinuation of the Hunter-Miller compilation of the treaties and other international acts of the United States and urgently requests that the project be actively resumed and carried to completion as soon as possible.

On request of the State Department, the Council decided to select a panel of six historians from which the State Department will choose three for its advisory board. The panel is to be chosen by the Committee on the Historian and the Federal Government.

The Council confirmed the appointment of Mildred Campbell of Vassar as the new member of the Board of Editors to replace David Owen of Harvard, whose term expired this year.

The renomination of Percy Ebbott for membership on the Board of Trustees was confirmed.

The following plans for the Annual Meetings of the next three years were approved: December 28-30, 1957, The Statler, New York City; December 28-30, 1958, The Mayflower, Washington, D. C.; December 28-30, 1959, The Conrad-Hilton, Chicago. For 1960, the Council recommended reconsideration of place and asked simply that the meeting be held in some eastern city if satisfactory arrangements could be made. For 1957, the Council approved Oscar J. Falnes of New York University as Program Chairman and Erling M. Hunt of Columbia University as Local Arrangements Chairman.

The Executive Secretary reported on the arrangements for the new headquarters building in Washington, D. C. Professor Shryock, as Chairman of the Executive Committee and member of the Finance Committee, spoke of his visit to the new building, remarking that its acquisition, remodeling, and furnishing constituted a major accomplishment and the fulfillment of an urgent need.

The Executive Secretary spoke of the need for further action by Congress to raise the Association's charter limitation on real and personal estate. A second request for Congressional action will be made in January.

The Council authorized the Executive Secretary to present an amendment to the Constitution to eliminate mention of a specific sum for student dues.

After a discussion of the services rendered by the Job Register, the Council reaffirmed its decision of last year to increase the initial registration fee of $2.00 to $3.00.

The Executive Secretary brought to the attention of the Council the new volume entitled Index to the Writings on American History, 1902-1940 and announced the decision to sell copies to individual members of the Association for $5.00 and to nonmembers and institutions for $10.00--prices much below the cost of the volume.

A proposal of Taraknath Das for the Taraknath Das Fund to offer a new Tyler Dennett prize was referred by the Council to the new committee on prizes.

The Council favored a proposal of the Executive Secretary for a study of the historical profession as indicated in his annual report. It approved the appointment of a committee of three to formulate a definite plan and define objectives.

A proposal to change the time of the Business Meeting to a period after lunch of the second day of the Annual Meeting met with favor on the part of the Council, but it referred the proposal to the Association Committee on the Program.

The Council appointed the following persons as members of the Executive Committee for 1957: C. Vann Woodward, chairman, Helen Taft Manning, William L. Langer, Robert R. Palmer, Solon J. Buck, Boyd C. Shafer. The Finance Committee will consist of Solon J. Buck, C. Vann Woodward, and Boyd C. Shafer. The Council appointed Robert R. Palmer and William Prescott Webb as the Committee on Resolutions.

A proposal by members of the Association for advice from the Association on centennial celebrations was referred to the Committee on the Historian and the Federal Government.

A proposal of Waldo Leland for a bibliography of the works of Franklin Jameson and for the publication of a collection of his writings brought varying views. The Council decided that up to $200 from the Matteson Fund might be expended for a descriptive bibliography but that at this time it could not make any commitment for a volume of selected writings.

The Council referred to the Business Meeting without prejudice a proposal for a resolution to support the establishment of the American Museum of Immigration.

The meeting was adjourned at 10:15 p.m.

BOYD C. SHAFER, Executive Secretary.

MINUTES OF THE BUSINESS MEETING OF THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION, SHERATON-JEFFERSON HOTEL, ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI

DECEMBER 29, 1956, 4:30 P.M.

President Dexter Perkins called the meeting to order with about 250 members present. The minutes of the last meeting (AHR, April, 1956, pp. 811-13) were approved.

Dr. Boyd C. Shafer, Executive Secretary of the Association and Managing Editor of the Review, presented his annual report. The Treasurer, Dr. Solon J. Buck, outlined the financial condition of the Association from the mimeographed report distributed to members attending the meeting. Dr. Buck noted that the ordinary financial assets of the Association amounted to approximately $697,000; that the Association headquarters at the end of the fiscal year was valued at about $36,900; and that foundation grants totaling approximately $130,000 were made available during the year. He indicated that the receipts of unrestricted funds exceeded ordinary disbursements by about $13,900 during the fiscal year.

Upon Council renomination, Percy Ebbott of New York City was unanimously elected to the Board of Trustees for a term of five years.

Dr. William C. Binkley, chairman of the Nominating Committee for 1956, presented the nominations for 1957: for President, Professor William L. Langer of Harvard University; for Vice-President, Professor Walter Prescott Webb of the University of Texas; for Treasurer, Dr. Solon J. Buck of Washington, D. C. The Executive Secretary, on motion, was instructed to cast one ballot for these nominees and they were declared elected. Dr. Binkley announced that, as a result of the mail ballot for members of the Council and Nominating Committee, Professor Crane Brinton of Harvard University and Dr. Stanley Pargellis of the Newberry Library were elected to the Council for the regular four-year terms; that Professor James B. Hedges of Brown University was elected to the Council for an unexpired term of three years; and that Professors Thomas B. Abernethy of the University of Virginia, Kenneth M. Setton of Pennsylvania, and Caroline Robbins of Bryn Mawr were elected to the Nominating Committee. Dr. Binkley stated that Professor Ray A. Billington of Northwestern University would be chairman of the Nominating Committee in 1957. The Nominating Committee's report was accepted.

The Executive Secretary reported upon the actions taken at the Council Meeting on December 27 (for an account of Council actions see the Minutes above pages 3-6). In his remarks, the Executive Secretary pointed particularly to the establishment of a Committee on Prizes which will examine the terms of all awards and make recommendations concerning them to the Council; to the establishment of the Moses Coit Tyler Prize in American intellectual history and biography for 1957; and to the plans for a study of the historical profession.

For the Committee on the Historian and the Federal Government, Professor Edward Younger of the University of Virginia reported upon the action of this committee concerning State Department publications (for his report and resolutions, see pages 4-5). Younger's report was accepted and the Association approved the resolutions.

An amendment to the Constitution, authorized by the Council, to place authority in the Council to fix the amount of student dues was defeated on a voice vote after considerable discussion.

For the Pacific Coast Branch, Professor Max H. Saville of the University of Washington gave the annual report which indicated an increase in membership, a comprehensive program at the 1956 annual meeting of the Branch, and the good financial condition of the Branch (see page 51).

For the Committee on Resolutions, Professor Robert Palmer of Princeton read the following resolution:

Resolved: That the American Historical Association extend its thanks and appreciation to Professor Charles F. Mullett and his fellow members of the Program Committee for the preparation of a varied and interesting program, to Professor Ralph P. Bieber and his associates on the Committee on Local Arrangements, and to all their assistants and volunteer workers, for their many labors in bringing about a pleasant and memorable meeting in the city of St. Louis.

From the floor, Professor Edward W. Fox of Cornell University presented a motion for a mail ballot to allow members of the Association to state their preference for September or December as a time for the Annual Meeting. The motion was defeated by a narrow margin.

Professor John Hope Franklin of Brooklyn College presented a resolution endorsing a national appeal for funds to establish the American Museum of Immigration. He asked that the American Historical Association endorse the project and commend it to teachers of history. This resolution was passed.

In accordance with the custom of over thirty years, Professor Frank Maloy Anderson rose to present a motion for adjournment. He prefaced his motion with remarks concerning the previous meeting of the Association in St. Louis in 1921. The meeting was adjourned at 5:55 p.m.

BOYD C. SHAFER, Executive Secretary.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE SECRETARY AND MANAGING EDITOR FOR 1956

The profession of history is thriving, the professors are vigorous. Historians are producing articles and books at an amazing rate. They are about to teach more students than ever before. Conscious of the limitations of their research tools, they wish to fashion new ones; knowing of gaps in their knowledge, they desire to fill them; aware of weaknesses in their teaching, they wish to remedy them.

Whether all this activity is worthwhile, only the future historians of history and historians in the United States will be able to judge. If future historians are anything like the present breed, skeptical and tough-minded, they will probably find much to criticize and little to praise. But we cannot foresee the future, and we must, fortunately or unfortunately, proceed without its judgment. Your Executive Secretary and Editor can here report on activities and ideas current in the Association and in the profession at large. He is not a completely objective witness. Very likely he is too immersed in the study of history, too fond of the study and of historians.

For the Association, the year since my last report to you has been a year of transition and change. Whether or not the change has been for the better, we cannot yet know; the outlook is not unpropitious. We are now, after much effort, in our new headquarters at 400 A Street, S. E., Washington 3, D. C., a remodeled house that gives us room to move about, space we had not previously had in the study rooms so generously supplied us by the Library of Congress these last fifteen years. A new book-keeper, Miss Rita Shea, has taken the place of Miss Patty Washington who retired after forty-eight years loyally devoted to Association business. Miss Nancy Hall Kane has assumed the position of assistant editor of the Review, replacing competent Catharine Seybold who had been with us for twelve years. My secretary, who not only types my letters to you but takes care of the Job Register, is John Paul Yoder, a man of wide experience. Miss Patricia Fox helps Nancy Kane get out the Review and sends those requests for book reviews which so many of you receive. We are proud of our new staff. It is happy, intelligent, and hardworking.

These are changes in location, in personnel; there are other changes. Last year we reported that the Ford Foundation had granted $148,000 for our Service Center for Teachers. That Center, directed by George B. Carson, Jr., is now in operation, preparing pamphlets on the content of high school history courses and annotated lists of books for history teachers, as well as providing consultant services when they are requested. During the year we obtained two other grants from the Ford Foundation, one of $69,000 for the photographic reproduction of German war documents now in England and the United States, and one of $96,000 for the long-anticipated bibliographies covering British history. The American Committee for the Study of War Documents, headed by Reginald Phelps, and the Joint Anglo-American Committee on British Bibliographies, on which Stanley Pargellis is our representative, have both plunged into their tasks. For all three of these projects, the Service Center, the War Documents, the British Bibliographies, I can report substantial work accomplished. The War Documents Committee has screened and photographed thousands of pages of German materials. The revisions of two volumes of the British Bibliographies, that for the medieval period (Gross) and that for the Tudor period (Read), are under way. Edgar Graves is doing the first and Conyers Read the second, his own volume.

From the Rockefeller Foundation, we just recently received a grant of up to $75,000 to realize the long-hoped-for new edition of the Guide to Historical Literature. George Howe and his committee on the Guide have laid their plans, evolved their outline, and are about to begin the actual editing. For the committees that have worked out and developed these special projects, historians everywhere wish success. Their invaluable efforts will, in the future, deepen the study of history as well as strengthen the profession.

One further accomplishment of the same nature should be mentioned. For twenty-five years, American historians have been promised an index to the Writings on American History. An Index to the Writings . . . , 1902-1940 is printed and should be ready for distribution by the time these words are spoken, David M. Matteson began this index in 1931; in his will he provided funds for its completion, which was carried out by one of our members, William C. Davis, an expert typist as well as scholar and editor.

Other projects are in the making. We hope that some of them will materialize. We may, for example, try to strengthen South Asian studies in the United States through importation of outstanding scholars in the field. We may soon propose a study of the historical profession with a particular view to our needs in the next ten to twenty years. Of this last, I shall speak later.

These are special projects. What of our customary work, what of those activities which occupy us daily, and I also might say nightly? The Association for seventy-two years has attempted to serve historians, to encourage the study of history. In some ways we succeed, in some ways we fail. Your Executive Secretary and Editor, now a veteran, as he has served his first hitch of three years, is a bit battle-scarred and weary. Much is being done. Much remains to be done. Too often we wish we had the time and stamina to do that which we do better and still have the time and stamina to do more.

Much of the work of the Association, as we all know, is performed by standing committees. When your Executive Secretary assumed his position three years and three months ago, he did not then comprehend the volume of work actually performed by members of these committees, nor did he know that they, almost without exception, receive no compensation other than the satisfaction arising from service to their fellow historians. Again and again this fact ought to be stated: the members of the profession of history are not only loyal to it, they work for their profession. May I summarize the activities of the several committees which carry the burden of what I might call our standing duties. My summary may sound prosaic, but it records the generosity and wide range of accomplishments of our most active members.

The Beveridge Award Committee, with Ralph Hidy as chairman, considered thirteen applications and has awarded the prize of $1,000 plus publication to one volume and honorable mention, which brings publication, to another. Francis Bowman of the Herbert Baxter Adams Prize Committee tells us that the committee received over sixty volumes in European history from which it chose one for its prize of $200. J. B. Brebner, for the Schuyler Prize Committee, reports that it examined forty-five books in British, British Imperial, and Commonwealth history before it made its choice for the $100 award. The George Louis Beer Committee, under the chairmanship of Charles Mullett, received eighteen volumes on European international history; from among these it made its choice for the prize of $200. For the John H. Dunning Prize of about $140, in American history, Francis Simkins writes that over forty books and manuscripts were considered before the committee decided upon a prize volume and one for honorable mention. This year, because no volume suitable for the Watumull Prize in Indian history was submitted, Taraknath Das and his committee have made no recommendation. The Carnegie Revolving Fund Committee (Raymond Stearns, chairman), with its fund virtually exhausted, could not, unfortunately, assist in the publication of a worthy volume.

From the reports of the prize committee chairmen before me and from comments of members of the Association, several suggestions arise. A tremendous burden of work in reading manuscripts and books falls upon the prize committees. We may need to define the terms of the prizes more narrowly and precisely. In these days of inflation, the monetary size of some prizes hardly warrants the work of the award committees. A good many books and manuscripts are submitted which are either not eligible or insufficiently prepared. Authors ought to be warned that their manuscripts must be in final form for publication and that their books must be scholarly. But, in any case, the historians who receive the awards and all of us who pay honor to our worthy colleagues will express our gratitude to the men who made the choices. Through the years, the books to which the Association has given prizes have usually become "standard" works, points of departure in their fields.

One new prize will be offered in 1957. The Cornell University Press will make possible a biennial Association prize of $1,500 (plus publication) for a book in American intellectual history, including biography. Appropriately, the award will be called the Moses Coit Tyler Prize.

Our Association committees cover many phases of the study of history. The Committee on the Historian and the Federal Government, this year enlarged by three additional historians of American diplomacy, will report separately to the Council and to the Business Meeting upon the State Department publications in the field of history. The general report of the chairman, Edward Younger, tells us that Volume I of our Annual Report, the 1955 Proceedings volume, is in press (the proof is on the desk of the Executive Secretary at this moment), that the Writings on American History for 1951 has been published, that the Writings volume for 1952 is in press, and that the volume for 1953 is in preparation. One other major accomplishment of this committee should be noted. In 1955, the committee, along with senior historians in governmental service and your Executive Secretary, asked the Federal Civil Service Commission, by letter and telephone, to reopen the Washington register for historians and again offer examinations. This has been done, we can happily announce.

Waldo Leland, speaking for the Committee on International Historical Activities as he has long and wisely done, reveals how far-flung are the international interests of American historians. One of the members of this committee, Arthur Whitaker, attended the meeting of the Bureau of the International Committee of Historical Sciences in Madrid. His report is to be found in the Review of October, 1956 (pp. 274-76). Our own committee has presented a critique of the 1955 Rome Congress to assist the Bureau in plans for future congresses. The next Congress of the International Committee will be held in Stockholm in 1960. Historians interested in preparing reports for this Congress are urged to send their suggestions to Donald McKay at Amherst, our representative on the Bureau. Our International Historical Activities Committee keeps us informed on the project for the History of the Americas, on the regular Anglo-American historical conferences held every summer, and upon all international activities which may profit American historians. There has been, for example, correspondence of interest between the Russian and American members of the Bureau concerning what form cooperation between Russian and American historians might take if such cooperation should be desired, and the committee has formulated tentative recommendations. Our committee also recommends that the United States act as host for the meeting of the Bureau in 1958.

The Committee on Documentary Reproduction, headed by Robert Eckles, submits its usual full report on microfilming done and in prospect. With the Library of Congress, the committee this year began and supervised reproduction of materials in Finland, Japan, and Italy, and next year selected documents of several other countries will be duplicated on film. The Harmsworth Committee, under Carl Wittke, compiled another panel of historians from which Oxford will choose one for its distinguished professorship in American history.

The Association sends representatives or delegates to the Social Science Research Council, the American Council of Learned Societies, the National Historical Publications Commission, and the National Council for Social Studies. For the first, the Social Science Research Council, our senior delegate, Roy Nichols, announces the appointment of a third (after those for Bulletins 54 and 64) Committee on Historiography, this one headed by Louis Gottschalk. The new SSRC committee will study the methodology of history as history rather than as a social science. The American Council of Learned Societies, Joseph Strayer tells us, has survived and preserved its committee structure. Its financial stringency was temporarily relieved, and there is hope that the Council, somewhat reorganized, will continue to foster humanistic studies in America. Julian Boyd, in describing the work of the National Historical Publications Commission, indicates that work upon the "Guide to Depositories of the Archives and Manuscripts" continues and that the volume ought to appear late in 1957. Some progress is being made, too, on the documentary histories of the Constitution and Bill of Rights and the First Federal Congress. As the newspapers have announced, the papers of President Madison are being collected and will be published in a definitive and full edition. Nothing concrete, however, has been done to "fill the gap" in the Writings on American History for the years 1940-1947. From the National Council for Social Studies there is little new to bring you. The Council continues to be active and to publish Social Education, the magazine for high school teachers of history which the Association helped start several years ago. Our Association, through Fulmer Mood, has also been of some assistance to Ralph Shaw of Rutgers University, who is preparing a bibliographical work to cover publications during the years at the beginning of the nineteenth century not included in Evans, American Bibliography, and Roorbach, Bibliotheca Americana.

Of some interest to those seeking historical positions and those wishing to fill them is the Association's Job Register. During the two years of its active operation, about 600 individuals have registered and between 300 and 400 are on the rolls at present. The Register has been informed of more than 140 positions and, though we have no exact information, possibly thirty or more individuals have found positions through it. The Register needs more publicity than we have been able to give it--time and personnel are lacking. It has justified its existence, but it has not yet fulfilled our hopes for it. Last year at the Annual Meeting, 147 individuals registered and the Register learned of over fifty positions. We are trying last year's experiment again, and the Job Register will again be open at the Annual Meeting in St. Louis. One common offhand comment, "The best people do not register and the best institutions do not use it," has little evidence behind it. Good people are registered and all kinds of institutions from the "Ivy League" to obscure colleges have made use of the service.

Without systematic effort on our part, the membership of the Association slowly increases. It now has nearly 6,600 members, and the Review, with the separate Macmillan subscription lists, goes to about 8,300 individuals and institutions. The Treasurer of the Association, Solon J. Buck, reports that we are in a sound financial condition and that we have been able to buy, remodel, and furnish the building for our headquarters without undue strain and without touching our endowment.

May I express the Association's appreciation for Solon Buck's long service. For twenty years, while he has been a distinguished historian and archivist, he has also been our financial watchdog. We have never had a deficit. Solon Buck has served without pay, and he has toiled long and difficult hours, days, weeks. This Executive Secretary can testify both to his devotion to the Association and to his accuracy and his caution in financial matters. With Solon Buck, I have worked upon four budgets, four Treasurer's reports. Never simple, these budgets and reports have become more and more complicated as our activities have multiplied. Every year the Treasurer and the Executive Secretary breathe sighs of deep relief when the work on them is completed. If anyone wants a lesson in precision, let him work with Solon Buck.

Another member of the Association to whom I should like to pay tribute is Frank Maloy Anderson. Professor Anderson, whom we all know as a learned scholar and loyal friend, may be the oldest living member of the Association, having joined it in 1896. This year he will be, I believe, attending his fiftieth meeting.

The American Historical Review has become thicker and thicker (Volume LXI, 1,127 pages); one member has accused us of trying to rival the Manhattan telephone directory. We have, it is true, reached the Review's limitation in size, perhaps even exceeded it a bit. Our readers tell us that we should not review fewer books (517 this year, 533 last), that we should run more articles (twelve articles plus seven "Notes and Suggestions" this year compared to twelve articles plus six "Notes and Suggestions" last year), and that we might expand in this or that direction, but especially in the "Personal" section (which is now larger than ever). We cannot expand further, however, without more funds, more assistance in the editorial office. We have not only reached the maximum physical size for handling and mailing, we have perhaps exceeded the physical energies of a willing staff. We can only develop further in one direction--quality. Readers tell us that our reviews of books have grown more critical. This, I think, is true and desirable. They also tell us that they like the type of discussions represented by the essays of Zagorin and Gershoy on Becker in the October, 1956, issue. We hope to continue these when the submitted articles lend themselves to similar discussion. Your Editor has heard from time to time that we publish mostly articles by young men hoping for promotion, few by "authorities" who have "arrived." It is true that the pages of the Review are open to young men as they are to every serious historian regardless of age. It is also true that during the last three years, at least, a sizable proportion of the authors, about a third, have been historians who would generally be acknowledged "authorities," that is, older scholars who have achieved recognition in the profession.

Once again for the Review, I plead for more lively, provocative, and interpretative articles than we receive at present. We received this year 157 essays for consideration, compared to 147 last year. Of these, but a handful attempted to formulate, and test with evidence, new and fertile hypotheses which might enrich our understanding of the past. In American history, may I particularly note, we saw too few top-notch studies and almost none which tried to interpret American history in the venturesome fashion of Tyler, Turner, and Beard. The bold new views that these giants have led us to expect of American historians seem strangely lacking, at least insofar as submitted articles indicate.

Again your Executive Secretary has done a bit of travel. He learned, for example, about the historians of Texas, that American empire of the Southwest, and he has been in Ithaca in the winter, in Durham on a beautiful fall day, and in Pittsburgh on the opening day of the baseball season without seeing the game. Every time he leaves headquarters, he is made aware of problems of teaching and research to be solved as well as the ways various departments are solving them, and he, with much profit to the Review, meets historians who are qualified to review books and who wish to submit articles. Travel, according to the cliché, broadens. I should rather say it deepens understanding, increases awareness of problems and possibilities. Of both of these I have been increasingly cognizant.

Is it time in our profession for an assessment of where we are and where we are going in these years of continual crisis? The volume of research in progress is truly astounding. What does it mean, where does it lead? The number of students mounts and will become enormous during the next few years. Are we prepared for them? I hope the Association will sponsor, perhaps with funds from a foundation, a much-needed study of possibilities in the profession. I would hope that this study might concentrate upon graduate school production, graduate school requirements including those of language, and dissertation standards and quality. But I would also hope the study might ask questions about the relation of present graduate education to liberal education, about the relation of teaching to research and publication, about needs in the publication field, about the possibilities for women in the profession, and about ways and means of making the profession more attractive to able young men and women.

You must not expect your headquarters staff to do this study. It should be done by a committee of highly qualified historians appointed by the Association. The headquarters staff (especially the Executive Secretary) is already pushed to the limits of its physical abilities. If the profession wishes the Association to expand its activities further, it will have to see to it that funds and staff are available. Your Executive Secretary and Editor has many times dreamed of the life of a teacher with time for research and writing. You should expect him to remain something of a scholar, but with his present seven-day week and twelve- to fourteen-hour day, he is exhausted before he can crawl to his own study to read a book or write a page. If the Association is to do more, to further enlarge its program, it will have to provide the means.

This is an age of change, of transition in the world and in historical study which is part of this world. Where are we going? Can we use our historical knowledge to help both our fellow citizens and ourselves? It is for us, for you and for me, to build and furnish the structure in which the historians of the next ten to twenty years may freely roam, teach their students, produce their studies. This is a time of transition, but if in large measure it is an age of destruction, it is also an age for construction.

In this construction, though some ideals are waning, those of scholarship must stand firm. In this period of easy negation, let us be the ones to affirm those rights to critical inquiry and humanistic study bequeathed us by historians and philosophers from Athens to Florence, Rotterdam, Paris, and London, by Herodotus and Socrates, Erasmus and Guicciardini, Voltaire and Hume--and I might add from our own America, by Jameson, Becker, and Ford.

BOYD C. SHAFER, Executive Secretary and Managing Editor.

FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1955-56

The ordinary financial assets of the American Historical Association on August 31, 1956, amounted to $697,226.45 ($699,671.75 last year), and in addition foundation grants for special projects totalled $130,607.16. The Association headquarters (real estate) was valued at $36,908.62. The total assets therefore were $864,742.23. Of the first sum, $631,663.00 ($651,834.00 last year) constitute the capital funds of the Association in the custody of the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York, which are managed by it under the direction of the Board of Trustees. Of this amount $250,659.00 ($253,369.00 last year) was credited to various special funds, leaving $381,004.00 ($398,465.00 last year) the income from which was unrestricted. The cash on hand in checking and savings accounts and the operating account amounted to $189,994.61 ($47,837.75 last year), of which sum $154,344.26 ($25,804.54 last year) was restricted, leaving $35,650.35 ($22,033.21 last year) available for general purposes. The total of unrestricted funds, including both capital and expendable sums, amounted to $416,654.35 ($420,498.21 last year); and that of restricted funds amounted to $411,179.16 ($279,173.54 last year). Securities in the special Matteson Fund portfolio amounted to $94,539.00 instead of $92,249.00 as of the year before. The changes in assets have resulted in part from exchanges of securities and changes in the market value of investments, in part from foundation grants for special projects, and in part from receipts in excess of expenditures.

The expendable funds of the Association are administered through a general account, four special accounts, and one operating account. The general account includes, however, a number of special funds and grants, which are segregated from the unrestricted funds only by bookkeeping. The balances in this account are kept partly in a savings account and partly in a checking account, and transfers are made from one to the other as occasion arises. The balances in the special accounts are separately deposited in savings accounts. The operating account is not administered by the Treasurer, but the funds for it are supplied by transfers from the general account, in which the grant from the Ford Foundation was deposited.

The following tables present a condensed exhibit of the financial transactions of the Association during the year. The statement for the general fund is broken down into unrestricted funds and the various special funds and grants, and for the unrestricted funds the items for 1954-55 are included for purposes of comparison. Statements for the special accounts and the operating account follow, and there are a number of summaries. The receipts of unrestricted funds exceeded ordinary disbursements by $13,890.20. It should be noted, however, that the total of disbursements included that for the office building, which is less than the investments from unrestricted income during the last five years.

The Treasurer's accounts and the operating account have been audited by F. W. Lafrentz & Co., certified public accountants, and their report is on file in the Washington office of the Association, where it may be examined by any interested member. The report of the Fiduciary Trust Company, approved by A. W. Page, chairman of the Board of Trustees, is also on file and available for inspection in the Washington office.

SOLON J. BUCK, Treasurer.

REPORT OF THE AUDITORS

Washington, D. C.

October 30, 1956.

We have examined the recorded cash receipts and disbursements of the general and special accounts of the American Historical Association for the period from September 1, 1955, to August 31, 1956. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements of cash receipts and disbursements present fairly the recorded cash transactions of the American Historical Association for the year ended August 31, 1956, and have been prepared on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

The financial statements, as listed in the accompanying index, are presented herewith.

We also submit the following comments, giving additional information as to the scope of our examination and the accounts presented.

CASH RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS

	Combined	Exhibit "A" General Account	Exhibit "B" Special Funds and Grants	Exhibit "C" Special Accounts

INVESTMENTS

Statements of cash and investment transactions by the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York for your account from September 1, 1955 to August 31, 1956, are shown on Schedules 1 and 2.*

Securities held by the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York as of August 31, 1956, are shown in accordance with their report which was mailed directly to us. These securities are detailed on Schedules 3 and 4.

The market value of the securities as of August 31, 1956, in the regular account was $536,482.97, and in the Matteson Fund, $94,566.25.

The accompanying exhibits and schedules relative to the investments held by the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York as of August 31, 1956, and to the cash and investment transactions for the year then ended, have been prepared in accordance with the records of the Association, and are supported by statements from the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York.

INCOME FROM INVESTMENTS

Income earned on investments during the period under review was traced to the records of the Association and accounted for. Amortization of bonds owned by the Association as of August 31, 1956, was provided in accordance with the amounts determined by the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York.

Payments to the Association by the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York amounted to $79,473.20, as shown on Schedule 1.

GENERAL

Dues received during the year are shown in accordance with the cash records, and verification by us was limited to a test check of names on the members mailing list to the dues book. A summary of the dues received indicates that such dues are applicable to the following years:

Dues Year Ending	Amount
1958.....	$ 25.76
1957.....	26,866.36
1956.....	14,674.27
Prior Years	195.85
Total.....	$ 41,762.24

A comparison of annual dues received by the Association in the current year in the amount of $41,762.24, and of $39,957.20 in the preceding year, shows an increase of $1,805.04. The largest portion of this increase, $1,330.31, is reflected in collections for current dues.

During the year under review, the Association purchased a building located at 400 "A" Street, S. E., Washington, D. C., together with the land known as lot 23, square 817. The costs pertaining thereto are shown in detail on Exhibit A under "Housing Expense."*

3/21/56.....	318 Shs. Standard Oil Co. of N. J., common, $7 par, received for 106 shs., common $15 par to effect a 3-for-1 split, to holders of record 2/10/56
	RIGHTS RECEIVED AND EXERCISED
9/6/55.....	240 Rts. American Telephone & Telegraph Co., rights to subscribe to $3,000. American Telephone & Telegraph Co., cv. deb., 3 7/8% due 10/13/67 @ $100., to holders of record 8/25/55. Void 10/13/55. Exercised 10/13/55.

The holdings of the American Historical Association as of August 31, 1956, compare with its holdings of August 31, 1955, as follows:

	Value of principal	Income		Value of principal	Income
REGULAR SECTION			MATTESSON FUND
Aug. 31, 1955.....	$559,585.00	$19,529	Aug. 31, 1955.....	$92,249.00	$3,657
Aug. 31, 1956.....	537,124.00	18,576	Aug. 31, 1956.....	94,539.00	3,870

As will be noted from the foregoing figures, the market value of the securities held in the Regular Section for the Association decreased (owing to withdrawal of funds for purchase of real estate and office equipment) from a total of $559,585.00 on August 31, 1955, to $537,124.00 on August 31, 1956. The income basis, as figured as of the same two dates, decreased from $19,529 to $18,576. During the year, changes in securities for the Matteson Fund increased that fund from $92,249.00 to $94,539.00. The income was $3,870 as against $3,657 a year ago.

In accord with accepted principles, the Trustees have given instructions to the Fiduciary Trust Co. to set aside out of each year's income such an amount as is applicable for that year toward the amortization of the premiums on bonds purchased above the redemption price. The charge upon income on this account for the fiscal year was $215.76 for the Regular Section and $8.78 for the Matteson Fund.

Charges made by the Fiduciary Trust Co. for management of securities as well as brokerage charges on purchase and sales amounted to $2,472.00 for the Regular Section and $408 for the Matteson Fund. The Board of Trustees incurred no other expenses.

December 21, 1957

THE COMMITTEE ON THE HERBERT BAXTER ADAMS PRIZE

The unanimous choice of the Herbert Baxter Adams Prize Committee for 1956 is The Politics of the Prussian Army, 1640-1945, by Gordon A. Craig of Princeton University, published by Oxford University Press.

The committee through its chairman sent notices to all important college and university presses and to the chairmen of history departments in sixty or seventy schools having fairly large graduate enrollments in history. All of the commercial publishers listed in Books in Print received similar announcements.

The chairman can report that sixty-four of the sixty-six volumes specifically noted as entered for the prize were received. This flood of material is the result of extending the scope of the competition to cover European history in general as well as of a more intensive continuance of the work begun by Dr. Lowell J. Ragatz between 1952 and 1954 in circularizing publishers, presses, and graduate schools. Approximately one third of the total received were textbooks, biographies, or "popular" treatments, definitely outside the scope of the competition.

As chairman of the Herbert Baxter Adams Prize Committee, 1954-56, the following suggestions are made for the consideration of the next chairman of the committee:

Of the total works submitted, one was in typewritten manuscript with no guarantee of future publication; another, a massive performance of 1,269 typed pages, is on a publisher's tentative publication list for the spring of 1957. It is recommended that the competition be limited to volumes in print, or for which page proof can be sent to the members of the committee along with the assurance that the work, should it win the prize, would be printed, bound, published, and available by the December meeting of the American Historical Association. Enough good volumes are appearing each biennium to warrant such a change, and it is valuable and important to the author, the publisher, and the historical profession that the prize-winning volume should be available for inspection at the annual meeting.

The notice concerning the material to be submitted should be rewritten so that textbooks, "popular biographies," and "popular" treatments are specifically excluded. This time a number of such titles were submitted. They not only cause expense to the publisher, and bring anxiety to the author, but also clutter up the desks of the committee members.

Further, the rewritten notice might include a suggestion that an author wishing to have his work considered, should, in most instances, ask the publisher to send copies to the committee members. In one instance, the chairman himself received five copies from both author and publisher.

Last, the chairman of the committee might be given a small allowance for postage and correspondence. There may be occasions when some chairmen will find it necessary to ask the Association for help in this matter.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE GEORGE LOUIS BEER PRIZE

The George Louis Beer Prize Committee unanimously recommends that the prize be awarded to Henry Cord Meyer of Pomona College, for his book, Mitteleuropa in German Thought and Action, 1815-1945, published by Martinus Nijhoff, 1956. In three years of service on the committee, the chairman has never seen such positive agreement on the prize-winning title. Because of the considerable difference of opinion and of the lack of enthusiasm for any of the other entries, however, the committee decided to specify no book for honorable mention.

The committee is composed of Joseph J. Mathews, Emory University; H. Stuart Hughes, Stanford University; and the chairman. Early in the year, forty publishers were invited to submit entries for the prize. Fourteen publishers submitted eighteen volumes. Of these, a large majority did not conform even to a generous interpretation of the terms of the prize. This, of course, is not to dismiss their general excellence.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE ALBERT J. BEVERIDGE AWARD

The members of the Committee on the Albert J. Beveridge Award for 1956 were Ralph W. Hidy, New York University, chairman; John Hope Franklin, Brooklyn College; Arthur S. Link, Northwestern University; Walter V. Scholes, University of Missouri; and Frederick B. Tolles, Swarthmore College. All members were active, interested in the assignment, and performed their work well.

Everything considered, the response to the announcement of the award was excellent. In addition to announcements in the American Historical Review, the usual information with application forms was sent to the heads of the history departments of more than 125 degree-granting institutions in the United States and Canada. Inquiries were received from fourteen potential applicants who did not send in the forms after they received them. Thirteen duly accredited applications were received. Of that number, at least seven ranked high enough to be seriously considered by one or more members of the committee for the award or honorable mention.

The award was made to Paul W. Schroeder for his manuscript entitled The Axis Alliance and Japanese-American Relations, 1941. Arthur S. Link has volunteered to do any necessary editing.

Honorable mention went to Clark C. Spence for his manuscript, British Investment and the American Mining Frontier, 1860-1901. Ernest Osgood of the University of Minnesota has agreed to make editorial suggestions.

An idea brought up by members of the committee merits consideration. They suggest that in some way the committee might well become a clearing house for manuscripts falling within the scope of the committee, even if some manuscripts in question were not submitted for the competition.

It has been a pleasure to serve the Association for four years as a member of the Albert J. Beveridge Award Committee, one year as chairman. Many worthwhile manuscripts have come to my attention during the period and I shall miss seeing the work of aspiring young scholars.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE CARNEGIE REVOLVING FUND FOR PUBLICATIONS

The Carnegie Revolving Fund Committee of the American Historical Association has been relatively inactive this year because of the depletion of the Carnegie Revolving Fund. No manuscripts have been accepted for consideration by the committee and no awards have been made. Twenty-two inquiries regarding the committee have been received from persons who have indicated an interest in submitting a manuscript for the committee's consideration, a number sufficiently large to suggest that a genuine interest in the committee's work still exists.

On March 30, 1956, three members of the committee met in Washington with the Executive Secretary to discuss the financial state of the fund and to consider possible ways and means to continue the work of the committee. To this time, no final decisions have been reached.

The Cornell University Press sent notice early in August that Professor John Tate Lanning's The Eighteenth-Century Enlightenment in the University of San Carlos de Guatemala was then in proof and would soon be published. The Carnegie Revolving Fund Committee last year agreed to subsidize the publication of this work, and it will appear as a publication of the Committee.

It is sincerely hoped that some means may be found to resume, if not actually to enlarge, the publication service which the Carnegie Revolving Fund Committee has hitherto performed for the profession. I am confident that the profession will survive without the Carnegie Committee, but I am equally confident that its services will be missed; and I feel that any candid review of the publications sponsored by the committee during the past twenty-eight years will adequately justify its work. Seldom has the profession received so much from so small an initial outlay.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE JOHN H. DUNNING PRIZE

It is with pleasure I inform you that the John H. Dunning Prize Committee awards its prize for 1956 to John Higham for his valued book, Strangers in the Land: Patterns of American Nativism, 1860-1925. For honorable mention the committee, after some debating, feels that the honor should be divided between John William Ward for his Andrew Jackson: Symbol of an Age and Joseph F. Wall for his Henry Watterson: Reconstructed Rebel.

The three members of the Dunning Prize Committee considered forty-odd publications and several manuscripts in coming to their conclusion. We are certain that we showed preference to three books that measure up to the standards of the books that in the past have received the prize. So many were the excellent books among those we read that we regret not being able to dispense prizes to a larger number.

The two men who served on the Dunning Prize Committee with me were Earl Pomeroy of the University of Oregon and Charles Grier Sellers, Jr., of Princeton University. Both men performed the burdensome duties of reading and exchanging our many books conscientiously and with a sincere desire to reward the persons most deserving. We exchanged many letters, and I am deeply grateful for their aid. I recommend that Mr.

Pomeroy be appointed chairman of the Dunning Committee for 1958 and that Mr. Sellers be continued as a second member of the Committee. I do not think that the American Historical Association can get better persons for this task.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE LITTLETON-GRISWOLD FUND

This committee is composed of the following: Edward Dumbauld, attorney-at-law, Uniontown, Pa., chairman; Zechariah Chafee, Jr., Harvard Law School; Julius Goebel, Jr., Columbia University; William B. Hamilton, Duke University; George L. Haskins, University of Pennsylvania; Mark DeWolfe Howe, Harvard Law School; Leonard W. Labaree, Yale University; David J. Mays, attorney-at-law, Richmond, Va.; Richard L. Morton, William and Mary College; Boyd C. Shafer, Washington, D. C., ex officio; and Arthur T. Vanderbilt, Chief Justice, Supreme Court of New Jersey.

Although no publications were issued during the year, substantial progress has been made toward completion of the work on the Prince George's County Court Book of Maryland. Joseph H. Smith, author of the well-known study on appeals to the Privy Council, is editing this material. A number of editorial problems have been resolved in consultation with the committee, and it is planned to publish these records in the near future.

Progress on other projects has been made, particularly on the records of New Jersey Quarter Sessions Courts for the Revolutionary Period, which will perhaps be the next item ready for publication after the Maryland material has been published.

Appended is a financial report showing the status of the fund.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE ROBERT LIVINGSTON SCHUYLER PRIZE

The Robert Livingston Schuyler Prize Committee recommends that the prize be awarded to David Harris Willson for his King James VI and I, published by Henry Holt.

The committee has consisted of Professor G. W. Brown of Toronto, Helen Taft Manning of Bryn Mawr, Charles L. Mowat of Chicago, and the chairman, J. B. Brebner of Columbia. The committee members among themselves seriously examined approximately forty-five books in British, British Imperial, and Commonwealth history (since 1485), written by American citizens and published between June 30, 1951, and July 1, 1956. This considerable burden culminated in each member reading all of the books most strongly recommended in order to reach a final decision. It should be suggested that in any future announcement of the prize, it should be stated that all titles to be eligible should be devoted to the period since 1485.

All the members of the committee worked faithfully. Mrs. Manning has not only been very active herself but has enlisted help from others on the Eastern seaboard. The principal problem will always be distribution of critical skill over so much time and space.

December 10, 1956.

J. B. BREBNER, Chairman.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE WATUMULL PRIZE

Since none of the works sent for the consideration of the Watumull Prize Committee were of a serious historical nature, it is the unanimous conclusion of the committee that the prize should not be awarded this year.

TARAKNATH DAS, Chairman.

THE COMMITTEE ON DOCUMENTARY REPRODUCTION

1. General Activities and Plans. The chief functions of this committee relate to photographing and making available sources in the field of history. Following this general purpose, the chairman and the subcommittee chairmen have carried forward the following projects during the past twelve months:

a. With the friendly cooperation of the Librarian of Congress and his staff, it was possible for the chairman to bring to the attention of a group of scholars, mainly official representatives of learned societies, a plan to photograph valuable records now in the Library of Congress. This plan was formulated by Professor E. L. Erickson of the University of Illinois, former chairman of this committee. It contemplates placing in repositories around the country the microfilmed contents of the most valuable and useful of our source material deposited in the Library of Congress and subject to possible destruction through enemy attack. The plan was presented on April 12, 1956, at a luncheon in the Library of Congress. Although discussed thoroughly at the time, it was decided to postpone further consideration of the plan until more information could be obtained as to costs and the willingness of various bodies of scholars to help in editing and selecting materials.

b. The Ford Foundation has given $15,000 to the Library of Congress to spend in cooperation with this committee in the microfilming of archives in foreign depositories. Projects were carried forward in Finland, Japan, and Italy during the past year. It is planned to spend about $5,000 a year for such activities. This project seems to be moving along very well. The only operating difficulties have been administrative ones. The problems confronting both officials of the Library of Congress and members of the subcommittees seem to be in process of solution.

For the coming year, requests for $5,000 have been made by the subcommittees on France, Italy, Japan, the United Kingdom, and for the Finnish project. Allocations will be made by the chairman, the chairmen of the subcommittees, and the director of the Processing Division of the Library of Congress. All microfilm will be deposited in the Library of Congress and thus made available to scholars.

This coming year is the second of the Ford Foundation's grant. The Finnish and Japanese projects will require from $1,400 to $2,000 each. It is proposed to grant $1,000 to the United Kingdom project, from $500 to $600 to the French project, and the rest will be used to carry on the work of the Italian subcommittee.

The chief problem recently is to find scholars who will undertake the task of directing and supervising the microfilming of archives while they are abroad. This committee has offered to help in recommendations to the selection committees of the Guggenheim Foundation and of the Fulbright program. A notice to this effect appeared in the July, 1956, American Historical Review. To date no scholar has indicated an interest in finding or in creating a project that the committee could sponsor. This means that scholars who will spend a year or more abroad must be found through other channels and enlisted. The subcommittee chairmen will be charged with this duty.

I should like to report that the staff of the Library of Congress, particularly Mr. John Cronin, director of the Processing Division, has been most cooperative in working with the committee and its members. It is a pleasure to work with Mr. Cronin and his able assistants.

c. Last summer the manager of the Cornell University Press and the Executive Secretary of the Association corresponded about the possibility of this committee preparing a list of photographed historical sources in this country. This is a most important and worth-while project. The expenses of editing and preparing such a list would be heavy and would require the services of a staff. The president of the Council on Library Resources met with the Executive Secretary and the chairman of this committee to discuss the possibility of making funds available for this purpose. So far nothing has been decided. The committee will discuss this during its meeting in December at St. Louis.

d. During the past year many scholars have asked the chairman how they might get money for microfilming material for their projects. It is impossible to advise them all well. The only funds this committee has are those of the Ford grant as administered by the Library of Congress. From the number of inquiries received, it is apparent that scholars in this country could make good use of a fund from which grants to individuals in amounts varying from $50 to $200 could be made available upon proper application. Perhaps such a fund could be established through the services of a foundation or a grant to the Association.

2. Suggestions for Reorganization and Personnel. The chairmen of the subcommittees were originally chosen, and indeed their subcommittees were created, because at the time of their selection they had important microfilming projects going forward. This seems a most useful criterion by which the continuance of the subcommittees can be recommended. Also, should new projects come into being and should it seem wise to add subcommittees, this should be done. Dr. Austin P. Evans has been most helpful as adviser and should be continued as a member even though he is not chairman of a subcommittee. Professor E. L. Erickson is a member of the committee serving in an advisory capacity, and, as the man who brought the committee into being, it is essential that his continued services should not be lost to it.

a. Subcommittee on Japan. Professor William B. Braisted, chairman, is now in Japan and will resume his post at the University of Texas sometime early next year. His project of microfilming the papers of the Japanese Diet is one of the best we have. He has done a difficult task well. His services are of utmost importance, particularly should Chinese, more Japanese, or other eastern Asiatic documents become available for microfilming.

b. Subcommittee on the United Kingdom. Professor Charles Mullett, University of Missouri, chairman, has asked to be relieved of heavy responsibility for the time being since he is program chairman for the 1957 annual meeting of the American Historical Association. His subcommittee has in mind a project for microfilming the Cornwallis papers in the Public Record Office. He should continue to carry on the work of cataloguing the wants of English historians.

c. Subcommittee on France. Professor Richard W. Hale, Jr., Boston University, chairman, has done yeoman's work with this committee. He has submitted a project for microfilming documents in the National Archives of France. His work and his advice are of the best.

d. Medieval Subcommittee. Professor H. C. Krueger, University of Cincinnati, chairman, has acted as a clearing house for information and requests about funds for microfilming portions of medieval archives. His services have been invaluable.

e. Subcommittee on Italy. Professor Loren C. MacKinney, University of North Carolina, chairman, is carrying forward the committee's most comprehensive and important program. This project was conceived in cooperation with Professor Ullman and a group of medieval scholars.

f. Subcommittee on Austria. C. Easton Rothwell, Librarian, the Hoover Library, Stanford University, chairman, is searching for the right man to carry on microfilming of medieval sources in Austrian and South German cathedrals.

g. Subcommittee on Early America. Clifton K. Shipton, American Antiquarian Society, chairman, reports that his committee has completed most of the project of microfilming the pre-1801 serials. Mr. Shipton would be a most useful member of an editing committee for the project of publication of sources.

After consultation with subcommittee chairmen, some decision should be made as to the advisability of creating new committees if projects and fields seem to warrant such action. It has been suggested that committees on Latin America, Asia, and the United States be formed. This is a matter of business for the December meeting.

November 7, 1956.

ROBERT B. ECKLES, Chairman.

THE COMMITTEE ON A GUIDE TO HISTORICAL LITERATURE

During the past year the committee has been active in establishing an outline for the new Guide, negotiating the terms of a contract between the American Historical Association and the Macmillan Company, arranging the terms of a grant-in-aid to the Association by the Rockefeller Foundation, and recruiting historians to compile the sections into which the book has been organized.

Contract terms will permit members of the Association to obtain copies at a reduced price through advance subscription.

The grant-in-aid was sought in order to enable the production of a final printers manuscript in approximately two years from this autumn. On October 2, Trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation approved a grant of up to $75,000 to be available until December 31, 1958. The committee expects to expend most of this sum on costs incurred by section editors for typing, postage, and assistance, and in hiring at the proper time a general editor plus clerical assistants for the central editorial office. The general editor's functions will include supervision of those services to section editors which are performed centrally, such as verification of entries and production of a manuscript consistent in style. An indexer will be retained on contract.

Thirty section editors have already been recruited and the remaining nine are being enlisted. The program calls for the submission of their copy during 1957 and for the completion of editing in 1958.

The committee is serving as a board of editors. The chairman is also acting as managing editor. It is recommended that the services of members of the committee be coextensive with the life of the project.

November 5, 1956.

GEORGE F. HOWE, Chairman.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE HARMSWORTH PROFESSORSHIP

The committee began by considering a list of thirteen names. After numerous exchanges of opinion through extensive correspondence, the committee recommended five historians.

I think the committee has functioned quite efficiently although it is scattered from coast to coast. The only difficulty this year was the extended absence of Professor Commager in Europe, but he returned in time to give the committee his choices. I would suggest no changes in the committee unless it should be decided that rotation might start.

October 17, 1956.

CARL WITTKKE, Chairman.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE HISTORIAN AND THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

In accordance with the resolution passed at the Annual Business Meeting in December, 1955, the committee was enlarged by three competent historians of American foreign policy and specifically charged with studying State Department publications. It was to report back to the Council and Business Meeting in December, 1956.

The committee has spent most of its time studying and discussing problems connected with State Department publications. Throughout the year there has been extended correspondence. At an unofficial meeting in Pittsburgh on April 19, 1956, six members discussed the nature and ramifications of these problems. At an official meeting in Washington on May 19, 1956, seven members explored the question more fully and charged the chairman with drafting tentative resolutions expressing the consensus of opinion of those present at the meeting. These resolutions were to be revised and put in final form at a meeting in the autumn for presentation to the Council and Business Meeting. These resolutions were drafted and mailed to all committee members in mid-summer by the Chairman. The autumn meeting has been scheduled for November 12 in Washington. The committee will report further at the December meeting of the Association.

Meanwhile, a subcommittee under the chairmanship of Wood Gray has assumed the responsibility for matters pertaining to the Association's publications. This subcommittee reports that:

1. Volume I of the Annual Report, 1955 is in press.
2. Writings on American History, 1952 (since 1948 edited by James R. Masterson) (Volume II of Annual Report, 1954) is in press; Writings on American History, 1953 (Volume II of Annual Report, 1955) is in preparation.
3. The long-awaited David Maydole Matteson Index to the Writings on American History, 1902-1940 (begun by Matteson, and the continuation and publication made possible by his bequest to the Association) is now in press. This Index has been corrected and prepared for publication by Professor William Columbus Davis of George Washington University.

The committee can report that partly as a result of its efforts and those of the Executive Secretary of the Association, the Civil Service Commission held examinations for historians to fill positions with various federal agencies in the Washington, D. C. area.

November 6, 1956.

EDWARD YOUNGER, Chairman.

THE COMMITTEE ON HONORARY MEMBERS

There has been correspondence among the members of the Committee on Honorary Members about the vacancy left on the list of honorary members by the death of Professor Lecuna, but, although several names have been mentioned at the time of the writing of this report, the committee has not arrived at a recommendation to the Council. In the course of the correspondence among the members of the committee there has been some discussion about the importance of the criterion of geographical distribution for the selection of honorary members.

FELIX GILBERT, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON INTERNATIONAL HISTORICAL ACTIVITIES

I. THE COMMITTEE.

The chief functions and responsibilities of the committee are to assure the representation of the historians of the United States in the International Committee of Historical Sciences (ICHS) and their participation in its activities. Its other functions, mainly of encouragement and reporting, deal with related activities which are of interest to the American Historical Association but over which the committee does not exercise formal jurisdiction. Personnel. The personnel of the committee has been changed in 1956 by the rotational retirement of Kent Greenfield, who has been succeeded by Garrett Mattingly of Columbia University, and by the appointment of Caroline Robbins of Bryn Mawr College as an additional member. The hold-over members, in addition to the chairman, have been Boyd C. Shafer and Donald C. McKay (both ex officio), Martin R. P. McGuire, Bernadotte E. Schmitt, and Arthur P. Whitaker, together with Dorothy M. Quynn, who, though living in Paris until the middle of the year and unable to attend the meetings of the committee, has maintained an informing and useful correspondence with it. Meetings. The committee has held two meetings since its last report: the first, an informal session, in Washington during the Annual Meeting of the Association; and the second, the usual all-day session, on March 17, in the offices of the American Council of Learned Societies in Washington. In addition to its meetings, the members of the committee have carried on active correspondence among themselves, and the chairman has had personal conferences with several of them. In a sense the committee has functioned continuously.

II. THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE OF HISTORICAL SCIENCES.

ROME CONGRESS, 1955. An excellent report of the Tenth International Congress of Historical Sciences by Donald McKay was printed in the American Historical Review for January, 1956 (pp. 504-11). The official proceedings, or acts, of the Congress are being compiled and edited in a volume of about 500 pages, by the Italian hosts, the Giunta Centrale per gli Studi Storici. It will be recalled that the reports and abstracts of communications presented at the various sessions were printed in advance and distributed to the registered members of the Congress.

MEETING OF THE BUREAU, 1956.

An important meeting of the Bureau of the ICHS was held in Madrid, May 26-27. Arthur P. Whitaker attended as a substitute for Donald McKay, the elected member of the Bureau. Whitaker prepared an excellent report of the proceedings, in some respects more detailed and informing than the official minutes or procès-verbal, a summary of which has been printed in the AHR for October, 1956, (pp. 274-76). Both the full report and the procès-verbal are on file in the offices of the Association. The more important matters dealt with are discussed under appropriate headings below.

PLANS FOR THE ELEVENTH INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS, STOCKHOLM, 1960.

The meeting of the Bureau and also, in preparation for that meeting, the meetings of the American Historical Association Committee have given chief attention to the problems of organization, procedures, and subject matter of the International Congresses, with special reference to that of 1960. The Bureau had before it a composite summary of the "critiques" of the Rome Congress, which the various national commissions had been asked to prepare. The critique prepared by the Association committee was adequately represented in the summary laid before the Bureau, and a copy of its full text was sent to each member of the Bureau in advance of the meeting. A statement by McKay, who will have chief responsibility for participation of the United States in the Congress of 1960 (printed in the AHR, October, 1956, p. 276), as well as Whitaker's report (ibid.) contain essential information. Suggestions of subjects for reports to be presented in the next Congress are invited from scholars in the United States. The Association committee will have jurisdiction over participation of the United States in the Congress, and the next meeting of the committee, March, 1957, will be devoted largely to preparing the recommendations which will be made on behalf of the United States to the Bureau respecting the subject matter of the reports.

ADMISSION OF INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS AND NATIONAL COMMISSIONS TO REPRESENTATION IN THE ICHS.

The Bureau considered the qualifications which should be required of international organizations applying for admission to the ICHS and agreed that such qualifications as might be prescribed must be clearly defined and insisted upon in order to avoid undesirable splintering of subject matter and duplication of functions more properly exercised by the specialized commissions maintained by the ICHS itself, and also to avoid the encouragement of ineffective so-called "international" organizations. Greece and Bulgaria, both former members of the ICHS, applied for readmission, and the Bureau agreed to recommend favorable action on their applications by the Assembly of the ICHS in 1957. An application from the Committee of Historians of the Democratic Republic of Korea did not contain necessary information respecting its composition, and action was deferred.

BULLETIN D'INFORMATION.

An important decision of the Bureau was to enlarge the scope of the Bulletin d'Information, at present issued annually, to include news of historical activities in various countries and fuller reports of the specialized commissions of the ICHS, together with complete lists of members, with their addresses, of the ICHS, and its commissions, and of the national commissions. Thus the Bulletin may become more of an organ of the ICHS, though it will by no means fill the place of the former Bulletin, 1926-1941, with its complete documentation.

ASSEMBLY OF THE ICHS, 1957.

Pursuant to the vote of the Assembly of 1955, and in agreement with the representative of the USSR, it was decided that the Assembly of the ICHS in 1957 should be held in Leningrad and Moscow [later changed to Lausanne, Switzerland] on June 14-18. The expenses of sojourn in, and travel between, the two cities has been generously assumed by the USSR. The Association committee hopes that the world situation may not prevent the holding of the Assembly in Russia. It will be recalled that plans to hold the International Congress in Russia in 1918 could not be carried out.

PARTICIPATION OF THE UNITED STATES IN SPECIALIZED COMMISSIONS OF THE ICHS.

The Association committee is anxious to assure useful participation of scholars from the United States in all the specialized commissions of the ICHS. Following the committee's recommendation, Val Lorwin of the University of Chicago will serve as a member of the Commission on Social Movements. Appointments to other commissions will be made in due time.

III. VARIOUS OTHER ACTIVITIES.

RELATIONS WITH RUSSIAN HISTORIANS. (Report by Donald C. McKay).

An important exchange of letters between Mme. Anna Pankratova and Donald C. McKay, both elected members of the Bureau of the ICHS, took place during 1956. Mme. Pankratova first raised the question of what form cooperation between scholars of the Soviet Union and the United States might take. After consideration by the American Historical Association committee, reply was made that such cooperation might be effected particularly through exchange of professors, exchange of students, and the opening of Soviet archives and other historical collections to scholars of the United States. Mme. Pankratova replied that these proposals were personally acceptable to her, that they would be referred to the Soviet National Committee, and that meanwhile she would like to expedite matters by making the following additional proposals: (1) that United States scholars submit articles for consideration by Soviet historical journals and that Soviet scholars submit articles for consideration by American historical periodicals; (2) that United States scholars participate in historical conferences in the Soviet Union and that Soviet scholars give papers at the annual meetings of the American Historical Association; (3) and that in the interest of the realization of these measures working groups of two or three members from each country be appointed to cooperate.

The Association committee reviewed these proposals. McKay sent a reply accepting them in principle but pointing out that articles submitted by either side must, of course, be subject to the right of acceptance or rejection by editors; that the Association committee would be happy to facilitate the participation of Soviet scholars in historical meetings in the United States and of scholars of the United States in Soviet historical meetings, subject to governmental regulations and national laws regarding the movement of individuals between countries, and that the Association committee would be glad to promote such freedom of movement insofar as it might be possible and appropriate; and that the Association committee would name a subcommittee of two or three scholars for the purpose of consultation with a corresponding Soviet group similarly authorized.

RELATIONS WITH LATIN AMERICAN SCHOLARS. (Report by Arthur P. Whitaker).

In the Latin American field, the chief event of 1956 has been an international meeting of historians in Washington, March 26-28, to discuss the History of the Americas, the major project of the Commission on History of the Pan American Institute of Geography and History. The participants were from the United States (including Whitaker and Leland), Canada, and other American countries. Dr. Silvio Zavala, director of the project and chairman of the Division of History of the PAIGH, presided over the meeting. After reviewing the latest reports on the three divisions of the project (indigenous, colonial, national), which was started in 1951 and is now nearing completion, the conference made a number of recommendations regarding final revision and publication of the reports. Further details of the meeting will be found in the AHR, July, 1956 (pp. 1077-78).

Since the History of the Americas project is of great interest to historians of all American countries, including the United States, arrangements have been made to devote a session of the Annual Meeting of the Association in 1956 to a discussion of the results so far achieved. Earlier stages of the project were similarly discussed in the annual meetings of 1952 and 1954.

RELATIONS WITH BRITISH HISTORIANS.

An interim Anglo-American Historical Conference, organized by the Institute of Historical Research of the University of London, was held in London in July with an attendance of 390 scholars, 105 coming from overseas. At the request of the Association committee, John B. Riggs attended the conference and his report will be printed in the AHR, January, 1957. In 1957, the Sixth Plenary Anglo-American Historical Conference will be held at the University of London, July 8-13.

The formation of an American Conference on British Studies (see AHR, April, 1956, p. 810) and of a British Association for American Studies (AHR, October, 1956, p. 277) should also be noted.

A cooperative undertaking of British and American historians of long standing is the preparation of a series of bibliographies of British history, inaugurated in 1910 under the auspices, on this side, of the American Historical Association. A substantial grant from the Ford Foundation now assures the revision of early volumes as well as the preparation of additional new ones. The Executive Secretary of the Association has secured the cooperation of the British Academy and the Royal Historical Society, and of the Mediaeval Academy of America (see AHR, October, 1956, p. 272).

RELATIONS WITH GERMAN HISTORIANS.

A second Conference of German and American historians was held in Brunswick, Germany, August 23-31, 1955. Plans for furthering and improving the teaching of American history in Germany and of German history in the United States were discussed (see AHR, April, 1956, pp. 817-19).

EUROPEAN ASSOCIATION FOR AMERICAN STUDIES.

The Newsletter of the EAAS, edited by Sigmund Skard and D. R. Wightman, is a significant report on the progress and extension of American studies in European universities. It covers developments in Austria, England, France, Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, and Norway. It includes a bibliography of recent publications, biographical sketches, suggested topics for research, and a "Project of a Union List of American Periodicals in European Libraries." Skard has in preparation a comprehensive report on American studies in Europe.

SCIENTIFIC AND CULTURAL HISTORY OF MANKIND.

Neither the ICHS nor the American Historical Association has any responsibility for this ambitious project of UNESCO. However, the general editor, Ralph Turner, and the editors of two of the five separate volumes, Louis R. Gottschalk and Caroline Ware, are American members of the Association, as are several advisers, including Martin R.P. McGuire, a member of this committee. As a result of UNESCO budgetary problems, the Department of State assembled a small conference of the American advisers on October 9, 1956. A brief report of this conference by McGuire follows:

All present felt that conferences such as that of October 9 should have been held at earlier stages of the project.

Adequate justification was given for the budget proposed by the commission in charge of the project. The problem largely concerned the reproduction of copies of the text of the History which are to be circulated for criticism. The discussion was very profitable because it was brought out that it would really be sufficient to send controversial portions of the text to a few recognized specialists in the field concerned (in addition to the commission members), care being taken that divergent points of view should receive a hearing.

It was our impression that Dr. Gottschalk and Miss Ware had their volumes in very good shape. They have profited much from the valuable studies which they suggested should be made and which have either been published in the Journal of World History, or have been submitted (in great profusion apparently) to that organ.

The question of whether various points of view should be adequately represented in the History was discussed in a frank but amicable fashion. In the unabridged work, at least, it seems to me that this problem can be handled in a fairly satisfactory manner.

The treatment of Central Europe, Russia, and the Near, Middle, and Far East seemed to the members of the group (conference of October 9) to be the biggest problem in the History, and now (November 14), the situation is infinitely worse. The two-volume and one-volume abridgements of the History present more serious problems in respect to presentation of different, even diametrically opposite, points of view.

Publication in English seems assured by 1958 or 1959.

All present favored the continued publication of the Journal of World History, at least until the History and its abridgements have been published.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE.

1. That the membership of the committee be strengthened by the addition of a specialist in Russian history.

2. That the American Historical Review maintain a special rubric, under "Historical News," for international historical activities, so that matters of the sort presented in the above report may be grouped together.

3. That budgetary provision be made for the attendance of the delegates of the Association (McKay and Shafer, or substitutes) to the Assembly of the ICHS in 1957.

4. That the possibility be explored, preferably in concert with other associations such as the constituent members of the American Council of Learned Societies and the Social Science Research Council, of securing funds to facilitate the personal participation of American scholars in scholarly congresses and other gatherings in foreign countries.

5. That the Bureau of the ICHS be invited to hold its 1958 meeting in the United States and that special funds be sought for the travel and expenses of foreign members of the Bureau in attending such a meeting. This is especially urged by the committee, in the belief that an invitation, so supported, to be presented to the Bureau in its next meeting, 1957, would be a valuable symbol of the interest of the American Historical Association in an organization in whose creation it had a leading part.

6. That the publications of the ICHS be made readily available in the United States through a selected agency and that they be formally advertised in the American Historical Review.

WALDO G. LELAND, Chairman.

THE AMERICAN COMMITTEE FOR THE STUDY OF WAR DOCUMENTS

The American Committee for the Study of War Documents held an organization meeting in Washington, D. C. on October 29, 1955, at which it discussed the basic aims of fostering full scholarly utilization of captured German documents, especially those held at Alexandria under the Department of the Army. An executive board was set up at this meeting; a chairman and treasurer were elected by the board, and chairmen of several subcommittees were appointed. In December Professor Hans Kohn became associate chairman.

In the course of the fall and early winter, the executive board decided that the committee could most effectively pursue its aims through affiliation with the AHA. A request for the acceptance of the executive board as a standing committee of the AHA was approved by the Council at the December meeting, and a full meeting of the committee was held on the last day of the AHA convention at Washington. At that time the committee adopted a constitution and by-laws. The relationship with the AHA has worked well; the support of the Association, particularly the personal interest of Dr. Ford and Dr. Shafer, has been of great help to the Committee.

The immediate problem was to secure funds to start the program. On April 27, the Ford Foundation granted $69,000 to help finance the initial work on the committee's plan to microfilm and edit German historical documents: $31,000 was assigned for filming documents at Alexandria, $24,000 for filming German Foreign Office material held at Whaddon Hall in England, $4,000 for preparation of a guide to available material (intended to bring up to date comparable information in the Guide to Captured German Documents prepared in 1952 by Fritz T. Epstein and Gerhard Weinberg), and $10,000 for educational, reporting, and administrative expenses.

A meeting of the executive board was held in Washington on May 26, and a meeting of the officers with Dr. Shafer and the chairmen of two subcommittees was held in New York on October 20.

The Alexandria project, inaugurated under the auspices of the Subcommittee on Microfilming (Professor E. M. Carroll, chairman), has been directed since early summer by Dr. Gerhard Weinberg. Its work consists of screening vast amounts of documents at the Departmental Record Branch, filming those selected, and preparing data sheets which indicate in usable form the contents of each set of frames. In Dr. Weinberg's quarterly report dated September 14, he states that some 1,000 linear feet out of an expected total of 5,900 linear feet had been screened, from these, 130,000 frames had been selected for filming, and by the end of October over 70 rolls of films would presumably have been sent to the National Archives, which will be the depository of the whole collection. The efficient cooperation of the DRB staff, and of officials of the Department of the Army and of the National Archives, has helped Dr. Weinberg with his small staff to handle successfully a very difficult operation. The screening and filming for which funds are available from our grant will continue into the spring. The experience and interest of Dr. Carroll (who has now been succeeded by Dr. Fritz Epstein) and the invaluable skill of Professor O. J. Hale in negotiations with government officials have contributed enormously to the success of this project.

For the Whaddon Hall documents, the Ford grant arrived literally in the nick of time, since plans had already been completed for the restitution of the Foreign Office material to Germany, and in fact the documents for the period before 1914 were shipped back during the summer. Thanks to the foundations laid for the project by Professor H. M. Ehrmann and to the cooperation of Messrs. Kent, Stambrook, and Faber at Whaddon Hall, the filming of the pre-1914 documents was completed in time. These include files on the following areas, none of which duplicate other filming programs: Welfenfonds, Prussia, Bavaria, Baden, Brunswick, Mecklenburg, Saxony, lesser German states, Portugal, Spain, Switzerland, the Vatican, Africa, the Boer War, British possessions in Asia, China, Japan, The Hague Peace Conferences, and the German Army and Navy. The executive board has decided that these films also will be deposited in the National Archives, and plans are now being made for the shipment of some 200 reels already on hand.

Under less pressure than in the summer, the filming of the 1914-1919 documents is now under way. These include, according to a note of Professor Ehrmann, the Grosses Hauptquartier files, only a small portion of which have been filmed, the files of diplomatic missions, Interzepte, Funksprüche, materials on the peace negotiations, the future of the occupied territories, and certain Nachlässe. Here greater selectivity will be possible and, because of our limited funds, necessary. The committee hopes to publish in several hundred copies a catalogue of the pre-1920 Foreign Office files, with serial references for films made of them, including other projects such as those of the University of California and the University of Michigan.

Work on the guide has been planned by Dr. G. W. F. Hallgarten, chairman of the subcommittee on research projects, with the advice and support of Dr. C. E. Rothwell of the Hoover Library, and it is expected that the guide will be published in the spring. If funds permit, a bulletin on research in progress, here and abroad, in this field, will be issued.

These are, in summary, the accomplishments of this committee so far. Other projects are being studied. We should like to have some sets of positive microfilms prepared for deposit in other centers in the United States and abroad. We should like to have a continuing research in progress bulletin issued. There is a strong expectation that further important documents will become available for reproduction at Alexandria, if the committee can secure funds to continue its existence and its activities after the current grant is exhausted. The significance of the documents already filmed for many aspects of German and European history, the making accessible of this material to American scholars and, it is expected, to scholars of other countries, the possibilities of interdisciplinary studies arising from the documents--for the committee believes that political scientists, economists, sociologists will find here material of very great value--all these add up to a substantial report of progress by the committee in its first year of existence.

The executive board includes Guy Stanton Ford, Reginald H. Phelps, Hans Kohn, Harold D. Lasswell, Sidney Wallach (as Executive Secretary, Mr. Wallach has efficiently handled a considerable bulk of administrative correspondence and detail), Lynn Case, Oron J. Hale, George W. F. Hallgarten, Koppel Pinson, William O. Shanahan, Raymond J. Sontag, and Boyd C. Shafer, ex officio. C. J. Friedrich and C. E. Rothwell were added to the board during the summer. The chairmen of the subcommittees are Oron J. Hale, Fritz Epstein (who succeeded E. Malcolm Carroll), George W. F. Hallgarten, Hans Kohn, Walter L. Dorn, and James P. Baxter. President Baxter resigned in October, and no successor has been appointed. The Committee at present has fifty-three members.

November 6, 1956.

REGINALD H. PHELPS, Chairman.

THE COMMITTEE ON TEACHING

The membership of the Committee on Teaching was the same as that for the preceding year with one exception: Arthur E. Bestor resigned on leaving for England where he is Harmsworth Professor of American History at Oxford University for 1956-57. He was replaced by Clement Eaton of the University of Kentucky.

At the December, 1955, meeting of the Council of the American Historical Association, the Committee on Teaching reported that the Ford Foundation had granted sufficient funds to carry out its proposed program for a Service Center for Teachers for three years. The Council authorized the committee to proceed in the selection of a director and the establishment of the Service Center. In January, 1956, after careful consideration of a large number of candidates, Dr. George Barr Carson of the University of Chicago was chosen by the committee as director.

On April 13, the committee met in Washington and discussed with Dr. Carson arrangements for the inauguration of the Service Center's activities. It was decided that the Service Center should be accommodated in the building being bought by the Association for its general headquarters, and several projects were proposed for early action. Top priority was given to the preparation of an annotated bibliography of books for high school libraries, a list of books in history, narrative and descriptive, suitable for high school use and recognized by professional historians as authoritative. This is to be followed as soon as possible by a series of pamphlets that will review recent historical writing and new interpretations in the various fields of history which normally make up the high school program.

During the summer Dr. Carson moved to Washington and set up his offices in the general offices of the Association. He arranged for the preparation of the annotated list under the direction of Dr. Margareta Faissler, to be distributed as a guide for high school teachers interested in readings for the pupils. With the help of the committee he is gathering names for a panel of consultants. He has available for distribution a brief statement of the objectives and services of the Center.

Dr. Carson met with a number of organized groups during the year to discuss ways of furthering the Center's program to help improve standards of history teaching. These groups included the National Society of College Teachers of Education during the meeting of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education held at Chicago in February, the National Association of State Directors of Teacher Education and Certification in June at Parkland, Washington, the Conference on History sponsored by Northwestern University and the Advanced Placement Program of the College Entrance Examination Board at Evanston, Illinois, in June, two sessions at the annual meeting of the National Council for Social Studies in Cleveland in November. Many individuals were also consulted.

The committee met again on November 3 for the purpose of hearing a report on progress and advising the director. The distribution of the material to be published by the Service Center will be facilitated by the cordial cooperation of the National Council for the Social Studies, which has a much more extensive membership among secondary school teachers than the American Historical Association. A partial list of consultants, who will be available, upon requests from schools, to discuss problems of content or revisions in courses in history, was prepared. Arrangements will be made by the Service Center with any interested group to provide a professional historian for consultation in any problem involving the teaching of history in the schools.

OTHER REPORTS

REPORT OF THE DELEGATE TO THE AMERICAN COUNCIL OF LEARNED SOCIETIES

As soon as the American Council of Learned Societies has an adequate income, it can resume many of the operations which have been suspended or carried on in low gear during the last year or so. But for the past twelve months, the ACLS has done little more than stay alive and preserve its committee structure. It appears that the extreme financial stringency of the preceding year has been somewhat relieved and that prospects for the coming year are better.

I have also received a number of comments on the scheme, which was tried for the first time last year, of holding public sessions on topics of general interest at the annual meeting of the ACLS. The general impression is that this first effort was not a success and that very little was said which was either noteworthy or newsworthy. It is not fair to pass judgment after one effort; perhaps this technique of attracting public attention to the humanities will work better in the future.

REPORT OF THE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE OF HISTORICAL SCIENCES

A review of the Tenth International Congress of Historical Sciences (Rome, 1955) and preparations for the Eleventh Congress (Stockholm, 1960) and for the intervening General Assembly (Moscow-Leningrad, 1957) of the International Committee of Historical Sciences (ICHS) were principal items on the agenda of the ICHS Bureau at its meeting in Madrid on May 26-28, 1956. The ten persons who took part in the meeting were President Federico Chabod, Vice-Presidents Sir Charles Webster and Nils Ahnlund, Secretary General Michel François, Treasurer Louis Junod; membres assessseurs Mme. A. M. Pankratova and Gerhard Ritter, membres conseillers Halvdan Koht and Robert Fawtier, and substituting for membre assessseur Donald C. McKay, who was unable to attend for reasons of health, Arthur P. Whitaker. The following members also were absent for a variety of reasons: I. J. Brugmans, Waldo G. Leland, Hans Nabholz, and Heinrich Schmid.

Discussion of the approaching Stockholm Congress was based upon recommendations on that subject, together with comments on last year's Rome Congress, submitted separately by each of the national committees in eighteen of the countries participating in the latter congress. (One of the eighteen was the United States, whose national committee consists of the American Historical Association's Committee on International Historical Activities under the chairmanship of Waldo G. Leland.) These comments and recommendations were presented to the Bureau in the form of a topically organized summary prepared by the Secretary General. While many details were left for settlement at the General Assembly in 1957, the following decisions were reached: The Stockholm Congress is to be held in the latter half of August, 1960, and is to be of the same duration as the Rome Congress, and of the same general type, though the national committees will be urged to screen program proposals more rigorously and the Bureau will exercise closer control over the program and greater care in the selection of session chairmen and will provide the latter with detailed instructions and briefing. The preparation of the program will be formally initiated in October, 1956, by a circular letter from the Secretary General to all the national committees and other ICHS members and to certain individual scholars, inviting them to submit detailed proposals for consideration at the General Assembly in 1957. This General Assembly will be held in June, preferably June 14-18, and it will divide its time about equally between Moscow and Leningrad. The member from the Soviet Union, Mme. Pankratova, announced that her government will pay the living expenses (frais de séjour) of all delegates and also the cost of their transportation between Moscow and Leningrad. It was estimated that the total number of delegates will come close to one hundred.

Among the actions of the Bureau on other subjects, one of the most important was the policy decision to develop the role of the national committees in the ICHS and to prevent the proliferation of its other members, such as affiliated international organizations, and to maintain a close watch over their activities by the Bureau. Steps were taken to encourage the broadening of the base of one such organization, in the field of Renaissance studies, which had already been admitted at the Rome Congress.

The treasurer's report showed a normally healthy condition, though additional funds are urgently needed for an expansion of ICHS activities. Proposals for an increase of dues were rejected on policy grounds, and a proposal for an increase in International Congress registration fees was favorably received but referred to the next General Assembly for action. As regards ICHS publications, it was decided to continue the Bibliographie internationale des sciences historiques, despite its relatively high cost and, as an alternative to the proposed founding of a Revue internationale d'histoire, to expand the present periodical, Bulletin d'information. Among organizational matters, one that was discussed at length was the filling of the new Bureau seat created at the Rome Congress, but final action on this question now rests with the General Assembly.

The Bureau's Spanish hosts provided excellent quarters for its meetings at the Consejo de Investigaciones Superiores, Calle Serrano 117. Entertainment included receptions, by the Real Academia de la Historia and Sra. Doña Mercedes Gailbrois de Ballesteros, and visits to the Palacio Real and the Escorial, at which latter place the members were honored with a luncheon given by the Diputación Provincial de Madrid. This hospitality helped to make their stay in Madrid a pleasant one for the members despite the weather, which was cold and wet. From a business point of view, too, the meeting was a decided success, thanks largely to careful preparation by Secretary General François and to the skill of the chairman, President Chabod.

ARTHUR P. WHITAKER,
(for Donald C. McKay)

As the above report indicates, the Stockholm Congress of 1960 will once more have a series of "Reports" as one of the central elements in its program. These will, as before, be published and will be distributed to the delegates some months in advance of the Congress. They are to deal with subjects of large historical interest; will, in numerous cases, it is hoped, cut across conventional historical fields; and will deal preferably with problems of interpretation. They are not in any case to be merely bibliographical. Their general nature is indicated in the report on the Rome Congress of 1955 (American Historical Review, January, 1956, pp. 504-11). Interested members of the American Historical Association are urged to suggest suitable subjects for reports for the Congress of 1960 and the names of historians in the United States or abroad who are particularly suited to prepare such reports. The reports are in every case to be the responsibility of a single rapporteur, although the team principle is not excluded and may be particularly useful if such a group is present in one university or in one community. Suggestions should be sent to Donald C. McKay, 100 Woodside Avenue, Amherst, Mass., not later than January 1, 1957, and will be considered at a February meeting of the Committee on International Historical Activities, previous to being forwarded, for final action, to the Bureau of the International Committee of Historical Sciences, which meets in June, 1957, in Moscow.

October, 1956. DONALD C. MCKAY.

REPORT OF THE REPRESENTATIVE ON THE JOINT ANGLO-AMERICAN COMMITTEE ON BRITISH BIBLIOGRAPHY

After the grant from the Ford Foundation was confirmed, the Joint Anglo-American Committee on British Bibliographies met in May at the offices of the Royal Historical Society. All members of the committee were present except Professor Lunt, and in addition, Professor Bellot and Mr. Greaves attended. The Committee approved the selection of Professor Conyers Read to make a revision of the Tudor volume. Funds have been allotted to him for the purpose by an arrangement which leaves the authorization of payments from the grant to the chairman of the committee, whose task it is to see that individual editors do not exceed their budgets. During the summer, the committee approved, by mail, the selection of Professor Edgar B. Graves as editor of the Mediaeval volume, following the recommendation of a subcommittee of the Gross Committee, Professor Sidney Painter, chairman. Professor Graves was notified in July of his appointment and has begun work. Certain questions about the treatment of local history were raised with the committee and with Professors Read and Graves, and some preliminary decisions were reached. At the moment, the committee is taking steps to select editors for the other three volumes. The committee has authorized payment from the grant to the Royal Historical Society for the production of Writings on British History, 1901-1933.

REPORT OF THE REPRESENTATIVE ON THE EVANS PROJECT (BIBLIOGRAPHY)

Professor Ralph B. Shaw of Rutgers University reports that he has "about 30,000 slips for the period 1801-1819." He also reports: "In summary it looks as though the first volume covering 1801 through 1805 should be ready around the fall of 1957, and that the second volume covering 1806 through 1809 should follow closely after that." It seems to me that Professor Shaw is doing very well.

REPORT OF THE DELEGATE TO THE NATIONAL COUNCIL FOR THE SOCIAL STUDIES

Social Education has continued this year to maintain a wholesome balance between articles dealing with curriculum and methods and those concerned with history and the social sciences as such. The editor should be particularly congratulated for the special October issue devoted to the election process and for his successful efforts to make room in his magazine for the ancient world and the Far East. The difficulty of editing a periodical designed for teachers of the social sciences on four educational levels is great, but Social Education continues to prove that the difficulty can be overcome.

REPORT OF THE REPRESENTATIVE TO THE NATIONAL HISTORICAL PUBLICATIONS COMMISSION

The National Historical Publications Commission, charged by Congress with responsibility for planning and recommending documentary historical publications to be undertaken by the government and for cooperating with and encouraging other organizations and individuals in collecting, preserving, and publishing documents important for the history of the United States, held a meeting on January 10 and considered various aspects of its work. The following is a summary of the work of the commission and its staff during the year:

1. Work on the Guide to Depositories of Archives and Manuscripts has continued to be the major activity of the commission's staff. A rechecking of our estimates indicates that the volume, exclusive of index, will amount to some 600 pages if we use type and pages of the same size as the Guide to the Records in the National Archives (1948). Assuming that the work progresses at the same average rate as it has for the past eight months, compilation of copy will be completed in January, 1957. We believe that marking copy for the printer and other technical editing can be completed and copy sent to the printer by the end of March. If the printer does his work expeditiously, the volume ought to come from the press in the fall of 1957, certainly before the end of the year. The volume will provide information about the holdings of some 1,400 depositories.

2. The 1952 volume of Writings on American History is in press and is expected to be ready for distribution early in 1957.

3. As regards the commission's projects for documentary histories of the Ratification of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights and the work of the First Federal Congress, the work of searching for pertinent documents and obtaining copies of them, of making typed transcripts of materials previously assembled, and of assembling a complete file of copies of published and unpublished debates has proceeded systematically.

4. On October 1 the project for the publication of the papers of James Madison formally went into operation as a joint undertaking of the University of Chicago and the University of Virginia. It is financed by grants from the Ford Foundation and the Rockefeller Foundation and an appropriation by the Virginia legislature. The editors are Leonard D. White and William T. Hutchinson representing the University of Chicago, and William M. E. Rachal representing the University of Virginia. Thus, within about five and a half years after the commission recommended the publication of comprehensive and scholarly editions of the papers of five great leaders of the early period of our national history--Benjamin Franklin, John Adams, James Madison, Alexander Hamilton, and John Quincy Adams--provision has been made for projects to publish the papers of all five.

5. The commission was represented by its executive director at the meeting of the Third International Congress on Archives in Florence, Italy, in September. At this conference and in the course of visits to libraries and archival agencies in England, France, Switzerland, and Italy, information was assembled for a report on major European projects for the publication of historical documents.

PACIFIC COAST BRANCH
OF THE AMERICAN

PROCEEDINGS OF THE FORTY-NINTH ANNUAL MEETING

The forty-ninth meeting of the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association was held at the University of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon, December 27-29, 1956. More than 150 people attended in spite of the difficulties of weather and transportation and the attraction of the national meeting in St. Louis. The program was arranged by Donald E. Emerson of the University of Washington and a committee whose members included Louis De Armond, William S. Greever, David E. Miller, Armin Rappaport, F. H. Soward, and Gordon Wright. Local arrangements were handled by Robert W. Smith, chairman, Edwin R. Bingham, and John E. Selby.

Many of the sessions were concerned with the traditional problems of pushing the historical frontier ever forward. There were panels on England, the United States, Latin America, and Continental Europe. At two sessions questions raised by science, religion, and labor as power forces in society were analyzed. The Thursday evening session was devoted to history and the behavioral sciences with A. L. Kroeber, Seymour M. Lipset, and Leonard Krieger giving papers, while Karl M. Deutsch and Stull W. Holt acted as commentators.

At the annual dinner on Friday evening, the President, Rev. Peter J. Dunne, S. J., spoke dramatically and well upon his favorite theme, "The Renaissance and Reformation, A Study in Objectivity: Legends in Black and White." The audience sensed this might be Father Dunne's last public address, for he was fighting a losing battle against cancer and died twenty days later.

The annual business meeting, with President Dunne presiding, convened at nine o'clock Saturday morning. Reports from the secretary-treasurer and the managing editor of the Pacific Historical Review were presented. On behalf of the board of editors, Earl Pomeroy announced the reelection of John W. Caughey as managing editor for 1957, and of August Frugé as business manager.

The secretary-treasurer announced that Branch membership is slowly increasing and that totals for the last few years varied from 725 to 770. Actual membership in 1956 is 761. Again, with nearly two thirds of the total membership, California has more members than all other western states combined.

The Committee on Resolutions (W. Stull Holt, chairman, Douglass Adair, and Walter C. Hucul) offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

"That the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association express its thanks to the Program Committee under the chairmanship of Donald E. Emerson for the stimulating and well-planned sessions prepared for the 1956 meeting.

"That the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association express its grateful thanks to the University of Oregon, and to the Committee on Local Arrangements, and its chairman Robert W. Smith, for the warm hospitality and efficient organization of the 1956 meeting.

"That the Branch express its sincere sense of loss at the death of Professor Robert J. Kerner of the University of California at Berkeley, who served as President of this organization in 1947 and always gave to it his devoted support, Professor Kerner was a pioneer in research in his chosen field, an able scholar, and an influential teacher.

"That the Branch express its deep sense of loss at the death of Professor Dan E. Clark of the University of Oregon. Long an active member of the Pacific Coast Branch and its President in 1931, his absence from our meetings will be keenly felt."

The report of the Committee on Nominations (Carl Brand, chairman, Wilbur Jacobs, James Ragland, Andrew Rolle, and Herbert J. Wood) was submitted, and the officers and councilors were unanimously elected: Max Savelle, president; John W. Caughey, vice-president; John A. Schutz, secretary-treasurer; and, for three-year terms to the council: William Greever, Wilbur Jacobs, and T. A. Larson.

President Dunne announced that the Council had decided to transfer two hundred dollars from its general fund into the Louis Knott Koontz Fund, thus insuring a continuation of the award offered yearly. He expressed the hope that more members of the association will subscribe to the Pacific Historical Review and encourage their colleagues and students to become members of the American Historical Association.

The President announced that the 1956 award of the Branch was given to Dr. Betty Unterberger, of the Liberal Arts Center, Whittier College, for her book, America's Siberian Expedition, 1918-1920 (Duke University Press, 1956). The Louis Knott Koontz Memorial Award for 1956 was given to Leonard J. Arrington of Utah State Agricultural College for his article in the Pacific Historical Review, "The Mormon Colton Mission in Southern Utah."

The program chairman for 1957 is Professor Raymond Muse of the State College of Washington.

ACT OF INCORPORATION

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That Andrew D. White, of Ithaca, in the State of New York; George Bancroft, of Washington, in the District of Columbia; Justin Winsor, of Cambridge, in the State of Massachusetts; William F. Poole, of Chicago, in the State of Illinois; Herbert B. Adams of Baltimore, in the State of Maryland; Clarence W. Bowen, of Brooklyn, in the State of New York, their associates and successors, are hereby created, in the District of Columbia, a body corporate and politic by the name of the American Historical Association, for the promotion of historical studies, the collection and preservation of historical manuscripts, and for kindred purposes in the interest of American history, and of history in America. Said Association is authorized to hold real and personal estate in the District of Columbia as far as may be necessary to its lawful ends, to adopt a constitution, and make bylaws not inconsistent with law. Said Association shall have its principal office at Washington, in the District of Columbia, and may hold its annual meetings in such places as the said incorporators shall determine. Said Association shall report annually to the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, concerning its proceedings and the condition of historical study in America. Said Secretary shall communicate to Congress the whole of such report, or such portions thereof as he shall see fit. The Regents of the Smithsonian Institution are authorized to permit said Association to deposit its collections, manuscripts, books, pamphlets, and other material for history in the Smithsonian Institution or in the National Museum, at their discretion, upon such conditions and under such rules as they shall prescribe.

The real property situated in Square 817, in the city of Washington, District of Columbia, described as lot 23, owned, occupied, and used by the American Historical Association, is exempt from all taxation so long as the same is so owned and occupied, and not used for commercial purposes, subject to the provisions of sections 2, 3, and 5 of the Act entitled, "An Act to define the real property exempt from taxation in the District of Columbia", approved December 24, 1942.

[Approved, January 4, 1889 and amended July 3, 1957.]

ORGANIZATION AND ACTIVITIES

THE ASSOCIATION

The American Historical Association, incorporated by Act of Congress in 1889, is defined by its charter to be: A body corporate and politic . . . for the promotion of historical studies, the collection and preservation of historical manuscripts, and for kindred purposes in the interests of American history and of history in America.

It is a society not only for scholars, though it has for the last half century included in its membership the outstanding historical scholars in America, not only for educators, though it has included the great American teachers of history, but also for every man and woman who is interested in the study of history in America. Its most generous benefactors have been nonprofessionals who love history for its own sake and who wish to spread that love of history to a wider and wider circle.

LEADERSHIP

Among those who have labored as members and later served it also as President, the American Historical Association can list such distinguished names as George Bancroft, Justin Winsor, Henry Adams, James Ford Rhodes, Alfred Thayer Mahan, Henry C. Lea, John Bach McMaster, Frederick Jackson Turner, Theodore Roosevelt, Edward Channing, Woodrow Wilson, J. Franklin Jameson, Charles M. Andrews, James H. Breasted, James Harvey Robinson, Michael Rostovtzeff, Carl L. Becker, and Charles A. Beard.

ANNUAL MEETING

It meets in the Christmas week at a different place each year to accommodate in turn members living in different parts of the country. The attendance at these meetings has been increasing steadily. In recent years registration has varied from 1,500 to 2,450. The formal programs of these meetings include important contributions to every field of historical scholarship, many of which are subsequently printed.

PUBLICATIONS

The publications of the Association are many and their scope is wide.

The Annual Report, usually in two or more volumes, is printed for the Association by the United States Government. It contains the Proceedings of the Association, as well as bibliographies and guides to materials. The American Historical Review, published quarterly and distributed free to all members of the Association, is the recognized organ of the historical profession in America. It prints authoritative articles and critical reviews of new books in all fields of history. The Association also cooperates with the National Council for the Social Studies in the publication of Social Education, one of the most important journals in America dealing with the problems of history teaching in the schools.

Besides these periodical publications, the Association controls a revolving fund out of which it publishes from time to time historical monographs selected from the whole field of history. It has as well three separate endowment funds, the income from which is devoted to the publication of historical studies. The Albert J. Beveridge Fund of $100,000 was established as a memorial to the late Senator Beveridge by his wife, Catherine Beveridge, and a large group of his friends in Indiana. The income from this fund is applied to the publication of historical monographs. The Littleton-Griswold Fund was established by Alice Griswold in memory of her father, William E. Littleton, and of her husband, Frank T. Griswold. The income from this fund, the principal of which amounts to $35,000, is applied to the publication of material relative to the legal history of the United States in the colonial period. The Matteson Fund, now amounting to approximately $94,000, was willed to the Association by the late David M. Matteson. The income from this fund may be used only for bibliographies and indexes.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The Association from time to time, through special committees, interests itself actively in promoting the sound teaching of history in the schools. It has done much and is doing more to collect and preserve historical manuscripts in public and private repositories.

The Association maintains close relations with state and local historical societies and with the federal government. It has also organized a Pacific Coast Branch for members living in the Far West.

SOURCES OF SUPPORT

The American Historical Association is in a position to do significant and useful work, not only in the advancement of learning but also in the dissemination of knowledge. It commands the resources of the learned historians, but it also recognizes the necessity of bringing the fruits of learning to the average American. It needs to be supported. Its capital funds, amounting to over $600,000 are carefully managed by a Board of Trustees composed of men prominent in the world of finance. But much of the income is earmarked for special publications. For its broader educational purposes it has to depend chiefly upon its membership dues. It has about 7,000 members.

MEMBERSHIP

The American Historical Association welcomes to its membership anyone who subscribes to its purposes. There is no initiation fee. The annual membership, including subscription to the American Historical Review, is $7.50, and student membership is $4.00. The life membership is $150. Inquiries about any phase of its activities may be addressed to the Executive Secretary of the Association, 400 A Street, S. E., Washington 3, D. C.

PRIZES

The Association offers the following prizes:

The Herbert Baxter Adams Prize of $300 is awarded biennially in the even-numbered years for a monograph (first or second book), in manuscript or in print, in the field of European history.

The George Louis Beer Prize of $300 is awarded annually for the best work (first or second book) on any phase of European international history since 1895. Competition is limited to citizens of the United States and to works in the English language. A work may be submitted either in manuscript or in print.

The John H. Dunning Prize of about $140 is awarded biennially in the even-numbered years for a monograph, either in print or in manuscript, on any subject relating to American history. Eligibility of printed works submitted in competition for this prize shall be limited to books printed within 2 years and 5 months prior to June 1 of the year in which the award is made. Entries are restricted to "first books" or unpublished manuscripts and preference given to those of younger scholars.

The Watumull Prize of $500 is awarded biennially (next award 1958) for the best book originally published in the United States on any phase of the history of India.

The Robert Livingston Schuyler Prize of $100 is awarded every 5 years to the author of the best work of scholarship published during the preceding 5-year period in the field of modern British and British Imperial and Commonwealth history since the beginning of the reign of Elizabeth exclusive of American colonial history before 1783. The author must be an American citizen, and the books must have been originally published in the United States. The prize is made possible by the Tarakanth Das Foundation (next award 1961).

All works submitted in competition for the above prizes must be in the hands of the proper committee by June 1 of the year in which the award is made. The date of publication of printed monographs submitted in competition must fall within a period of 2-1/2 years prior to June 1 of the year in which the prize is awarded.

The Albert J. Beveridge Award, established at the annual meeting in 1945, is awarded annually for the best complete original manuscript on American history. By American history is meant the history of the United States, Latin America, and Canada. The fellowship has a cash value of $1,000, plus a royalty of 5 per cent after cost of publication has been met. The winning manuscript in each annual competition is published without cost to the author in the series of Beveridge Fund publications; other manuscripts also may be so published at the discretion of the committee on the Albert J. Beveridge Award, which is charged with the administration of the fellowship. The deadline for the submission of applications and manuscripts is May 1.

The Moses Coit Tyler Prize of $1,500 plus publication of the manuscript is offered biennially in the odd-numbered years for the best unpublished work in American intellectual history. The Cornell University Press gives the funds for the prize and publishes the manuscript. By American intellectual history is meant the history of agencies of intellectual life, movements of thought, and the biographies of intellectual leaders, in the geographical area comprising the United States, from 1607 to the present.

CONSTITUTION

ARTICLE I

SECTION 1. The name of this society shall be the American Historical Association.

ARTICLE II

SECTION 1. Its object shall be the promotion of historical studies.

ARTICLE III

SECTION 1. Any person approved by the Council may become an active member of the Association. Active membership shall date from the receipt by the Treasurer of the first payment of dues, which shall be $7.50 a year or a single payment of $150 for life. Life membership is given members who have belonged to the Association for fifty years. Any graduate or undergraduate student registered in a college or university may become a junior member of the Association upon payment of $4 and after the first year may continue as such, as long as he is registered as a student, by paying the annual dues of $4. Annual dues shall be payable at the beginning of the year to which they apply and any member whose dues are in arrears for 1 year may, 1 month after the mailing of a notice of such delinquency of his last known address, be dropped from the rolls by vote of the Council or the Executive Committee. Members who have been so dropped may be reinstated at any time by the payment of 1 year's dues in advance. Only active members shall have the right to vote or to hold office in the Association. Persons not resident in the United States may be elected by the Council as honorary or corresponding members, and such members shall be exempt from payment of dues.

ARTICLE IV

SECTION 1. The officers shall be a President, a Vice President, a Treasurer, an Executive Secretary, a Managing Editor of The American Historical Review, and, at the discretion of the Council, an Editor and an Assistant Secretary-Treasurer.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of the Executive Secretary, under the direction of the Council, to promote historical scholarship in America through the agencies of the Association. He shall exercise general oversight over the affairs of the Association, supervise the work of its committees, formulate policies for presentation to the Council, execute its policies and perform such other duties as the Council may from time to time direct.

SEC. 3. The other officers of the Association shall have such duties and perform such functions as are customarily attached to their respective offices or as may from time to time be prescribed by the Council.

SEC. 4. The President, Vice President, and Treasurer shall be elected in the following manner. The Nominating Committee at such convenient time prior to the 1st of September as it may determine shall invite each member of the Association to indicate his or her nominee for each of these offices. With these suggestions in mind, it shall draw up a ballot of nominations which it shall mail to each member of the Association on or before the 1st of December, and which it shall distribute as the official ballot at the Annual Business Meeting. It shall present to this meeting orally any other nominations for these offices petitioned for to the Chairman of the Committee at least one day before the Business Meeting and supported by the names of 20 voting members of the Association. The election shall be made from these nominations at the Business Meeting.

SEC. 5. The Executive Secretary, the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, the Managing Editor of The American Historical Review, and the Editor shall be appointed by the Council for specified terms of office not to exceed 3 years, and shall be eligible for re-appointment. They shall receive such compensation as the Council may determine.

SEC. 6. If the office of President shall, through any cause, become vacant, the Vice President shall thereupon become President.

ARTICLE V

SECTION 1. There shall be a Council, constituted as follows:

(a) The President, the Vice President, the Executive Secretary, the Treasurer, and the Managing Editor of The American Historical Review.

(b) Elected members, eight in number, chosen by ballot in the manner provided in Article VI, Section 2. These members shall be elected for a term of 4 years; two to be elected each year, except in the case of elections to complete unexpired terms.

(c) The former Presidents, but a former President shall be entitled to vote for the 3 years succeeding the expiration of his term as President, and no longer.

SEC. 2. The Council shall conduct the business, manage the property, and care for the general interests of the Association. In the exercise of its proper functions, the Council may appoint such committees, commissions, and boards as it may deem necessary. The Council shall make a full report of its activities to the Annual Meeting of the Association. The Association may by vote at any Annual Meeting instruct the Council to discontinue or enter upon any activity, and may take such other action directing the affairs of the Association as it may deem necessary and proper.

SEC. 3. For the transaction of necessary business when the Council is not in session, the Council shall elect annually from its membership an Executive Committee of not more than six members which shall include the Executive Secretary and the Treasurer. Subject always to the general direction of the Council, the Executive Committee shall be responsible for the management of Association interests and the carrying out of Association policies.

ARTICLE VI

SECTION 1. There shall be a Nominating Committee to consist of five members, each of whom shall serve a term of 2 years. In the odd-numbered years, two new members shall be elected; in the even-numbered years, three; this alteration shall continue except in the case of elections to complete unexpired terms. If vacancies on the Nominating Committee occur between the time of the Annual Elections, the Nominating Committee shall fill them by direct ad interim appointments.

SEC. 2. Elective members of the Council and members of the Nominating Committee shall be chosen as follows: The Nominating Committee shall present for each vacant membership on the Council and on the Nominating Committee 2 or more names, including the names of any person who may be nominated by a petition carrying the signatures of 20 or more voting members of the Association. Nominations by petition must be in the hands of the Chairman of the Nominating Committee by November 1st. The Nominating Committee shall present these nominations to the members of the Association in the ballot distributed by mail as described above. The members of the Association shall take their choice from among these nominations and return their ballots for counting not later than the 20th of December at 6 p.m. No vote received after that time shall be valid. The votes shall be counted and checked in such manner as the Nominating Committee shall prescribe and shall then be sealed in a box and deposited in the Washington office of the Association where they shall be kept for at least a year. The results of the election shall be announced at the Annual Business Meeting. In case of a tie, choice shall be made at the Annual Business Meeting from among the candidates receiving the highest equal vote.

ARTICLE VII

SECTION 1. There shall be a Board of Trustees, five in number, consisting of a chairman and four other members, nominated by the Council and elected at the Annual Meeting of the Association. Election shall be for a term of 5 years except in the case of an election to complete an unexpired term. The Board of Trustees, acting by a majority thereof, shall have the power to invest and reinvest the permanent funds of the Association with authority to employ such agents, investment counsel, and banks or trust companies as it may deem wise in carrying out its duties, and with further authority to delegate and transfer to any bank or trust company all its power to invest or reinvest; neither the Board of Trustees nor any bank or trust company to whom it may so transfer its power shall be controlled in its discretion by any statute or other law applicable to fiduciaries and the liability of the individual members of the board and of any such bank or trust company shall be limited to good faith and lack of actual fraud or willful misconduct in the discharge of the duties resting upon them.

ARTICLE VIII

SECTION 1. Amendments to this Constitution may be proposed by a majority vote of any regular business session of the Association or by a majority vote of the Council and may be adopted by a majority vote of the next regular business session, provided always that the proposed amendment and an explanation thereof shall have been circulated to the membership of the Association not less than 20 days preceding the date of the business session at which the final vote is to be taken. It shall be the duty of the Executive Secretary to arrange for the distribution of all such proposed amendments among the members of the Association.

PROCEEDINGS
AMERICAN HISTORICAL
1957

MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF THE COUNCIL OF
HOTEL STATLER, NEW YORK CITY,

DECEMBER 27, 1957, 10:00 A.M.

Present: William L. Langer, President; Walter Prescott Webb, Vice-President; Solon J. Buck, Treasurer; Boyd C. Shafer, Executive Secretary; Carl Bridenbaugh, Walter L. Dorn, James B. Hedges, Helen Taft Manning, Robert R. Palmer, Stanley Pargellis, C. Vann Woodward, Councillors; Merle Curti, Dexter Perkins, former Presidents.

President Langer called the meeting to order.

The Council approved the minutes of its 1956 meeting as published in the April, 1957, issue of the American Historical Review (pp. 781-88).

As the report of the Executive Secretary and Managing Editor of the Review had been previously sent to the members of the Council, it was not read. The Executive Secretary reported an increase in membership of 447 during the past year, bringing the total membership to over 7,000. He pointed to the increasing mechanical difficulties in headquarters' work arising out of the increase in membership as well as out of the frequent changes of addresses of members (over fifteen per cent a year).

The Treasurer of the Association, Dr. Solon J. Buck, reported on the financial condition of the Association for the fiscal year 1956-57. The total assets, including special and restricted funds for several projects, totaled $860,000. Approval of the mimeographed report previously sent to each member of the Council was unanimously given.

Reporting as the chairman of the Finance Committee, Dr. Buck asked approval of the proposed budgets for 1957-58 and 1958-59. The budgets were approved with these additions: The sum of $2,450 was allowed for printing of the Program instead of the original $2,200 as provided by the tentative proposed budgets for 1957-58 and 1958-59. The Council allotted $200 additional beyond the proposed sums for each of the two years for meetings of the Council and committees. The Council approved additional sums spent during 1956-57 for social security for employees and for payments to the Macmillan Company for copies of the Review sent to members. In order to eliminate certain inequities in payments under previous rulings, the Council voted to change the allotments for meetings of the Council and Board of Editors. For attendance at their regular annual meetings, members of the Council and Board of Editors may obtain expenses to include: (1) one half travel expenses (including meals and accommodations while traveling); (2) one day's expenses at headquarters hotel, including room and board; providing that no member receives compensation for expenses not actually incurred, or otherwise covered by payments from any agency (or institution), and that the total sum allowed to any one member for all expenses not exceed $150.

For the Pacific Coast Branch, Professor Solomon Katz of the University of Washington reported to the Council. He indicated that the Branch now has over 800 members and that this year its annual program included twenty-two sessions. He also remarked that the finances of the Branch were in good condition and that at the moment the Branch has a balance of $619. The Council accepted the report. (See page 47.)

The Executive Secretary, for the Committee on Committees, submitted nominations to the Council for additions and changes on the various Association committees. These were approved by the Council.

The Executive Secretary drew particular attention to the reorganization of the Committee for the Study of War Documents, which followed Council action of last year, and to the reorganization and a new procedure of the Harmsworth Committee. The Council approved the reorganization of the two above-mentioned committees.

The Executive Secretary brought to the Council a report of the ad hoc Committee on Prizes and Awards (Solon J. Buck, Guy Stanton Ford, Richard Shryock, Boyd C. Shafer). The Council accepted the report with minor amendments. A summary of the report as amended follows:

The Herbert Baxter Adams Prize. The prize sum was increased to $300, and the award is to be given preferably to a first book and in no case to a book beyond the second by any scholar.

The George Louis Beer Prize. The value of the prize will be increased to $300 annually, and the prize will be awarded only to young scholars for a first or second book.

The Albert J. Beveridge Award. No change was deemed desirable except that manuscripts submitted must be less than 150,000 words.

The John H. Dunning Prize. This prize will be withheld in 1960 in order to increase the capital available. A decision will be made in 1960 on renewal of the prize and an increase in its monetary value.

The Robert Livingston Schuyler Prize. The Executive Secretary was asked to examine the possibility of increasing the prize fund and of offering the prize at more frequent intervals. He is to correspond with the Conference on British Studies on these matters.

For the future the Council approved a statement of policy concerning prizes and awards:

"The prizes and awards of the American Historical Association have through the years brought honor both to the recipients and to the donor. They have stimulated significant and fruitful work in history. They have rewarded scholars who have accomplished major research and, in many cases, enabled publication of the results.

"The work of the prize and award committees of the Association has been of great value to the profession. At the same time, these committees have had to perform extraordinary, often tedious, and prolonged duties.

"The Association believes that its prizes and awards will continue to bring deserved honor to the recipients. It believes also that the prizes and awards should be of sufficient size to warrant the efforts of its committees. As a matter of policy, the Association should decline any new prize or award which does not by endowment equal at least $500 biennially, and it prefers prizes and awards which, like the Beveridge Award, enable publication of significant work."

The Council considered the status of the Revolving Fund for Publication of the American Historical Association. Because the fund now contains only $2,000, the Council decided that no publication should be financed from it during the year. It is hoped that the Committee on Publication of the American Council of Learned Societies will have taken action on publication problems during the year.

The Council confirmed the appointment of Professor Mason Hammond of Harvard and of President Lynn White of Mills College to the Board of Editors.

The Council agreed to the nomination of Thomas Parkinson of New York City to the Board of Trustees. It reelected Louis Gottschalk of the University of Chicago as delegate to the Social Science Research Council and Guy Stanton Ford as its delegate to the National Historical Publications Commission.

The Executive Secretary informed the Council of the dates and places of meeting for 1958 (Washington, D. C., The Mayflower, December 28-30) and 1959 (Chicago, Illinois, The Conrad Hilton, December 28-30). After considerable discussion, the Council decided that in 1960 the annual meeting should again be held in New York. The Council approved of Cyril E. Black, Princeton, as Program Chairman for 1958, and of Myron Koenig [later replaced by Richard Haskett], George Washington University, as Local Arrangements Chairman for 1958.

The Council reaffirmed its decision to increase the size of the staff at Association headquarters.

On the various special projects of the Association, the Executive Secretary summarized the work accomplished thus far. The Service Center for Teachers of History, he pointed out, had published five pamphlets which had been widely distributed. The War Documents Committee had filmed 1,050,000 frames in Arlington alone, and an additional large number in England. Copy for the Guide to Historical Literature was now coming to the editors, and the prospects for publication in 1959 are good. For the "Guide to Photographed Historical Material in Canada and the United States," the collection of materials has begun; on this project a major difficulty will be to limit the material to be included. For the Committee on the Profession's Teaching Needs in graduate Education, Dexter Perkins described the planning that had been done and expressed the hope of the committee to begin a major study next year. Speaking for the Committee on the British Bibliographies, Stanley Pargellis reported that the Conyers Read volume on the Tudor period is in press, that the Edgar Graves volume on the medieval period is well along, and that Mary Frear Keeler has begun work on the Stuart volume. In response to a request of the Royal Historical Society, the Council of the Association agreed that the Executive Secretary should approach the Ford Foundation to ask that savings, from the sums originally granted for the British Writings to 1933, be made available for the preparation of the Writings, 1946-1949. The Executive Secretary spoke of the plans for the visit of the Bureau of the International Committee of Historical Sciences to the United States in October, 1958.

The Council discussed a proposal to publish the Review six times a year but took no action because of the costs involved.

Informed of the plans of the Library of Congress for a National Register of Manuscripts, the Council asked the Executive Secretary to prepare a resolution supporting this work.

The Council decided that action on a suggestion of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association that the two associations make a joint effort to seek foundation support for graduate fellowships in history be postponed for consideration until the matter was further clarified through further correspondence, and until the study of the historical profession's teaching needs (see above) had been made.

A proposal from Historical Abstracts was thoroughly discussed by the Council. Historical Abstracts had asked the Association for support in obtaining funds. The Council agreed that a letter of support be written but also expressed the hope that Historical Abstracts would continue to improve and made the reservation that support from the Association did not indicate a financial commitment of any kind.

For the Committee on Honorary Members, the Executive Secretary presented the nomination of Pieter Geyl for honorary membership in the Association. The Council unanimously approved. The Council, in addition, passed a motion that the number of honorary members in the Association be slowly increased to a maximum of twenty-five. The Council by this action indicated only that the Committee on Honorary Members should be permitted to make nominations up to this maximum, not that this number be necessarily appointed. To establish policy governing the selection of honorary members, the Council established this principle: "Recognition should first be governed by scholarship, then teaching, then historical activities. Geographical consideration should enter in only after these primary criteria."

On a proposal for a prize for doctoral dissertations, the Council took no action. The Council likewise took no action on other proposals concerning the reprinting of Review articles, joint subscriptions with other journals, and joint membership for husband and wife.

Upon a suggestion of Alvin Eurich of the Fund for the Advancement of Education for consideration of a televised basic course in American history for high school students, the Council agreed that the matter deserved serious consideration, that the Executive Secretary should inform the Fund for the Advancement of Education of the Association's interest, and that the Committee on Teaching be asked to consider the advisability of further action.

For the Executive Committee, the following members were elected for 1958: Robert R. Palmer, chairman, William L. Langer, Walter L. Dorn, James B. Hedges, Boyd C. Shafer, and the new Treasurer to be elected. The Finance Committee for 1958 will consist of the new Treasurer, the chairman of the Executive Committee, Robert R. Palmer, and the Executive Secretary.

Speaking for the Council, President Langer commended the Executive Secretary and Managing Editor and the headquarters staff for excellent work during the year.

The Council adjourned at about 6:00 p.m.

MINUTES OF THE BUSINESS MEETING OF THE
HOTEL STATLER, NEW YORK CITY,
DECEMBER 29, 1957, 4:30 P.M.

President William L. Langer called the meeting to order with about three hundred members present. The minutes of the last meeting (AHR, April, 1957, pp.788-90) were approved.

Dr. Boyd C. Shafer, Executive Secretary of the Association and Managing Editor of the Review, presented his annual report (See pp. 7-13). The Treasurer, Dr. Solon J. Buck, spoke briefly on the financial condition of the Association, referring the members to his mimeographed report which had been distributed. This report revealed that the total assets of the Association, including restricted funds for special projects, totaled about $869,000 on August 31, 1957, and that the Association's financial condition was sound. Adding to his report, his last as Treasurer of the Association, Dr. Buck spoke of his work as Treasurer for twenty-one years, pointing out that from 1937 to the present, the membership had doubled and the assets of the Association had tripled. Modestly disclaiming any credit for these increases, he declared that he felt his greatest contribution to the Association had been in helping to secure Dr. Guy Stanton Ford and Dr. Boyd C. Shafer as Executive Secretaries and Managing Editors for the Association. It was moved and seconded that the Treasurer's report be accepted as presented, and unanimous approval was given.

Upon Council renomination, Thomas Parkinson of New York City was reelected without dissent to the Board of Trustees of the Association for another five-year term.

Professor Ray Billington, chairman of the Nominating Committee for 1957, presented the nominations for the officers of the Association for 1958: for President, Professor Walter Prescott Webb of the University of Texas; for Vice-President, Professor Allan Nevins of Columbia University; for Treasurer, Dean Elmer L. Kayser of George Washington University. The Executive Secretary, on motion, was instructed to cast one ballot for these nominees, and they were declared elected. Professor Billington announced that, as a result of the mail ballot for members of the Council and Nominating Committee, Professors Mildred L. Campbell of Vassar College and W. Stull Holt of the University of Washington were elected to the Council for regular four-year terms, and that Professors Paul W. Gates of Cornell University and Gordon Wright of Stanford University were elected to the Nominating Committee. Professor Billington stated that Professor Kenneth M. Setton of the University of Pennsylvania would be chairman of the Nominating Committee in 1958. The Nominating Committee's report was accepted.

For the Nominating Committee, Chairman Billington then read the following resolution honoring the long service of Treasurer Solon J. Buck. The resolution was passed unanimously.

Whereas, For nearly a quarter of a century, Solon J. Buck has served as Treasurer of the American Historical Association, but this year, in spite of the entreaties of his colleagues, has been unwilling to accept reelection, therefore be it Resolved, That the members of the American Historical Association express their deep appreciation of Dr. Buck's long and dedicated service and their regret that they are henceforth to be deprived of his wisdom, tact, and efficiency as Treasurer of the Association.

Reporting upon actions taken at the Council meeting on December 27 (see Minutes, pp. 3-5), the Executive Secretary outlined plans for the coming year and noted actions taken. He announced new appointments to the several committees of the Association for 1958 and the reelection of Louis Gottschalk as an Association delegate to the Social Science Research Council and of Guy Stanton Ford to the National Historical Publications Commission. He read significant portions of the new policy on prizes and awards, pointed to the new criteria established by the Council for the selection of honorary members of the Association, and announced the election of Professor Pieter Geyl of the Netherlands to honorary membership. He noted that the Council had decided not to reopen the Association Revolving Fund for Publication until more funds had been accumulated and until the American Council of Learned Societies' Committee on Publication Problems had reported. He summarized the work accomplished upon various special projects, the Service Center for Teachers, the British bibliographies, the Guide to Historical Literature, the "Guide to Photographed Historical Material in Canada and the United States," and the projected study of the needs of the profession in graduate education. The Executive Secretary mentioned also the coming visit of the Bureau of the International Committee of Historical Sciences in October, 1958, under the auspices of the Association.

For Professor Solomon Katz, the Pacific Coast Branch representative, the Executive Secretary read the Branch's report for 1957. This report indicated continued growth in membership, adequate funds, and an expanding program at the annual meetings of the Branch.

For the Committee on Resolutions, Dr. Stanley Pargellis of the Newberry Library read the following resolution:

Resolved, That the American Historical Association extend its gratitude and deep appreciation to Professor Oscar J. Falnes and his fellow members of the Program Committee for the organization of a highly varied and stimulating program, and to Professor Erling M. Hunt and his associates on the Committee on Local Arrangements for their skill and efficiency in providing accommodations to meet the needs of a growing Association.

President Langer opened the meeting for other business. From the floor two members asked questions concerning the policies and meetings of the Association. These were answered, as far as possible, by President Langer and Dr. Shafer.

The meeting adjourned at about 5:50 p.m. after a remark by Professor Samuel Bemis that it might be necessary to continue since Professor Frank Maloy Anderson, for the first time in more than thirty years, was not present to move adjournment.

BOYD C. SHAFER, Executive Secretary.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE SECRETARY AND MANAGING EDITOR FOR 1957

Nearly always in the world's history it has been later than men have thought. Thus far in the world's history, it has never been too late to think. What the world now needs is sober thought in the humanities and social sciences, for the physical scientists have carried us into outer space before we have learned to manage our lives well on the earth's surface. It may be too late for anyone to save men and their earthbound civilizations. It is not yet too late to think of what we can do if we only have enough knowledge and, of course, the wisdom to use it.

Historians may or may not be able to supply wisdom. I like to think that they can, but I do not know. Historians can supply knowledge of men's experience. Of this there is no doubt. From Thucydides to Machiavelli, from Macauley to Michelet to Meinecke to Becker, historians have extended men's knowledge of themselves and their affairs. We living historians, humble and modest about our studies as we ought to be, can extend this knowledge of experience if we have the tools, the time, the opportunities, the imagination.

Somewhere in the Great Renewal, Francis Bacon spoke of three kinds of ambition among men. The first, the extension of personal power, he called "vulgar and degenerate." The second, the enlargement of a country's power over others (we call it imperialism) had dignity, but was no less covetous. The third, the establishment of man's power over the universe, Bacon thought "more wholesome" and "more noble."

We are in a fair way to fulfill Bacon's ambitious dream of exercising control over the physical universe. We are, in a kind of fog of dehumanization hinting of 1984, in danger of losing our power to control and order human affairs. At any moment some men may destroy all men and all civilization. Our only chance now, and it has always been the only chance for men, is to civilize, to humanize, to understand ourselves. We may go on only to shoot rockets and missiles at the moon or even Venus. The United States and Russia, striving to outdo each other with science that is no longer fiction, may construct more and more, and more deadly IRBM's and ICBM's and use them. Suppose the United States and Russia go to war and fire successfully these weapons. What will men have gained? --an empty radioactive earth. But suppose we, men, in some devoutly to be desired sane moments, try not so much to outdo and destroy each other as to understand, to ameliorate (I do not say appease), to gain knowledge of how men may get along with each other without firing nuclear warheads. The only place we can search to find answers is in men's history. Thucydides and Machiavelli can tell us a good deal, both about how to prosecute a war and what might be done to avoid war.

I do not know that our search for ways and means to avoid catastrophe will succeed. Frankly, I am skeptical. I do not know that history teaches that good overcomes evil. History teaches everything and nothing or almost anything one wants to get from it. Men have warred and they have been peaceful, been belligerent and meek, and all stages in between. But if history holds no positive lessons that historians can inculcate, it does seem to show us possibilities, to reveal that knowledge and education can lead to some kind of mastery over human affairs.

If history does not teach any particular lesson, it mirrors all human experience. The uninformed may debunk history and historians all they will, but learned Greeks of the fifth and fourth centuries did reflect rather profoundly about man, his individual dilemmas, and his societies; the learned theologians of the thirteenth century did reason rather deeply about religion and right conduct; the humanists of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries did think keenly about man's potentialities and his arts; and the scientists of the seventeenth century did gain knowledge of the physical nature of the universe and of man. If these philosophers, theologians, humanists, and scientists did not attain omniscience, and if they did not arrive at godlike wisdom, they did, with their knowledge, their reason, and their experiments, win for us potential power over ourselves and over nature. And we, the historians, are the discoverers, the custodians, the transmitters of their rich experience.

Bound to the reactors of our own twentieth century, we may fail and we may die. But if we fail and die, let it not be because we lack knowledge.

History among the humanities and the social sciences is one way to knowledge. Our Association and our Review are minor but not insignificant instruments to obtain and to spread knowledge.

What do we need to do, what must we do if we are to succeed as historians, as practitioners of an old, honorable, and useful profession?

It is easy to say that we must be studious and learned, persistent in pursuit of knowledge, scholarly in our researches, and restrained and objective in our publications and in our teaching. These are admirable generalizations, truisms with which we all agree. But what must we do concretely, what ought we clearly stand for, work for, demand? Certainly our fundamental aims are not higher salaries, though we are comparatively ill paid; certainly not buildings, though well supplied as we are, we need more; certainly not promotions, though some of us deserve them; certainly not just status in our society, though it could be higher. The aims for us as historians are the attainment of historical knowledge and the sharing of this knowledge through publications and in the classrooms. As men and as citizens, we may and should have other larger goals. As historians, we perform our responsibilities well in proportion as we acquire and add to historical knowledge and share this knowledge with our fellows.

What do we concretely need? We need training, especially for our younger men, in the skills of research, writing, and teaching. We need tools of research. We all need to be more liberally educated than we are.

During the past four as in previous years, the Association in its small sphere has been able to take short steps toward the achievement of these aims. We have neither streamlined nor added tailfins. We have no jet power, no rockets. We have only a modest building and no red carpets. We have limited funds and never enough energy. And yet with high goals of knowledge and wisdom which we will never reach, we have been able to help a little.

The Association has always tried to promote the study of history--scholarly, not popular history--in America. We are now, as usual, supplying tools of research. We are again helping in the improvement of the teaching of history in the schools. We have begun to study our graduate education and our teaching needs in colleges and universities.

When I came to the Association and the Review a little more than four years ago, I followed in the footsteps of great men, Jameson, Leland, and Ford, to mention only three. During my four years I have worked closely with many other fine historians, Solon Buck, to mention only one. From this focal point in the profession I have come to know something more about history and historians than I learned in my previous twenty years in the profession. What I have learned and learned again is how demanding scholarship, the pursuit of knowledge, really is. And I have learned, too, that to assist in the pursuit may be in itself a productive adventure.

What does historical scholarship in the United States demand today? How can it be made most productive? We must have tools with which to work. Some of these tools are bibliographies and indexes, dry and demanding in accuracy as they may be. A general plan I envisaged for bibliographies is beginning to be realized. Last year the Association published the Index to the Writings in American History, 1902-1940. Over a thousand copies have been distributed. We are told the Index is indispensable; it does appear to be useable. This year Conyers Read has completed his thorough revision of his bibliography on the Tudor period, and the volume has gone to press. Edgar Graves is working on his completely new guide to medieval English history, and Mary Frear Keeler has begun her major revision of the bibliography for the Stuart period. Stanley Pargellis should take a bow for his skill in getting these works started, and all of us who will use these guides ought to nod in the direction of the Ford Foundation which has provided the funds to prepare them.

With the able leadership of men like Reginald Phelps and Lynn Case we are preparing guides and indexes to the German war documents that are or were in Britain and the United States. We are at work, with Richard Hale as our editor, and through a grant by the Council on Library Resources, on a new guide to photographed materials (not photographs) of historical value in Canada and the United States. I am delighted to report that as a result of the plans of George Howe and his committee the work on the new monumental and long-awaited Guide to Historical Literature is progressing, that copy for it is beginning to come in and is being edited. There is a fair chance that the volume will be published in 1959. To the yet unmentioned many historians who have worked on these guides, to, for example, Howard Ehrmann, William C. Davis, Fritz Epstein, George Hallgarten, and Robert Eckles, we owe gratitude. Their labor will make ours easier in the future and will make possible research and publication which without guides could never be accomplished.

Tools like these mean something if they facilitate research, make it easier, more comprehensive, more accurate, and eventually lead to good teaching, good books. But they do not get books published. We have not been able to help in the publication of books as we would like to do. The great foundations, happily, have given us grants in substantial amounts for the production of research tools but not, unhappily, for publication. The two Beveridge winners of last year, Schroeder, "The Axis Alliance and Japanese-American Relations, 1941," and Spence, "British Investment and the American Mining Frontier, 1860-1901," are in press, or soon will be. Again this year, the Beveridge Committee, headed by John Hope Franklin, will recommend the publication of two manuscripts. But, as I pointed out last year, our Revolving Fund for Publication has almost revolved out of existence. We have been unable to replenish it. As a result, scholarly books go begging for publishers and the world needs knowledge.

Our prizes chiefly honor books already published. We are proud of our awards, though we hope that in some cases their monetary rewards can be increased a bit. This year the Association offered for the first time the Moses Colt Tyler Prize for an outstanding work in American intellectual history, a prize of $1,500 plus publication, made possible by the Cornell University Press and the labor of our committee headed by Merle Curti. Because the committee could not decide upon a manuscript it considered sufficiently outstanding, the prize will not be awarded this year. We shall open the competition again in 1959. Our ad hoc Committee on Prizes and Awards recommends that we accept no new prizes which do not carry substantial monetary awards and that the Association, in the future, favor prizes enabling publication of works in manuscript. These recommendations we should follow.

We do, of course, publish our encyclopedic Review. Every three months from 280 to 300 pages of articles, reviews, notices, news, and bibliography appear. We published in 1956-57 thirteen articles, six "Notes and Suggestions," and 553 reviews and notices (517 last year) of books in all fields of history. We receive an ever mounting number of books (1,500 this year) from all over the world and an ever mounting number of articles (173 this year, 153 last year). The Board of Editors and the numerous specialists who read for us have had many essays to consider. The Managing Editor must here say a word of appreciation, for without the willing specialists to advise him, he could not maintain the Review's high standards. Without the scholarly assistance of T. R. S. Broughton and Loren MacKinney, who retire from the Board of Editors this year, for example, he would often have been lost in the intricacies of ancient and medieval history.

Your Editor was told in Italy and Switzerland this year of the high respect European scholars have for our Review, but he is far from being satisfied. He can say that the Review is carefully edited, that it is catholic in its interests and coverage, and that it appears to be useful and needed. Nevertheless, with the Board of Editors he is constantly seeking ways to improve it. This year we have, for instance, added about three hundred historians to our file of possible reviewers. But I have discovered that we should be cautious about change. The Review now is valued by thousands of historians, each department of it. I was tempted once to reduce the size of the lists of articles, only to find on questioning many of our colleagues that they really used these lists. It may be of interest to note that our Review lists of articles are extensive--in American history, for example, by far the most comprehensive, current list published.

Books, articles, reviews are to be read. They are ways of spreading knowledge. We could, we historians, win a few more readers, educate a few more people in history if we would always write to be read. I do not desire to make the Review or any of our publications best sellers, but we could win readers, perhaps double their now limited number, if we would avoid the passive voice, learn again the art of narration, make our people, our abstract terms, even our statistics, come to life through vivid example. I do, on the other hand, thank the fates or whatever it is that has spared us the atrocities committed in the name of social scientific terminology.

Publication is only one way we share knowledge. Far more sharing, I suspect, is done in the classrooms of the high schools, colleges, and universities. Our Service Centers for Teachers, directed by George Carson, is in its second year. Its consultant service has been utilized, though not as much as we had hoped. High school teachers and administrators from New England to Texas to California have met with Dr. Carson or one of our expert consultants. The Service Center's booklets for teachers, designed to survey late research and guide teachers in their reading, have, on the other hand, been widely circulated and generally acclaimed. Five have been published so far, and of these, 16,000 copies have been printed of one title and 14,000 of another. When I am asked whether our venture to help high school teachers has been a success, I can only reply that it is too early to judge. I believe that the Service Center has already had some salutary effects and that it has a chance to assist in the raising of the level of high school courses in history.

We are about to embark on the college and university seas with two other efforts to improve teaching. We will soon bring, with the guidance of a committee headed by Holden Furber and through a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation, the first of about fifteen professors of South Asian history to the United States to teach on a university level. The first one will be Professor R. C. Majumdar of India. He will teach for a year at the universities of Chicago and Pennsylvania.

Last year Dexter Perkins' presidential address concerned the teaching of history. More reprints of this address were distributed on the request of individuals and institutions than of any other paper printed in the Review in the last four years. This reveals the intense and healthy interest in the subject. This year Dexter Perkins heads a committee to study our professional needs, particularly in graduate education. With a small grant from the Carnegie Corporation made directly to Professor Perkins, the committee is beginning its study of the content and requirements of our graduate training, the methods used in giving it, and the needs for history teachers in the next ten years. Quite wisely the committee is not studying our professional needs in vacuo. One of the vital questions it proposes to face is how the teaching of history is related to the other humanities, to liberal arts, and to liberal education.

As scholars, as historians, as researchers, as teachers, as writers, we have acquired some marvelous technical and specialized skills. Let no one underrate the great advances that have been made in the acquisition and propagation of historical knowledge. Like the physical scientists, though to a lesser degree, we historians know a great deal more than our ancestors about the techniques, about the facts (or lack of them), and we have woven hypotheses of wonder, though our testing of them leaves much to be desired. We still, it is obvious, need to know more about our own craft and about the so-called auxiliary sciences from paleography to statistics to psychoanalysis.

Nevertheless, our greatest present need is for liberally educated historians, historians who not only are skilled specialists in command of the languages, the bibliographies, and the techniques, who not only possess the ability to write simple but eloquent prose, but historians who also, out of wide reading and deep experience, are imaginative, learned, skeptical, critical, and urbane. We need liberally educated historians, many more than we have.

Only in the degree that a man is liberally educated can he hope to understand other men, other men in history as well as his contemporaries. If a historian wishes truly to understand a politician of the past, he must know politics, both the practice and the philosophy; in addition, a bit of experience, acquired directly in his own time, will make the practice and the philosophy come alive. If a historian wants to understand politics, he must be something of a politician himself, and if he is fully to understand his subject, he must also comprehend all the forces, economic, social, cultural, that have always stirred politicians to act. Or, if a historian wishes to understand a particular historical period, he cannot do so without knowledge of all its parts. Historical politics cannot be divorced from economics and religion, nor economics from politics and religion, nor religion from economics and politics. Nor, finally, can the particular historical period be divorced from all the flow of history that has preceded it. Again, if a historian wishes to know the history of a locality, or a class, or a town, or a social group, he cannot, if he wishes comprehension, study them in isolation. Towns and classes are part of larger communities, states, national, international, and of history as well. He who says he does not need to study, say, European towns and classes in order to understand the American, is limited in understanding. Should he then persist in his provincialism, his works will be superficial and better left unpublished. This may be a cruel judgment, but it is nevertheless a true one.

All of this is to say only that the individual fact is meaningless unless it is placed in the larger context of the civilization or civilizations of which it is a part and unless it is somehow fitted into the flow of history. Facts, however factual or fascinating, have little except encyclopedic value unless they are put into large frameworks, in which case they are no longer isolated but related. Facts to be made meaningful must be considered to be gregarious. And, as it is with facts, so is it with historical studies and, in fact, all knowledge.

Must a historian know everything? Yes, ideally, he must. Of course he will never succeed, but the ideal remains. And there is another major reason why he should be well

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE TREASURER

FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1956-57

The ordinary financial assets of the American Historical Association on August 31, 1957, amounted to $690,791.10 ($697,226.45 last year), and in addition the balance of foundation grants for special projects totalled $128,849.91. The Association headquarters (real estate, furniture and equipment) was valued at $50,099.25. The total assets therefore were $869,790.26. Of the first sum, $620,051.47 ($631,663.00 last year) constitute the capital funds of the Association in the custody of the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York, which are managed by it under the direction of the Board of Trustees. Of this amount $250,418.81 ($250,659.00 last year) was credited to various special funds, leaving $369,632.66 ($381,004.00 last year) the income from which was unrestricted. The cash on hand in checking, savings accounts, petty cash fund and temporary U. S. Treasury bills amounted to $199,589.54 ($189,944.61 last year), of which sum $162,322.04 ($154,344.26 last year) was restricted, leaving $37,267.50 ($35,715.35 last year) available for general purposes. The total of unrestricted funds, including both capital and expendable sums, amounted to $406,900.16 ($416,654.35 last year). Securities in the special Matteson Fund portfolio amounted to $94,298.81 instead of $94,539.00 as of the year before. The changes in assets have resulted in part from exchanges of securities and changes in the market value of investments, in part from foundation grants for special projects, and in part from receipts in excess of expenditures.

The expendable funds of the Association were administered through a general account, three special accounts, and one operating account which was discontinued in March, 1957. The general account includes, however, a number of special funds and grants, which are segregated from the unrestricted funds only by bookkeeping. The balances in this account are kept partly in a savings account, partly in a checking account and partly in temporary U. S. Treasury bills, and transfers are made from one to the other as occasion arises. The balances in the special accounts are separately deposited in savings accounts.

The following tables present a condensed exhibit of the financial transactions of the Association during the year. The Statement for the general fund is broken down into unrestricted funds and the various special funds and grants, and for the unrestricted funds the items for 1955/56 are included for purposes of comparison. Statements for the special accounts follow, and there are a number of summaries. The receipts of unrestricted funds exceeded ordinary disbursements by $1,617.15. It should be noted, however, that the total of disbursements included the sum of $914.33 for housing and an investment of $10,000.00.

The Treasurer's accounts and the operating account have been audited by F. W. Lafrentz & Co., certified public accountants, and their report is on file in the Washington office of the Association, where it may be examined by any interested member. The report of the Fiduciary Trust Company, approved by A. W. Page, chairman of the Board of Trustees, is also on file and available for inspection in the Washington office.

This is my last report as Treasurer of the American Historical Association. Since I became Treasurer in 1937 the assets of the Association have tripled and the membership has more than doubled. I wish the next Treasurer success in duties that are essential and have become increasingly complex.

SOLON J. BUCK, Treasurer.

Washington, D. C.

We have examined the entries for the recorded cash receipts and disbursements of the general and special accounts of your Association for the period from September 1, 1956 to August 31, 1957, have verified all cash balances, have examined or confirmed all investments and performed such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances, in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards.

In addition to the usual statements of receipts and disbursements, we present in this report, a statement of assets of the Association as of August 31, 1957. The assets included are cash, investments and fixed property. Dues receivable, saleable books, library books and deferred charges are not included, nor are any liabilities reflected therein. We were advised that there were no liabilities other than those for current monthly bills.

In our opinion the accompanying exhibits and supporting schedules¹ present fairly the assets of the American Historical Association on August 31, 1957, and the recorded cash transactions for the year then ended, and have been prepared on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

CASH RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS

A combined summary of all receipts and disbursements for the year under review is as follows:

	Combined Total	Special Funds and Grants	Operating Fund	Special Accounts
Cash balance, September 1, 1956.....	$189,994.61	$137,504.10	$35,650.35	$16,840.16

Cash and temporary investments balance, August 31, 1957.....	$199,589.54	$143,129.18	$37,267.50	$19,192.86

Recorded cash receipts were traced to bank deposits and cash disbursements were supported by canceled checks and properly approved vouchers or authorizations.

Income earned on investments during the year under review was checked for accuracy and properly accounted for on the books of the Association. Amortization of premiums paid on bonds owned was provided in accordance with the amounts determined by the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York.

Payments to the Association during the year under review by the Fiduciary Trust Company of New York totaled $23,292.93.

Dues received during the year totaled $44,098.66, in accordance with the cash receipts records. Verification by us was limited to a test check of the names on the members' account cards to the dues book. Your records indicate that the total dues received are applicable to the following years:

Dues Year Ending in	Amount

The holdings of the American Historical Association as of Aug. 31, 1957, compare with its holdings of Aug. 31, 1956, as follows:

	Value of principal	Income		Value of principal	Income
REGULAR SECTION			MATTESON FUND
Aug. 31, 1956.....	$537,124.00	$18,576.00	Aug. 31, 1956.....	$94,539.00	$3,870.00
Aug. 31, 1957.....	515,752.00	19,218.00	Aug. 31, 1957.....	94,298.00	4,278.00

As will be noted from the foregoing figures, the market value of the securities held in the Regular Section for the Association decreased (owing to the general stock market situation) from a total of $537,124.00 on Aug. 31, 1956, to $515,752.00 on Aug. 31, 1957. The income basis, as figured as of the same two dates, increased from $18,576.00 to $19,218.00. During the year, changes in value of securities in the Matteson Fund decreased from $94,539.00 to $94,298.00. However, the income was $4,278.00 as against $3,870.00 a year ago.

In accordance with accepted principles, the Trustees have given instructions to the Fiduciary Trust Co. to set aside out of each year's income such an amount as is applicable for that year toward the amortization of the premiums on bonds purchased above the redemption price. The charge upon income on this account for the fiscal year was $146.02 for the Regular Section and $8.78 for the Matteson Fund.

Charges made by the Fiduciary Trust Co. for management of securities as well as brokerage charges on purchases and sales amounted to $2,406.00 for the Regular Section and $423.00 for the Matteson Fund. The Board of Trustees incurred no other expenses.

FOR THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE
ARTHUR W. PAGE, Chairman.

COMMITTEE REPORTS FOR 1957

THE NOMINATING COMMITTEE

The following list represents the results of votes received from the membership for candidates whose names appeared on the ballot: President--Walter Prescott Webb; Vice-President--Allan Nevins; Treasurer--Elmer Louis Kayser; Mildred L. Campbell and W. Stull Holt to the two vacancies on the Council; and Paul W. Gates and Gordon Wright to the two vacancies on the Nominating Committee.

Kenneth M. Setton will serve as chairman of the nominating Committee for 1958. The other continuing members are Thomas Perkins Abernethy and Caroline Robbins.

RAY A. BILLINGTON, Chairman.

December 21, 1958.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE HERBERT BAXTER ADAMS PRIZE

Since the Herbert Baxter Adams Prize is awarded in even years, the committee has had no function to fulfill during this year. Two submissions have been received, but nothing has been done to encourage publishers to submit volumes since they will all be expected to do so early next year, and it will be more systematic to confine the committee's dealings with the publishers to a single canvass.

The present members of the committee are Harold J. Grimm, Henry Bertram Hill, chairman, and Henry R. Winkler, and will serve through next year.

HENRY BERTRAM HILL, Chairman.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE GEORGE LOUIS BEER PRIZE

The George Louis Beer Prize Committee recommends that the prize be awarded this year to Alexander Dallin for his German Rule in Russia, 1941-1945 (Macmillan & Co., Ltd., and St. Martin's Press) with honorable mention to Norman Kogan's Italy and the Allies (Harvard University Press). The committee (consisting of H. Stuart Hughes, Carl E. Schorske and myself) voted unanimously on the first ballot to award the prize to Dallin's book, which all members considered a work of genuinely impressive scholarship.

Announcements of the competition were sent in March to approximately fifty publishers who submitted a total of twelve books. Two works were clearly ineligible and it was questionable whether three of the remaining items came within the terms of the prize. The committee agreed to eliminate one additional book because it had previously received several substantial prizes. Even with these eliminations there remained a sufficient number of works of merit to make 1957 a "good year" in the prize competition.

JOSEPH J. MATTHEWS, Chairman.

THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE ALBERT J. BEVERIDGE AWARD

This report covers the period from November 1, 1956 to November 1, 1957. During this time, one meeting was held, October 26, 1957, in Washington, D.C. The personnel of the committee was A. B. Chandler, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, who succeeded Richard Overton who resigned on April 1, 1957, for reasons of health; Arthur S. Link, Northwestern University; Walter V. Scholes, University of Missouri; Frederick B. Tolles, Swarthmore College; and John Hope Franklin, Brooklyn College.

The manuscript that received the award for 1956, "The Axis Alliance and Japanese-American Relations, 1941," by Paul W. Schroeder, has gone to press. As far as the committee knows, no publication date has been announced.

The manuscript that received honorable mention for 1956, "British Investment and the American Mining Frontier, 1860-1901," by Clark C. Spence, has not gone to press. Revisions were delayed because of the indisposition of the editor who had consented to work on it. Herbert Heaton has now kindly consented to cooperate with Dr. Spence in preparing the manuscript for press, and it should be ready shortly.

The committee recommends that the following changes be made in the terms of the Beveridge Award:

1. Since authors continue to violate the terms regarding the length of the manuscript, the committee recommends that the following sentence be added:

"Manuscripts exceeding 125,000 words will not be considered."

2. Much time is lost in preparing good manuscripts for the press, while some of those that were rejected could hardly be considered more than rough drafts. The committee therefore recommends that the following sentence be added to the end of the third paragraph from the bottom of the first page of the "Terms:"

"In any event, candidates are strongly advised to submit only manuscripts that have been carefully edited and revised with a view toward publication."

The committee received thirteen manuscripts for the 1957 competition. This is the same number submitted in the 1956 competition. This year, however, one manuscript was withdrawn in September when the author received a firm offer of publication from a reputable university press. At its meeting in October, the committee requested the chairman to use his discretion in passing on to unsuccessful authors the observations of members of the committee regarding their manuscript.

"Rails, Mines, and Progress: Seven American Promoters in Mexico, 1867-1911," by David M. Pletcher, Hamline University, was designated by the committee to receive the award for 1957. "A Frontier State at War: Kansas, 1861-1865," by Albert Castel, Wichita, Kansas, was designated to receive honorable mention for 1957.

The committee strongly recommends the appointment of the following for membership in the committee for 1958: A. B. Chandler, Jr., Massachusetts Institute of Technology; George Mowry, University of California at Los Angeles; Walter V. Scholes, University of Missouri; Charles G. Sellers, Princeton University; and as chairman, Frederick B. Tolles, Swarthmore College.

The committee wishes to thank Dr. Boyd Shafer and his staff for their generous and thoughtful cooperation.

THE COMMITTEE ON DOCUMENTARY REPRODUCTION

1. Personnel and Recommendations. The chairman has no suggestions for replacements. However, he should like to ask Cyril E. Black to move to the position of permanent chairman of the Russian or Slavic sub-committee.

Only two members of the committee have taken no really active part in making suggestions or in working on projects. Because of the necessity of asking scholars to serve in connection with the grant from the Council on Library Resources, this would be a good time to add sub-committees and reorganize present ones. This should be a matter for discussion at the next committee meeting in December.

2. The Ford Grant and the Library of Congress. No one could ask for better cooperation from any organization than we have had from the Library of Congress. John Cronin, head of the Processing Division, and his staff have gone out of their way to make suggestions and to see that the necessary reports were submitted to the Ford Foundation on time. Mr. Cronin has indicated that the Library of Congress wishes to continue this cooperation with the American Historical Association. He has asked that this committee and the Association in cooperation with the Library, request a further grant from the Ford Foundation or similar agency to continue the microfilming of catalogs and other important materials in repositories abroad.

During this year, the following disbursements were made to travelling scholars:

1. John I. Kolehmainen, Heidelberg College, $1,400 for filming Finnish State Archives reports to the Czars, 1870-1917.
2. Donald G. Barnes, Western Reserve University, $2,000 for filming the Cornwallis papers in the Public Records Office in London.
3. Peter Amann, Bowdoin College, $650 for filming documents concerning the Revolution of 1848 in the Archives of France.
4. Martin Wolfe, University of Pennsylvania, and Mary Lucile Shay, University of Illinois, the joint sum of $1,000 for filming unpublished inventories and catalogs in several Italian Libraries and archives.
5. Ralph H. Lutz, Stanford University, $400 for filming unpublished inventories in Vienna. When Professor Lutz became ill, his grant was turned over to Harold C. Deutsch, University of Minnesota, for microfilming documents in West German collections on World War II.
6. Charles R. Webb, San Diego State College, $100 for filming unpublished inventories in the Bibliothèque National in Paris.

The total of $5,550 includes unexpended balances from the previous year.

Members of the sub-committees will be asked through the chairmen to submit new projects for the third and final year of this grant.

3. Grant from the Council on Library Resources. A grant from the Council on Library Resources to the Association for editing and publishing a catalog or guide to photocopied material of historical value in repositories in the United States and Canada was received on October 15, 1957. In preparing the application for the grant, a meeting was held in Washington early in March. Those present to discuss the problems of application and procedure were committee members Eckles, Hale, MacKinney and Shipton in addition to the Executive Secretary, Messrs. Cronin and Jakobson of the Library of Congress, and Kaye Lamb of the Canadian Archives.

A formal application calling for $58,100 and a two-year project was submitted and accepted. The project will be directed by Dr. Richard W. Hale, Jr. It is hoped that new techniques of recording information regarding acquisitions and procedures in repositories will directly result from this work. An advisory committee has been set up with members from the American Historical Association, this committee, the Library of Congress and the National Archives.

Dr. Hale has already begun work on the project and on November 21 the first meeting of the advisory committee will be held. It is the present plan to ask members of the committee or their designates to meet sometime during the annual meeting of the Association in New York in December.

The chairman wishes to express the pleasure afforded him in working with the Executive Secretary and his staff during the past year.

ROBERT B. ECKLES, Chairman.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE JOHN H. DUNNING PRIZE

Since the John H. Dunning Prize is not awarded in the odd-numbered years, the committee has no action to report at this time.

EARL POMEROY, Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON THE GUIDE TO HISTORICAL LITERATURE

One year ago, this committee could report that its efforts to plan and initiate the production of a new GUIDE TO HISTORICAL LITERATURE had been rewarded by three major accomplishments:

A satisfactory contract with The Macmillan Company.

A generous grant of up to $75,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation to assist in preparing the manuscript.

A tentative list of acceptances by individuals asked to prepare the greater portion of the volume's 39 Sections.

During the past year, the remaining Section Editors were added. These scholars were promised reimbursement of costs incurred by them in the expeditious production of their copy, and were offered such assistance by the central editorial office as they could use.

Professor William Columbus Davis was retained as Central Editor after he had completed his work as editor of the Association's Index to the Writings on American History, 1902-1940. The George Washington University consented to adjustments in his teaching schedule which would permit him to work part-time or full-time on the GUIDE, as circumstances required. He assumed responsibility for technical editing and related correspondence.

The committee arranged for the part-time services of Miss Belinda Dameron as editorial-clerical assistant. Miss Dameron was formerly employed by the National Geographic Society and is now on the office staff of the executive Secretary of the Association.

The Library of Congress allowed the GUIDE to use a Study Room for work which can best be performed there. Correspondence, mimeographing, mailing and accounting have been accomplished within the office space in the Association's building.

In June, copy for the first of the Sections was received, and that for other Sections has been received since. There has been some slippage in the schedule and it is apparent that the bulk of the copy should be expected to arrive at the end of the year. Claims for reimbursement of costs incurred by Section Editors are correspondingly less at this stage than was expected.

The committee held two meetings and conducted its business in the interim by correspondence and through an executive committee in Washington. As a Board of Editors, its work during the planning stage has slackened off during the current phase, according to expectations. It will become considerable during the early part of the coming year. At this juncture, the committee is confident that the project will proceed in general conformity with the schedule to produce the book for use during the academic year 1958-1959.

During the Association's fiscal year ending September 1, 1957, receipts and disbursements were as follows:

	Receipts	Disbursements
Rockefeller Foundation.....	$ 37,950.00
Editor's salary.....		$ 3,000.00
Operating expenses
Stationery.....		68.15
Duplicating service and typing.....		216.51
Telephone and postage.....		26.78
Reimbursements to Section Editors.....		373.86
Travel.....		413.86
Administrative services (including clerical work).....		2,385.28
Balance on hand.....		31,465.48
	$ 37,950.00	37,950.00

It is recommended that the committee be re-appointed until its mission has been accomplished.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE HARMSWORTH PROFESSORSHIP

The committee as presently constituted consists of W. C. Binkley, Tulane University; W. Stull Holt, University of Washington; Stow Persons, University of Iowa; C. Vann Woodward; and Carl Wittke, Western Reserve University, chairman.

I see no reason to change the composition of the committee, although I would be glad to be relieved if it should be the desire of the Council to make a change.

This committee can function only through long and laborious correspondence with the members who are scattered from coast to coast. An actual meeting is impossible. The committee has made nominations on several occasions only to find the British Electors to the Harmsworth Professorship have made their own selections. It is true that the selections they made have been good and that in almost every case, the names were on the committee's list, or would certainly have the approval of the committee. The selections by the British committee have now been made as far ahead as 1960.

The important problem seems to me to be how we can establish a better liaison between our committee and the British committee. If our activity is to continue, I think it is essential to work out a better understanding of procedures. If the British committee wants to take the initiative in suggesting names, those names should then be cleared by the American committee. If the nominations of the American committee are for any reason unacceptable to our British colleagues, the matter should be cleared by the two committees.

CARL WITKE, Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON THE HISTORIAN AND THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

Since the chairman of the committee has been abroad this year, and the committee has not functioned formally, no report is made.

EDWARD YOUNGER, Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON HONORARY MEMBERS

I wish to give only a brief report about the activities of the Committee on Honorary Members. I expect that before the meeting of the Council in December, I shall be able to make in the name of the committee a nomination to fill the vacancy among the honorary members.

Correspondence among members of the committee has mainly dealt with the question of possible candidates for honorary membership, but in addition, the general principles which should guide selection--particularly the importance of geographical distribution--has been touched upon.

November 10, 1957.

FELIX GILBERT, Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON INTERNATIONAL HISTORICAL ACTIVITIES

1. THE COMMITTEE.

The personnel of the committee has been changed in 1957 by the rotational retirement of Mrs. Dorothy Quynn who has been succeeded by John Curtiss, Duke University. The hold-over members have been Caroline Robbins, Boyd C. Shafer and Donald McKay (both ex officio), Waldo G. Leland, chairman, Martin R. P. McGuire, Garrett Mattingly, Bernadotte E. Schmitt, and Arthur P. Whitaker.

The committee held two meetings in 1957, one on March 9, and another on November 18, with all members in attendance except that Mr. Mattingly was unable to attend the November meeting. The last meeting was also attended by Myron Gilmore of Harvard University who represented the special Boston-Cambridge committee charged with the reception of the Bureau of the International Committee of Historical Sciences on the occasion of the Bureau's visit to the United States in 1958.

In addition to the two formal meetings there have been numerous conferences of the chairman, Mr. McKay and Mr. Shafer, as well as correspondence among the members of the committee.

2. THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE OF HISTORICAL SCIENCES.

The Assembly of the International Committee, including the sessions of its Bureau, was held in Lausanne in June instead of in Moscow as had been planned. The change of meeting place was made with the agreement of the representatives of the historians of the USSR because it seemed unlikely that a quorum could be secured for a meeting in Moscow.

Delegates from the United States were Mr. McKay (who is an elected member of the Bureau, serving until 1960), and Mr. Shafer (who also serves until 1960).

The chief attention of the Association's committee in 1957 has been directed to the program of the International Congress to be held in Stockholm in 1960, and to preparations for the meeting of the Bureau to be held in the United States in October, 1958. The committee during its meeting of March 9, approved a list of thirty subjects for the "Reports" which are to be presented in the Congress. This list was communicated to the Bureau in advance of the Lausanne meeting, together with corresponding lists from other countries. The list of subjects finally approved by the Bureau, which is less broadly representative of world history than the list submitted on behalf of the committee, will be printed in the American Historical Review of January, 1958. Four of the Reports will be by American scholars. The Congress will be organized in five sections: Methodology, Antiquity, Middle Ages, Modern History and Contemporary History. There will also be two symposia or colloquia on (1) European universities in the Middle Ages and the Renaissance, and (2) history of prices before 1750.

The committee has discussed at length a tentative list of "Papers" which might be presented by scholars from the United States, our quota being from twelve to fifteen of these shorter communications.

A tentative schedule for the visit of the Bureau has been established, in its main lines. This visit has been made possible by the generosity of the Ford Foundation in making a grant to the Association for the over-seas travel and certain other expenses of the members of the Bureau, and by the acceptance by the Bureau itself of the invitation extended to it at Lausanne by Mr. Shafer on behalf of the Association. It is expected that the visit will commence with the arrival of members of the Bureau in Boston on October 5, and that it will end in Washington on October 18. Some members of the Bureau will doubtlessly prolong their visit for purposes of sight-seeing, or giving lectures in our universities. It is planned to hold six half-day sessions in Cambridge, Philadelphia, and Washington. Travel probably will be by chartered bus and visits, it is hoped, will be made en route to Amherst and Smith, Yale, Columbia, Princeton, the University of Pennsylvania, Bryn Mawr, and the Johns Hopkins University.

For the orientation of the members of the Bureau, with respect to education and scholarship in the United States, books, pamphlets, and issues of our historical periodicals will be sent to them from time to time. It seems important to enable foreign scholars to become better informed as to the world-wide interest of the historians of the United States and the valuable work that is being done in areas which are too little cultivated in most European countries and which have been insufficiently recognized in the international congresses.

The committee has discussed the proposed revision of the statutes of the ICHS and has authorized the chairman, with Mr. McKay and Mr. Shafer to prepare specific recommendations to be presented to the Bureau in October.

Finally the committee has discussed the conditions on which American scholars may be assisted to attend international congresses and conferences through the use of funds made available to the American Council of Learned Societies and the Social Science Research Council for that purpose.

3. ANGLO-AMERICAN HISTORICAL CONFERENCE.

The full-scale Anglo-American Historical Conference which is organized every five years, with interim annual conferences, by the Institute of Historical Research of the University of London, was held in London in July. It was attended by about ninety scholars from the United States, with Caroline Robbins of the Committee, serving as official delegate of the Association. Her report of the conference is printed in the January, 1958, issue of the Review. The committee hopes that it may be possible to secure advance notices of the conferences, which are of interest to scholars in many fields of history (not only Anglo-American) in time to assure their early publication and distribution.

4. INTER-AMERICAN HISTORICAL ACTIVITIES, 1957. (Furnished by Arthur P. Whitaker)

Among the Inter-American historical activities during 1957 one of special interest to the American Historical Association is the appointment of Associate Professor Robert N. Burr, University of California, Los Angeles, as the United States National Member of the Commission on History, Pan American Institute of Geography and History, replacing Arthur P. Whitaker, who continues as Vice-President of the Institute. In accordance with established practice, Dr. Burr's Advisory Committee will function as a subcommittee of the American Historical Association's Committee on International Historical Activities.

The Fourth Consultation of this Commission on History, which was to have been held in 1957, has been postponed until early 1958. The Commission has continued its publication program, which, in addition to its periodicals, includes volumes on the history of ideas in Brazil (published in 1957) and in the United States (in press). The first volume (Indian phase) of the Commission's important History of America project was published by the Pan American Union, which will publish the two remaining volumes at a date not yet fixed.

The Inter-American Economic Conference held in Buenos Aires adopted a resolution requesting the Commission on History to publish the economic writings of leading 19th century Americans, beginning with the Argentineans J. B. Alberdi and Mariano Moreno.

International activities in 1957 not connected with the Pan American Institute include the following: Fifth Inter-American Congress on Philosophy, Washington, D.C., July 8-12; Eighth Congress of the International Institute of Ibero-American Literature, San Juan, Puerto Rico, August 28-30, 1957; the Third Luso-Brazilian Colloquium, Lisbon, Portugal, September 9-15; the Second Hispanic-American Historical Congress, Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, October 5-12; A Seminar on Plantation Systems of the New World, San Juan, Puerto Rico, November 17-30; and the Conference on the History of Religion in the New World, Washington, D.C., December 17-18, under the auspices of the Academy of American Franciscan History.

5. FINANCIAL SUPPORT.

The committee is gratified by the generous financial support of the international interests and activities of the Association which the Executive Secretary has secured during the past year, but leaves the announcement of specific grants to be made by him in his report. It seems clear that foundations realize that active participation by American scholars in international cooperative undertakings in the many fields of history is of great value for the promotion of mutual understanding among peoples.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE LITTLETON-GRISWOLD FUND

The present composition of the committee is as follows: Edward Dumbauld, Attorney-at-Law, Uniontown, Pa., chairman; Julius Goebel, Jr., Columbia University; William Baskerville Hamilton, Duke University; George L. Haskins, University of Pennsylvania; Mark De Wolfe Howe, Harvard University; Leonard W. Labaree, Yale University; David J. Mays, Attorney-at-Law, Richmond, Va.; Richard L. Morton, William and Mary College.

The work of this committee, as well as the legal world generally, suffered a great loss in the deaths of two distinguished members: Zachariah Chaffee, Jr., Harvard Law School; and Arthur T. Vanderbilt, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey. It is hoped that these vacancies will be filled in due course.

Although no publications were issued during the year, Joseph H. Smith, author of the well-known study on appeals to the privy council, who is editing the Prince Georges County Court Book of Maryland, made substantial progress toward completion of his work, but by reason of professional engagements in connection with an anti-trust matter, was unable to finish the task for publication at the date anticipated. Progress on other projects has been made, notably the Kent County Court Records being edited by Leon deValinger, Jr., State Archivist of Delaware. It is planned to publish this volume in 1958. Other projects are under consideration.

Appended is a financial report showing the status of the Littleton-Griswold Fund.

COMMITTEE ON THE REVOLVING FUND FOR PUBLICATION OF THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION*

Lack of funds has reduced the Committee on the Revolving Fund for Publication to a static condition, dependent, for the present, upon an accumulation of royalties from volumes published in the past before it can offer any publication program in the future. This is a condition anticipated some years ago. While there has been considerable casting about to hit upon new plans whereby the committee may perform useful services for the publication of deserving works in the field of history, and many efforts to refill the empty reservoir with funds, essentially nothing has been accomplished to this time. Actually, until new funds are available, there appears very little that the committee can do.

Although I have not been informed regarding the financial status of the committee's funds as of the end of the last fiscal year, it seems reasonable to suppose (on the basis of past experience) that enough royalties may have accumulated to justify offering an award in the near future. If this is a possibility, it would be desirable that (1) the committee be so informed, (2) that appropriate plans be drawn for selecting manuscripts, and (3) that announcements be made to the members of the profession and others who may wish to submit entries, assuming that the selection will be made on a competitive basis as has been the previous practice of the committee.

COMMITTEE ON SOUTH ASIAN HISTORY

During the year this committee has been primarily concerned with arranging visits by foreign scholars with special competence in the history of the countries of South Asia to American universities which are developing work in that field. Such visits are made possible by the grant which the Association received from the Rockefeller Foundation in early April. The committee's work is therefore just getting started. It met informally, at the time of the meetings of the Association of Asian Studies in Boston; with Chadbourne Gilpatric of the Rockefeller Foundation and C. H. Phillips, Director-designate of the School of Oriental and African Studies at the University of London. It held its first formal meeting on July eleventh in Washington. Arrangements were then made for the forthcoming visit of Professor R. C. Majumdar as visiting professor at the University of Chicago for the spring and summer quarters in 1958 and at the University of Pennsylvania for the fall semester of 1958-59. Dr. Majumdar is one of the most distinguished authorities on the history of Ancient India. The committee is very happy that he accepted the invitation to be the first of these visiting scholars. Plans for 1958-59 and 1959-60 were discussed at some length. It is hoped that the program which permits visits by three scholars per academic year will be fully launched in 1958-59. At the July meeting, Earl H. Pritchard was appointed acting chairman during Professor Furber's absence from the country on sabbatical leave for 1957-58. In view of the fact that this committee's work has just begun, no recommendation to the Committee on Committees for changes in its personnel is made at this time.

*Formerly the Carnegie Revolving Fund for Publication

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON TEACHING (SERVICE CENTER)

In November, 1956, the Committee on Teaching went over its plans with the Director, Dr. George Barr Carson, and laid out a program for 1957. The committee met on September 21, 1957, to review the progress made.

One of the chief objects of the committee is to encourage cooperation between university and college teachers of history and those responsible for the teaching of history in the secondary schools with the hope that the quality of teaching may be improved. The Director attended a large number of meetings of educational organizations. He also attended conferences of college and university teachers with high school teachers which were arranged in various places. The committee feels that these activities of the Director have been highly successful in stimulating interest in this type of cooperation. Particularly encouraging is the action of the University of Texas in appointing a full time member of the History Department to work with the history teachers in the schools of the state. While the committee is fully aware how easily seeds of this sort can fail to produce living plants, it believes that the seeds have been well scattered over the country. And valuable results in this program can only be obtained through active cooperation in many localities.

The panel of consultants established by the Service Center has not been extensively used. The chief difficulty seems to be that it is the teachers who would like such assistance but the administrators who control the funds. The committee is planning to attempt to interest the school administrations in the use of these consultants. It has been realized from the beginning that this consultant service would develop very slowly.

The publication program has been well started and the initial reactions to it are encouraging. As of November 1, 1957, five pamphlets have been published, five others are in press, and five more are being written.

It is important to remember that the mere existence of the Service Center and the spreading knowledge of its activities have gone far toward achieving its purpose. History teachers in the secondary schools are aware of the Association's interest in their problems. The actual machinery for effective cooperation must develop gradually. The committee believes that the process is well started.

COMMITTEE ON THE MOSES COIT TYLER PRIZE

Since the Council approved of the acceptance of the proposal from the Cornell University Press only at the December, 1956, meeting and since the committee was actually formed some time later than this, what we have done this year should not be regarded as indicating the potential interest in this enterprise.

The committee did announce the existence and terms of the prize in the principal historical journals and in the American Quarterly. These announcements necessarily came rather late and may explain why the committee has not received a larger number of manuscripts. In all we are considering the nine manuscripts which were submitted to us. The authors represent a considerable range of ages and of geographical residence. September 1st, the dead-line we set for receiving the manuscripts, seems on the whole, in view of our experience, to be an appropriate date. Actually we received several manuscripts during the course of the summer. These were circulated to the members of the committee and several of them were read by two or more members of the committee.

I think the committee has been hard-working and conscientious. I believe of the five I am the only one who did not receive his training at Yale. This may simply reflect the leadership which Yale has had in the field of American intellectual history.

I think that if the committee is to be continued much could be said for asking the present members to continue with the exception of myself. I would in any case be unable to continue the chairmanship of the committee for another year.

We hope to submit our recommendations for the best manuscript well before the December meeting.

COMMITTEE FOR THE STUDY OF WAR DOCUMENTS OF THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATIONI. THE CHAIRMAN'S REPORT

On behalf of the Committee for the Study of War Documents I should like to report on our activities since June 1, 1956.

During the Spring of 1956 the American Historical Association received a grant of $69,000 from the Ford Foundation to screen, select, and microfilm documents of historical value and significance which might be found in the large deposits of captured German documents at Alexandria, Va., and at Whaddon Hall in England (the latter contained the German diplomatic archives). The urgency of the project was caused by the prospective restitution of the documents to Germany on an installment basis and the desire of scholars in many countries and in all interested professions to have microfilm copies made before restitution. A further problem involved in the project was to consult with the Intelligence Division of the General Staff of the United States Army on its declassification of the documents before microfilming could begin. Finally, it was also the purpose of the grant to have prepared and published such guides, catalogues and indexes of the microfilmed material, which would make ready references for scholars in the use of the microfilmed collections.

The American Historical Association through its Council and Executive Secretary administered the funds and set up a committee to supervise the policy and the work of the project. The members of the committee were: Reginald H. Phelps (chairman from December 1955 to December 1956), Harold D. Lasswell, Sidney Wallach, Oron J. Hale, George W. F. Hallgarten, Hans Kohn (vice-chairman), Koppel Pinson, William O. Shanahan, Raymond J. Sontag, Carl J. Friedrich, and Fritz T. Epstein. For the direct supervision of the work four members of the Association were designated: Howard M. Ehrmann for the microfilming of the documents in Whaddon Hall; E. Malcolm Carroll, later Fritz T. Epstein, for the microfilming of the documents at Alexandria; George W. F. Hallgarten for the preparation of guides, catalogues, and other informational announcements; and Oron J. Hale for liaison with the governmental departments and agencies. The committee had the great good fortune to obtain the services for an academic year and two summers (June 1956 to September 1957) of Dr. Gerhard L. Weinberg as the director of the Alexandria project. On his return to the University of Kentucky his able assistant, Dr. Dagmar H. Perman has become the director of the Alexandria project.

The Alexandria Microfilming Project. Through the efforts of Dr. Hale, Dr. Weinberg, Dr. Epstein, and Dr. Shafer, the committee was able to enlist the wholehearted cooperation of the government agencies. The Assistant Chief of Staff for Army Intelligence has been most helpful in working with the committee in making the captured German materials progressively more available for microfilming; while the Adjutant General's Office and its subdivision, the Departmental Records Branch, which had custody of the documents, have also been most cooperative in furnishing space, facilities, and services to and in the microfilming project. An agreement was reached with the Army authorities on the division of effort in microfilming. The Army was engaged in limited microfilming of its own with collections which were primarily of current military interest. It was finally agreed that the Army would also microfilm, in certain groups of their primary interest, materials indicated by the Committee to be mainly of general scholarly interest. Likewise in groups primarily of interest to scholars the committee's staff would also microfilm materials of interest to the Army. This method would avoid duplication in processing and selecting. Both the Army and the committee's staff found it was necessary, after a record group had been chosen for microfilming, to microfilm much of the material in bulk. The selection had to be among larger categories rather than among individual documents. This was a procedure preferred also by the National Archives.

The cooperation of the National Archives was also extremely helpful. An agreement was reached with the National Archives that a certain portion of our funds would be transferred to a Trust Fund in the Archives. This money would then be used by the Archives, to furnish film, microphotographic cameras, photographers and some processors, and mimeographing of indexes. This benefited the committee's project by the considerable savings resulting from the use of the Archives' experience and efficiency in microfilming and processing. It was also agreed that all Army and AHA microfilms would be deposited with the National Archives, and the latter would furnish an additional set at the Archives for the use of scholars.

The material filmed falls into the following main categories: Records of the National Socialist [Nazi] Party and its affiliated organizations; records of the economic section of the High Command of the Armed Forces (OKW); records of the Ministry of Economics; records of the various German and Japanese agencies dealing with the Far East; records of the High Command of the Army (OKH); papers of Hitler, Göring, Himmler, and other leading Nazis; records of the Reich Commissioner for the Strengthening of German National Life and Culture (Deutsches Volkstum); records of German industrial firms; records of the Smolonsk Oblast of the Communist Party; and several smaller groups of significant documents. Altogether 1,050,000 frames of microfilms were photographed and deposited with the National Archives, a total almost twice as large as originally estimated for our year's work. There is enough material even here to keep our scholars, graduate students, and research centers occupied for a great many years and to furnish many valuable studies on Weimar and Nazi Germany and on World War II.

Partly as a result of our activities and discussions with the Army, a detailed program for regrading the still classified collections has been worked out and is being implemented. It is anticipated that as the materials are opened, return of the records to Germany will also proceed by stages, which will give us an opportunity to microfilm before restitution to the extent that funds become available for the continuation of the project over the next three years.

The Whaddon Hall Project. The work of microfilming the German diplomatic documents at Whaddon Hall in England was supervised by Dr. Ehrmann and directed by George O. Kent. Soon after the capture of the German diplomatic documents the United States, Great Britain, and France decided to microfilm and publish important sections of these documents for the periods after 1918. In addition to the published volumes the microfilms of this "tripartite" effort are deposited in the British Public Record Office and the American National Archives. Yet an examination of these diplomatic documents for the period before 1918 showed that scarcely any had been published for the period of World War I (1914-18) or for 1867 to 1870 and only a small percentage had been published in Die grosse Politik for the period of 1871 to 1914. The German selection for the latter publication also proved to be incomplete. Consequently several universities (California, Michigan, Florida State, Pittsburgh, North Texas State, and St. Anthony's College of Oxford) had microfilmed certain sections in the pre-1918 period, but had left large gaps which our Committee is attempting to fill. Since the pre-1914 documents were to be returned to Germany by August 1956, a very great effort was expended to finish the microfilming of the gaps between 1867 and 1914. For the next ten months our efforts were concentrated on the period of World War I (1914-1918). The subject areas covered were: Welfenfonds, Papal See, Germany, Spain, Disarmament and Peace Conferences, Militaria, Portugal, Liberia, Africa Generalia, Asia, Switzerland, Lesser German States, Prussia (Church), Latin America, Europe Generalia, France, Norway, Great Britain, Monaco, Treaties, London Embassy, St. Petersburg Embassy, and Weltkrieg (World War I). Altogether 433 reels, containing 367,942 frames of microfilms were completed at Whaddon Hall, all of which are deposited at the National Archives in Washington.

Reference Guides. The work of preparing guides to the various groups of material has been supervised by Dr. Hallgarten and Dr. Ehrmann. They consist mainly of four projects: (1) microfilms of the data sheets of the Alexandria microfilms, as an interim guide to that material made by the National Archives (since the Alexandria work is incomplete no final index or catalogue can as yet be undertaken); (2) supplemental indexes to the Epstein-Weinberg Guide to Captured German Documents, which will cover the more recent "tripartite" microfilming of the Weimar and Nazi periods (1918-1945) and which is being prepared by Mr. Schwandt both in the National Archives and in the State Department (the titles of the two indexes are: Index for the Microfilms of German Foreign Office Documents Covering the Weimar Period and Index for the Microfilms of German Foreign Office Documents Covering the Hitler Period); (3) the preparation and publication of a List of Archival References and Data on the Microfilms of the German Diplomatic Documents, 1867-1914, which lists by reel and frame with accompanying descriptions the material microfilmed by this committee from the Whaddon Hall collections; and (4) a Catalogue of Microfilms of Documents from the Archives of the German Foreign Ministry, 1867-1918, which will be a guide to all the scattered materials of the various universities and of our committee and which will be published by the Oxford University Press in the summer of 1958. Projects (1) and (2) have been supervised by Drs. Weinberg, Hallgarten and Epstein, and projects (3) and (4) have been supervised by Dr. Ehrmann.

Continuation of the Microfilming Project. The committee was informed by the Ford Foundation that it could not continue its financial support of the projects beyond its initial grant of $69,000. Therefore the committee, with the invaluable aid of the officers and many of the members of the American Historical Association, began a long search for funds for a three-year continuation program. The committee made inquiries of nine different foundations and spent much time and effort in writing to and visiting some of these foundations. We are happy to report that the Old Dominion Foundation, approved our application for a one-year grant of $36,000. Not only are we grateful to the Old Dominion Foundation for their generous grants; but we are also very grateful to Frank Altschul for his support of our applications before the foundations both in 1956 and 1957 and particularly for his offer of an interim grant of $3,000, if needed, to tide our work over until another foundation made us a grant. This enabled us to keep our experienced staff intact during a critical period.

II. SUB-COMMITTEE REPORT ON THE WORK DONE AT WHADDON HALL.

1. The Microfilm Project.

The archives of the German Foreign Ministry were, after their discovery by allied troops at the end of the war, moved to Berlin and in the summer of 1948 to Whaddon Hall in Buckinghamshire, England. Under an Anglo-American agreement of 1946, which the French government joined a year later, documents from the archives, which go back to 1867, are being published by the three governments for the period 1918 - 1945, "to establish the record of German foreign policy preceding and during World War II" (Documents on German Foreign Policy, 1918 - 1945, vols. I - X, 1937-40, have been published so far). No provision was made at the time of the Anglo-American agreement for the pre-1914 documents. However, the three governments have filmed extensively in the 1914-18 period, and have done approximately 50% of all filming in this period.

The necessity to preserve important files of the earlier years and to make these available to scholars all over the world soon became apparent, and with the approval of the United States and British governments several universities and private individuals were permitted to microfilm documents of the pre-1920 period. The first major program of this kind was set up by St. Anthony's College, Oxford, in January 1953; since then, similar programs have been undertaken by the University of California, Florida State University, the University of Michigan, and others.

By the fall of 1955 a great part of the pre-1920 files had been screened, selected, and filmed but there were still large and important collections, particularly of the pre-1914 period, which had not been examined. The date of the return of the pre-1914 documents, fixed by agreement with the German government for June 1956, was, moreover, drawing near. The importance of filming the gaps now became paramount. The funds of the various organizations which had been interested in these programs were running out just at this time and the danger that a great number of important pre-1914 files would return to Germany unfilmed and would presumably be closed for research, became very real.

It was at this critical moment that Professor Howard M. Ehrmann of the University of Michigan submitted to the recently-formed American Committee for the Study of War Documents a project for a microfilming program in the pre-1920 files and for the publication of a master list or catalogue. Through the joint efforts of Dr. Reginald H. Phelps, Associate Dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences of Harvard University and Chairman of the Executive Board of the American Committee, and Dr. Boyd C. Shafer, Executive Secretary of the American Historical Association, a grant of $24,000 was secured from the Ford Foundation which made it possible to select, screen, and film in the remaining pre-1914 files before they were returned to Germany.

The negotiations about the grant had continued throughout the winter of 1955-56 and part of the following spring, and it was not until the beginning of May 1956 that authorization to start work on the American Committee Project (ACP), as it came to be known, was received at Whaddon Hall. Fortunately the editors there had been kept informed by Professor Ehrmann about the negotiations concerning the grant and thus it was possible to do all the preparatory work ahead of time. From May 8, when the letter of authorization was received until June 30, when the pre-1914 documents were to be returned to Germany, there were less than eight weeks to complete the project. This period was extended, later on, to fourteen weeks, since the files were not shipped to Germany until the middle of August. By the end of that month, 271,427 frames had been filmed on 317 reels of microfilm. Subsequent filming, to the end of March 1957, principally in the period of World War I, brought the total number of frames to 367,942 and the reels to 433. The subject areas covered by this microfilming project included: Welfenfonds, Papal See, Germany, Spain, Disarmament and Peace Conferences, Militaria, Portugal, Liberia, Africa Generalia, Asia, Switzerland, Lesser German States, Prussia (Church), Latin America, Europa Generalia, Prussia, France, Norway, Great Britain, Monaco, Treaties, Embassy London, Embassy St. Petersburg, and Weltkrieg (World War I).

In most cases the American Committee Project completed the filming of series of files which had been started by other projects and which, had it not been for the Ford Foundation grant, would have remained incomplete and thus their value for future research would have been greatly diminished.

The microfilming program was completed as planned and no important files were left unfiled before the pre-1914 documents were returned to Germany. After the completion of the entire filming project a 179-page List of Archival References and Data was prepared; this gives reel and frame numbers, and title, dates, and volume number of files filmed. Expenditures at Whaddon Hall came to $1,968.80 for screening and listing and $10,980.60 for filming, for a total of $12,949.40. In addition Professor Ehrmann received $698.49 for travel expenses.

The work, under the direction of Professor Ehrmann, was administered at Whaddon Hall by George O. Kent, who was assisted by the following staff: K. H. M. Duke, G. K. Meister, A. Scherer, F. G. Stambrook, who screened and selected files and documents; Mr. and Mrs. W. Lampert, who typed the lists of archival references; and A. Faber and Miss A. Robertson, who did the microfilming. Aside from the microfilm section, the work of all those who participated in the American Committee Project was done in their spare time and after official working hours.

2. The Catalogue.

As early as 1953 it was recognized by the editors at Whaddon Hall that a catalogue of microfilms of the pre-1918 files would be necessary to guide scholars who wanted to use the films through the maze of the various filming programs. The necessity for such a guide became more urgent as the filming programs multiplied and two or more sponsoring agencies filmed selected parts of identical series of files.

The preparatory work for a catalogue was started by G. K. Meister and N. Meinertshagen in December 1954, when authorization for overtime for this job was granted by the Foreign Office. They consolidated and retyped the various archival lists of the German Foreign Ministry and entered reels and frame numbers and the code letters of the sponsoring organizations at the appropriate places. Since that date too, intermittent efforts were made by several persons of the Whaddon Hall staff, notably by K. H. M. Duke and G. O. Kent, to interest universities, foundations, and even the participating governments to assume the financial costs of producing and publishing the catalogue. Although several organizations showed interest in this matter and all agreed on its overriding importance, no firm commitments were entered into by any of them.

Meanwhile, the filming programs assumed still greater proportions and time was running out. The lack of a catalogue for the microfilms of the pre-1920 files would have made these filming programs, which cost close to $50,000, much less valuable, for the complete information on all these programs was only at Whaddon Hall, and with the break-up of this organization this information would have been lost.

It was again through the efforts of Professor Ehrmann, the American Historical Association, and the generous grant from the Ford Foundation that the publication of this Catalogue now becomes a reality.

A project to produce the Catalogue was set up under the direction of Professor Ehrmann with Mr. Kent taking charge of its administration at Whaddon Hall. Estimates from several firms were sought in November 1956 to establish the most economical and best way of printing the Catalogue and, with the approval of the American Historical Association, the Oxford University Press will be authorized to undertake the printing. The size of the Catalogue is estimated at about 800 pages, and the cost for a 500 copy edition by offset lithography has been given by the Oxford University Press as £1,437-3-11, including binding.

The work on the Catalogue was actually started, as has been mentioned, by Mr. Meister and Mr. Meinertshagen in December 1954. But even before that date a card index had been prepared by members of the Whaddon Hall staff on the various filming projects. This work, i.e. retyping and the consolidating of data was completed in June 1955 and since that date the Catalogue has been used and its entries have been kept up to date by the Whaddon Hall staff.

The preparation of the Catalogue for publication, consists, essentially, of two tasks: the retyping of a clean copy and the preparation of a cross index. The former is being done by Mrs. J. Duke, the latter by F. G. Stambrook, who is also drafting a general introduction and checking data. It is estimated that work on the Catalogue will be completed at Whaddon Hall early in 1958 and that the Oxford University Press will have printed and bound the Catalogue by the fall of 1958.

OTHER REPORTS

OF LEARNED SOCIETIES

The American Council of Learned Societies has completed its reorganization. Dr. Frederick Burkhardt has taken over as President, and the main offices have been moved to New York City. At the same time, the Council has greatly improved its financial position. It now has enough information to resume its old policy of fellowships and grants-in-aid.

The one thing which is still lacking is money for publication of scholarly works. There seems to be a reluctance on the part of the foundations to give any considerable funds of money for this purpose. However, the ACLS has appointed a committee to investigate this problem and if it produces a usable report it might persuade the foundations to change their policy. As a member of this committee, I will let you know if it gets anywhere.

REPORT OF THE REPRESENTATIVE OF THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE OF HISTORICAL SCIENCES

The annual meeting of the Bureau was held concurrently with that of the Assembly in Lausanne, Switzerland, with sessions on June 18, 20, and 21 (Assembly, June 19). The most important item of business originating with the United States delegation was an invitation to the Bureau from the American Historical Association, presented by Boyd C. Shafer, to hold its 1958 meeting in the United States. The visit, made possible by a generous grant of the Ford Foundation, will involve the usual sessions of the Bureau and a trip of about two weeks' duration, beginning October 5, to a series of institutions on the Atlantic seaboard. The purpose of the invitation is to give our European colleagues some familiarity with the present status of historical studies in the United States, with the character of higher education, and, to some extent, with the nature of the American socio-political scene.

The Bureau proposed the admission to the International Committee of Greece, Bulgaria, Uruguay and the International Federation of Renaissance Societies and Institutes (of which the Renaissance Society of America is a member). The Bureau proposed the succession as Vice President of Nils Ahnlund, deceased, by Torwald Höjer of Sweden; of Anna Pankratova, deceased, as assesseur, by A. A. Guber, of the Soviet Union. The Assembly accepted both of these proposals. The Secretary-General indicated that various proposals for the modification of the Constitution would be presented to the Assembly in 1960.

The Bureau also screened the national list of Reports for the Stockholm Congress of 1960 and fixed on a final list of 30 (three for each of the larger countries, including the United States). The communications (shorter papers of the more conventional type) will be screened, again on the basis of national lists, at the October 1958 Bureau meeting.

During the months since the Bureau meetings, I have prepared a report for the American Historical Review and collaborated with Waldo G. Leland and Boyd C. Shafer in making preparations for the Bureau visit in 1958. This, among other questions, will be discussed at the November 16, 1957, meeting of the Committee on International Historical Activities, at which additional representatives of various universities to be visited will also be present.

REPORT OF THE REPRESENTATIVE ON THE JOINT ANGLO-AMERICAN COMMITTEE ON BRITISH BIBLIOGRAPHIES

Professor Conyers Read has sent to press the revised edition of the Tudor volume, Professor Edgar Graves will complete the medieval volume early in 1959, and Dean Mary Frear Keeler has begun work on the Stuart volume. Editors for the nineteenth-century volumes have not yet been appointed. Work on Writings on British History, 1901-1933 is proceeding rapidly under the supervision of the Royal Historical Society.

REPORT OF THE DELEGATE TO THE NATIONAL COUNCIL FOR THE SOCIAL STUDIES

Social Education continues to be a journal of which the American Historical Association can be justly proud. The first six issues of Volume XXI maintain the standards of excellence that the periodical has long stood for, and Dr. Lewis Paul Todd again deserves the abundant thanks of the Association. His comments on the editor's page show their traditional wisdom, and he should be particularly congratulated for having obtained excellent articles from such able scholars as Robert E. Brown, Carl Wittke, and Sydney Zebel as well as for having brought both Japan and Ethiopia into Social Education.

REPORT OF THE SENIOR DELEGATE TO THE SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH COUNCIL

The delegates of the American Historical Association to the Social Science Research Council are (in order of seniority) Louis Gottschalk, C. Vann Woodward and David Potter. Professors Woodward and Potter are members of the Council's Committee on Programs and Policy. Professor Potter is also a member of the Council's Committee on Historical Analysis of which Professor Gottschalk is chairman and Professor Woodward is also an active member ex officio. Other members of the Committee on Historical Analysis are William Aydelotte, Thomas Cochran, Merle Curti, and Roy Nichols, with Pendleton Herring, President of the SSRC, an ex officio member. The Committee on Historical Analysis is concerned with the problem of generalization and its relation to the historian. A brief report of its activity was published in a recent (September, 1957) issue of Items.

On the nomination of President Herring, Professor Gottschalk was one of a group of American educators to attend conferences last June and July at Paris and Oslo with a group of French and Norwegian educators respectively on the subject of the twentieth-century university.

REPORT OF THE REPRESENTATIVE TO THE NATIONAL HISTORICAL PUBLICATIONS COMMISSION

The National Historical Publications Commission continues to make gratifying progress. Its staff, headed by Dr. Philip M. Hamer, Executive Director of the Commission, carried to completion the manuscript of the important "Guide to Archives and Manuscripts in the United States" (to be published in late 1958, or early 1959); prepared the Writings on American History for 1953; and continued to act as a coordinating center for national, state, regional and local documentary publications of all sorts. In October the Ford Foundation granted $125,000 to the Commission to prepare for publication "A Documentary History of the Ratification of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights."

On June 5 the Committee on House Administration held a public hearing on Congressman George P. Miller's resolution calling upon the governors and legislators of the states, state historical commissions and archival agencies, libraries, historical societies, colleges and universities, business corporations, foundations, and other institutions, to cooperate with the National Historical Publications Commission in the fulfillment of its "national program to encourage the publication of the basic source materials of American history through the cooperative efforts of both public and private organizations." This, in the form of a concurrent resolution, was approved by both the Senate and the House before Congress adjourned late in August, 1957.

PACIFIC COAST BRANCH
OF THE AMERICAN

PROCEEDINGS OF THE FIFTIETH ANNUAL MEETING

The fiftieth annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association was held at the University of San Francisco, December 26-28, 1957. Three hundred historians registered for the sessions. Raymond Muse, State College of Washington, and a committee consisting of Douglass Adair, Robert Browder, William S. Greever, Walter Hucul, Sam Knoll, and James Shideler, arranged the program. Donald R. Campbell and his colleagues at the University of San Francisco, Frank L. Beech, Raymond F. Copeland, Ashbrook Lincoln, Robert C. MacKenzie and Edmund Smyth, were in charge of the local arrangements.

This program of twenty-four sessions contrasts sharply with the first program of the Branch, November 25-26, 1904, when there were four sessions, including the business session. That first San Francisco meeting had a program with topics which have since become traditional. On the first day, Frank J. Symmes spoke on "History from a Banker's Point of View," while H. Morse Stephens analyzed the relations between "The American Historical Association and the Pacific Coast Branch." Next morning's session was devoted to a subject most dear to college teachers, "The Teaching of History and Civics in the High School." The discussion was led by Bernard Moses and Max Farrand, and "continued by" the high school teachers who had spokesmen in Rockwell D. Hunt of San Jose High School and four other teachers.

Since November, 1904, the Branch has met annually except in 1918, and during the Second World War period, 1942-46, although even then several local meetings were held in the Los Angeles and San Francisco areas. There were two meetings of the Branch in 1904-1905 and in 1913-1914. Only one annual meeting has actually been cancelled, that of 1942.

The 1957 program was larger than past programs and most of the traditional areas of historical scholarship were represented. An attempt was made to bring into the sessions much more discussion and analysis of the prepared papers. Scholars from the Center for advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences and members of the American Studies Association were invited to the sessions and to participate in the discussions.

At the annual dinner, President Max Saville described beautifully by means of his own experience, one historian's search for certainty of judgment. He entitled his address "Historian's Progress, or The Quest for Sancta Sophia." Officers of the Branch as well as past Presidents were hosts at the Presidential reception in the Skyroom of the Gleeson Library after the dinner.

The annual business meeting, with President Saville in the chair, convened at nine o'clock Saturday morning. Reports from the President, the Secretary-Treasurer, and the Managing Editor and Business Manager of the Pacific Historical Review were presented. The Secretary-Treasurer reported a most favorable year for the Branch with membership around nine hundred; he observed that with requests for the annual program at about twelve hundred, there are still too many people participating in Branch activities who have not yet taken out membership. The Editor of the Review expressed his delight with the continuing interest in western history; he observed that 1957 had been a hectic year, with several issues of the Review unnecessarily delayed, and a few, almost classical, typographical errors.

The President then announced several important decisions taken by the Council. He first noted a change of Branch policy concerning future meetings. The Council decided, after setting the time and place for 1958 (December 28-30 at Whittier College), to accept invitations for the 1959 and 1960 meetings, due to the need for more extensive preparations for these meetings. In 1959, the Branch will go to the University of Utah in the late summer, probably meeting about September 6-8. In 1960, the Branch will join the University of Washington in celebrating its centennial. The meeting time will return to the usual period of the Christmas-New Year holidays.

There is also a change in the awards program. In past years, the awards were given to younger members of the Association who were finding places in the profession. Since this appeared to be much too limited, the Council removed the age limit and asked the committee on awards to consider books or manuscripts from any Pacific Coast scholar who has not previously had a book published, or who is the author of only one other book. The purpose of the award is to encourage scholarship, particularly those scholars who have not published some major work.

The committee on resolutions (Theodore E. Treutlein, chairman, George H. Knoles, Samson B. Knoll, Henry McCreery, and Ronald Sires) offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved: That the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association express its grateful appreciation to the University of San Francisco and its President, the Reverend John F. X. Connolly, S.J., and to the committee on local arrangements and its chairman, Donald R. Campbell, for the warm hospitality and efficient organization of the 1957 meeting;

Resolved: That the Pacific Coast Branch express its gratitude to the program committee under the chairmanship of Raymond Muse for the excellent and well-planned sessions arranged for the 1957 meeting;

Resolved: That the Branch express its deep sense of loss at the tragic death of Peter Masten Dunne, S.J., University of San Francisco, President of the Pacific Coast Branch in 1956, Father Dunne always contributed wholehearted efforts to the work of the Branch and had won the respect and affection of its members;

Resolved: That the Branch express its sincere regrets at the passing of Robert Glass Cleland, long associated with Occidental College and the Henry E. Huntingdon Library, a pioneer historian of western American history. Teacher, administrator, writer, he has influenced generations of students;

Resolved: That the Branch note with sorrow the death of Godfrey Davies, member of the research staff of the Huntingdon Library, editor of the Huntingdon Library Quarterly, and author of several studies in British history;

Resolved: That the Branch voice regret at the loss of Paul Chrisler Phillips of Montana State University. A distinguished teacher and scholar, Professor Phillips is well known for his contributions to western historical scholarship.

Resolved: That the Branch note the passing at the venerable age of ninety-four of Henry Raup Wagner, bibliographer, cartographer, and historian of Latin America and the American west. He supported historical scholarship by his own learned contributions as well as through generous financial assistance.

The report of the committee on nominations (Edward White, chairman, Colin Goodykoontz, Wilbur Jacobs, Marius Jansen, and Dorothy Johansen) was submitted. The following officers and Councilors were unanimously elected: John W. Caughey, President; Raymond J. Sontag, Vice President; John A. Schutz, Secretary-Treasurer; and, for three year terms to the Council, James Allen, Solomon Katz, and Abraham Nasatir.

Theodore Treutlein offered the following resolution, which was accepted:

Resolved: That, while the serious crisis in international affairs make absolutely necessary an improvement in research and instruction in science and mathematics, increased support is equally advisable for work in the social sciences, and the humanities.

Copies of this resolution were to be sent to the President of the United States and the President of the American Council of Learned Societies.

The 1957 award of the Branch for the best book published by a younger member was given to Don E. Fehrenbacher for his Chicago Giant: A Biography of "Long John" Wentworth. The Louis Knott Koontz Memorial Award for 1957 was presented to John W. Caughey for his article in the Pacific Historical Review, "Their Majesties the Mob."

The program chairman for 1958 is Raymond Lindgren of Occidental College; the chairman of local arrangements is Harry Nerhood of Whittier College.
